Regul Negative De Hematop

Leonard I. Zon

Regul Negative De Hematop:

Hematopoietic Stem Cell Protocols Kevin D. Bunting, 2008-01-31 This revised edition provides up to date protocols developed in the HSC field A team of leading researchers supply this volume with in depth readily reproducible methods for effective characterization of HSC and their developmental potential The book provides detailed flow cytometry protocols for thorough analysis of enriched HSC populations and offers a variety of transplantation approaches to measure HSC function in vivo This is a much needed technical resource in the critically important field of stem cell investigation

Mechanisms of Adiponectin Action Tania Fiaschi, 2019-07-26 The adipokine adiponectin is very concentrated in plasma and decreased levels of adiponectin are associated with pathological conditions such as obesity diabetes cardiovascular diseases and metabolic syndrome When produced in its full length form adiponectin self associates to generate multimeric complexes The full length form of adiponectin can be cleaved by the globular form of elastase that is produced locally and the resulting biological effects are exerted in a paracrine or autocrine manner The different forms of adiponectin bind to specific receptors consisting of two G protein independent seven transmembrane spanning receptors called AdipoR1 and AdipoR2 while T cadherin has been identified as a potential receptor for high molecular weight complexes of adiponectin Adiponectin exerts a key role in cellular metabolism regulating glucose levels as well as fatty acid breakdown However its biological effects are heterogeneous involving multiple target tissues The Special Issue Mechanisms of Adiponectin Action highlights the pleiotropic role of this hormone through 3 research articles and 7 reviews These papers focus on the recent knowledge regarding adiponectin in different target tissues both in healthy and in diseased conditions

Immune Regulation of Metabolic Homeostasis Bruno Guigas, Rinke Stienstra, Tony Jourdan, 2022-06-23

Notch Regulation of the Immune System Freddy Radtke, 2012-09-13 Notch signaling regulates many cell fate decision and differentiation processes during embryonic development and tissue homeostasis Moreover dysregulation of the pathway is associated with human disorders and cancer In the last 15 years it became evident that Notch plays important roles in the hematopoietic system as well as in the regulation of immune responses This special issue on Notch regulation of the immune system summarizes recent advances and covers multiple aspects of Notch signaling within the hematopoietic and the immune system This issue covers subjects including Notch function in embryonic and adult hematopoietic stem cells lymphocyte development and function as well as in T cell leukemia

Hematopoiesis Leonard I. Zon, 2001-04-12 Hematopoiesis or the process of blood formation has been extensively studied at both basic and clinical levels Human diseases such as thalassemia immunodeficiency and leukemia represent defects in this process Approaches to treat these disorders have required a basic understanding of the biology of blood cells For instance hematopoietic stem cell replacement or bone marrow transplantation has been used to ameliorate disease This volume focuses on hematopoiesis at a cellular and molecular level and establishes the basis for clinical manipulation of hematopoietic cells for therapeutic benefit In Part I the cellular characteristics of progenitors and stem cells are explored Emphasis is placed on purification of stem cells and both in vitro and in vivo assays The regulation of normal and leukemia stem cells is illustrated An excellent discussion of potential use of these cells for gene therapy concludes this section Hematopoiesis is easily studied during embryogenesis Part II develops the concept of the waves of hematopoiesis during development Comparative hematology is making a major comeback as a field in the 1990 s One hope is that general principles of hematopoiesis will be established by studying many models and systems Part III delves into critical factors that regulate hematopoiesis including both intracellular and extracellular signals Part IV and V describe lineage programs for myeloid and lymphoid lineages These chapters are meant to be illustrative of the different cell fates but are not exhaustive Part VI examines the genetics of hematopoiesis particularly in animal models The hematopoietic system is in constant contact with stromal cells and endothelial cells during development and in the adult Evidence suggests that endothelial cells and blood cells may arise from a common progenitor the hemangioblast Part VII and VIII discuss the stromal and endothelial cells with the emphasis on their interaction with hematopoietic cells

Immune Tolerance Post Allogeneic Hematopoietic Cell Transplantation Dominik Schneidawind, Everett Meyer, 2020-05-22

Inflammation, Oxidative Stress, and Cancer Ah-Ng Tony Kong, 2016-04-19 Increasing scientific evidence suggests that the majority of diseases including cancer are driven by oxidative stress and inflammation attributed to environmental factors These factors either drive genetic mutations or epigenetically modify expression of key regulatory genes These changes can occur as early as gestational fetal development and

The Role of Hematopoietic Progenitors in Immune Regulation and Memory Flora Zavala, César Nombela Arrieta, Paolo Fiorina, Moufida Ben Nasr, 2022-01-07

Emerging immune functions of non-hematopoietic stromal cells Burkhard Ludewig, Mark Christopher Coles, Paul Kaye, Christopher G Mueller, 2014-12-17 The development and function of the immune system is dependent on interactions between hematopoietic cells and non hematopoietic stromal cells The non hematopoietic stromal cells create the microenvironment in which the immune system operates providing an architectural landscape for hematopoietic cell cell interactions and molecular cues governing hematopoietic cell positioning growth and survival Not surprisingly therefore aberrant stromal cell function has recently been shown to play a key role in the development of disease pathologies associated with immune dysfunction For example remodelling of lymphoid tissue stroma and the development of ectopic tertiary lymphoid tissues are characteristic of many infectious and inflammatory diseases and stromal cells have a recognised role in lymphoma and tumour development and resistance to therapy An increased understanding of the molecular basis of stromal cell differentiation and function in these varied contexts will provide new tools to promote research on stromal cell biology and immune dysfunction and potential new targets for therapeutic intervention in diseases with a major impact on public health The importance of stromal cells and the molecular mechanisms of stromal cell function in the regulation of immune responses have only recently been appreciated and thus represent an exciting new area in immunology

Comprehensive Human Physiology Rainer Greger, Uwe Windhorst, 2013-11-11

Comprehensive Human Physiology is a significantly important publication on physiology presenting state of the art knowledge about both the molecular mechanisms and the integrative regulation of body functions This is the first time that such a broad range of perspectives on physiology have been combined to provide a unified overview of the field This groundbreaking two volume set reveals human physiology to be a highly dynamic science rooted in the ever continuing process of learning more about life Each chapter contains a wealth of original data clear illustrations and extensive references making this a valuable and easy to use reference This is the quintessential reference work in the fields of physiology and pathophysiology essential reading for researchers lecturers and advanced students
