This book offers new perspectives on the economic development of the Middle East and North Africa region. Offering both theoretical studies and empirical country studies, it examines micro and macroeconomic issues and provides deep insights into the development challenges and prospects of various countries in the region. The articles examine a wide range of development issues including economic growth, natural resource use, food security, poverty and inequality, corruption and transparency, military spending, water and resource scarcity, agriculture and aid effectiveness, and other relevant issues. The volume is aimed at scholars in economic and development studies as well as policy makers and investors interested in the economic development of the MENA region.

Striving For Peace, Security And Development In The World: Annals Of Pugwash 1991

Joseph Rotblat, 1993-03-24. The momentous events of the past year have changed the political face of the globe: the ideological struggle that dominated the world for most of this century is over; erstwhile mortal enemies have become friends and partners. But old attitudes have survived and modern weapons are in abundance. New foci of conflict have emerged: military confrontations are taking place; the world is still in turmoil. The welcome deep cuts in nuclear weapons have still left thousands of warheads in the arsenals, and the spread of these weapons to new states would further increase the danger of a nuclear confrontation. The release of the pressure pent up under oppressive regimes created a powerful drive for independence, often achieved only after bloody wars. Many of the new states are economically non-viable; poverty and famine are frequent adjuncts of independence. If military conflicts are to be avoided, a comprehensive strategy must be formulated to improve the standards of living in the developing countries and enhance their security. A strategy is also needed to protect the environment from the effects of further industrialization and greater use of energy. What is needed is a concept of a sustainable, equitable and liveable world for all its inhabitants. All these problems were analysed by scientists and scholars who met at a Pugwash Conference. The arguments used by them and the proposed solutions are presented in this book under six themes: World Peace, Nuclear Disarmament Issues, Arms Control, Security in the Asia Pacific Region, Development Strategies and World Economic Order, Energy and the Environment.

Regionalism, Security and Development in Africa Ernest Tooche Aniche, Ikenna Mike Alumona, Innocent Moyo, 2021-04-29. This book charts the history and contemporary landscape of African regionalism, investigating how regional cooperation can be used to help to tackle security and development challenges in Africa. Africa has a long tradition of regional cooperation with the oldest trade and monetary integration schemes in the developing world, but its colonial period and partition have caused lasting damage that still be seen in today's African economies. Contemporary post-colonial African regionalism, deeply rooted in notions of pan-Africanism, has served as a means of collective self-reliance and economic transformation and development. This book starts with the history and theory behind African regionalism, before discussing and comparing regional organisations such as the Economic Community of Central African States (ECCAS), the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), the Community of Sahel-Saharan States (CEN-SAD), the Southern African Development Community (SADC), the Common Market for Eastern and

Southern Africa COMESA and the East African Community EAC Finally the book considers how regional integration and cooperation can help to address security and development challenges This ambitious and broad ranging book will be a valuable resource for researchers working on African regionalism security African integration and development and comparative regionalism Policymakers should also consider it a useful guide to the background and contemporary landscape of African regionalism

Annual Report on the Development of China's Special Economic Zones (2016) Yitao Tao,Yiming Yuan,2016-10-24 The Annual Report objectively reflects the year s developments in terms of politics the economy society culture the environment innovation and reform and describes the problems challenges and countermeasures in both traditional and new special economic zones It provides an analysis of China s special economic zones including a review of the year s developments in the form of experimental zones It also presents new special economic zones and focuses on analyzing the transformation of these zones the use of resources sustainable economic and social development social security and technical innovation in the context of current developments It also offers a comparative analysis and makes policy and development suggestions for each issue

The Southern African Development Community (SADC) and the European Union (EU) Johannes Muntschick,2017-10-09 This book explores regionalism in the Southern African Development Community SADC and highlights the influence of the European Union EU as an extra regional actor on the organization and integration process The analysis is guided by theory and explains the emergence institutional design and performance of SADC s major integration projects in the issue areas of the economy security and infrastructure It provides in this way a profound assessment of the organization as a whole The study shows that South Africa plays a regional key role as driver for integration while external influence of the EU is ambivalent in character because it unfolds a supportive or obstructive impact The author argues that the EU gains influence over regional integration processes in the SADC on the basis of patterns of asymmetric interdependence and becomes a game changer insofar as it facilitates or impedes solutions to regional cooperation problems
