

Definition

“Community-based rehabilitation (CBR) is a strategy within community development for the rehabilitation, equalization of opportunities, poverty reduction and social inclusion of all people with disabilities. CBR is implemented through the combined efforts of disabled people themselves, their families and communities, and the appropriate health, education, vocational and social services.”
(ILO, UNESCO & WHO, 2004)

Rehabilitation Within Communities:

Community Rehabilitation in Neurology Michael P. Barnes, Harriet Radermacher, 2003-09-04 Rehabilitation should not stop when the disabled person is discharged from hospital and many neurological patients require ongoing rehabilitation in order to maximize their functional abilities minimize complications and promote full participation at home and in the community This book analyses community rehabilitation needs from many different perspectives including the views of disabled people rehabilitation clinicians and service providers Many examples of community rehabilitation schemes are presented with evidence for their effectiveness and case studies are used to highlight the main issues The authors take an international view and there are chapters dealing with the disabled child in the community and with neuropsychological rehabilitation This important book examines the growing trend towards community rehabilitation in neurology and is directed towards all clinicians involved with neurorehabilitation

Community Rehabilitation Services for People with Disabilities Orv C. Karan, Stephen Greenspan, 2014-05-16 Community Rehabilitation Services for People with Disabilities delves into the changes happening in the disability services in the United States The book focuses on how these changes are affecting the way professionals and agencies relate to people with disabilities and their families The text aims to provide an introductory view of the community revolution in disability services The book is divided into three parts Part 1 breaks down the underlying principles of the community revolution in disability services Part 2 discusses the problems and issues in the implementation of these principles Part 3 accounts for the changes in practices and value orientations of professionals involved in providing services for people with disabilities The book will provide a rich source of insight for healthcare professionals social workers nurses caregivers teachers counselors psychiatrists therapists and community planners

Moving from Residential Institutions to Community-based Social Services in Central and Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union David Tobis, 2000 One of the most harmful costly and intractable legacies of the command economies of Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union is the reliance on residential institutions for the care of children the elderly and the people with disabilities As a result there are almost no community based alternatives to care for large and growing numbers of vulnerable individuals Other industrial nations have experienced similar periods of economic and social upheaval and also relied on residential institutions to care for vulnerable and marginalized groups However most of these nations have switched from residential care to community based social services The question for the countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union is how they can make the same transition Moving from Residential Institutions to Community Based Social Services in Central and Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union examines the use of residential institutions for vulnerable groups past and present and proposes strategies for the future The study focuses on five countries Albania Armenia Latvia Lithuania and Romania where the World Bank is helping develop community based social services to reduce the reliance on residential institutions Rehabilitation in health financing World Health Organization,2024-01-16

Health financing is a core pillar of health systems and encompasses the three functions of how revenues for health are collected pooled and paid out to providers of health care services It can be leveraged to pursue key universal health coverage goals of enhancing access ensuring quality and financial protection against catastrophic or impoverishing out of pocket expenditure But knowledge on how health financing practices can be harnessed to promote the delivery of rehabilitation services is limited This document is the first WHO resource on health financing for rehabilitation It considers current practices for financing rehabilitation services frames major challenges and opportunities and offers guidance to decision makers engaged in strengthening rehabilitation within health systems Neurological Rehabilitation Michael P.

Barnes,David C. Good,2013-01-10 Neurological Rehabilitation is the latest volume in the definitive Handbook of Clinical Neurology series It is the first time that this increasingly important subject has been included in the series and this reflects the growing interest and quality of scientific data on topics around neural recovery and the practical applications of new research The volume will appeal to clinicians from both neurological and rehabilitation backgrounds and contains topics of interest to all members of the multidisciplinary clinical team as well as the neuroscience community The volume is divided into five key sections The first is a summary of current research on neural repair recovery and plasticity The authors have kept the topics readable for a non scientific audience and focused on the aspects of basic neuroscience that should be most relevant to clinical practice The next section covers the basic principles of neurorehabilitation including excellent chapters on learning and skill acquisition outcome measurement and functional neuroimaging The key clinical section comes next and includes updates and reviews on the management of the main neurological disabling physical problems such as spasticity pain sexual functioning and dysphagia Cognitive emotional and behavioural problems are just as important and are covered in the next section with excellent chapters for example on memory and management of executive dysfunction The final part draws the sections on symptom management together by discussing the individual diseases that are most commonly seen in neurorehabilitation and providing an overview of the management of the disability associated with those disorders The volume is a definitive review of current neurorehabilitation practice and will be valuable to a wide range of clinicians and scientists working in this rapidly developing field A volume in the Handbook of Clinical Neurology series which has an unparalleled reputation as the world's most comprehensive source of information in neurology International list of contributors including the leading workers in the field Describes the advances which have occurred in clinical neurology and the neurosciences their impact on the understanding of neurological disorders and on patient care Handbook of Rehabilitation in Older Adults Robert J.
