RATIONALE Mathematics Education is becoming a well documented field with many books journals and international conferences focusing on a variety of aspects relating to theory research and practice That documentation also reflects the fact that the field has expanded enormously in the last twenty years At the 8th International Congress on Mathematics Education ICME in Seville Spain for example there were 26 specialist Working Groups and 26 special ist Topic Groups as well as a host of other group activities In 1950 the Commission Internationale pour l Etude et l Amelioration de l Enseignement des Mathematiques CIEAEM was formed and twenty years ago another active group the International Group for the Psychology of Mathematics Education PME began at the third ICME at Karlsruhe in 1976 Since then several other specialist groups have been formed and are also active through regular conferences and publications as documented in Edward Jacobsen s Chapter 34 in this volume

Multiple Perspectives on Difficulties in Learning Literacy and Numeracy Claire Wyatt-Smith, John Elkins, Stephanie Gunn, 2010-10-28 There are many approaches to researching the difficulties in learning that students experience in the key areas of literacy and numeracy This book seeks to advance understanding of these difficulties and the interventions that have been used to improve outcomes The book addresses the sometimes complementary and sometimes contradictory results and generates new approaches to understanding and serving students with difficulties in literacy and numeracy The book represents a departure from conventional wisdom as most scholars and graduate students draw upon ideas from only one of the three domains focal in the book and usually from one single or dominant theoretical frame Typically readers will affiliate with reading education mathematics education or learning disabilities and belong to one of the corresponding professional associations such as IRA NCTM or CLD This book s scope will open a scholarly forum for engaging readers with a familiarity with one of these domains while providing insight into the others on offer in the book

Education, Equity, Economy: Crafting a New Intersection George W. Noblit, William T. Pink, 2015-11-17 This volume will introduce the readers to an alternative nexus of education equity and economy pointing to economies and educations that promote a less stratified and exploitive world and as the chapter authors demonstrate this view has a wide range of applications from technology mathematics to environmental catastrophes and indigenous cultures This first volume in the new book series not only introduces the series itself but also several authors whose chapters that appear here presage the in depth analysis that will be offered by their volumes in the series Education is invoked repeatedly in the class warfare that pits the population against the elites as the investment that makes the difference in terms of both policy and individual commitment in the economy The economy in this scenario is competitive accumulative exploitive and stratifying implying education should mirror this and prepare people to fit this economy However education has other historic goals of developing common cultures national identities and civic engagement that belie this form of economic determinism This volume and the series will explore this new nexus of economy and education with equity

Dialogical Inquiry in Mathematics Teaching and Learning Nadia Stoyanova, Eva Marsal, 2023-10-31 The collection of papers in this anthology represents what may be a broad exploration of the role of philosophical inquiry in the classroom and in mathematics teacher education a topos characterized by multiple intersecting themes all of which converge on a central question what is the role of mathematics in the construction of the realities we live by and could that role be different if we became aware of its invisible power In the age of the Anthropocene an era in which technological intervention plays an ever more central role in the way we build develop and attempt to maintain our increasingly fragile and risk prone human and natural world what are the implications of the hegemonic epistemic status of mathematics in those processes Does mathematics define the conditions of possibility of all knowledge whether expressed in a theory or silently invested in a practice Does or can mathematics and its presumed value neutrality serve to limit constrain suppress and even preclude other perhaps more valuable forms of knowledge Alternatively can philosophical dialogue about mathematics serve to clarify unmask reframe and recreate our understanding of mathematics and its symbolic power in the human and material world and act as an emancipatory form of knowledge in culture and society What would such dialogues look like in the mathematics classroom The papers in this volume address these questions in various contexts and registers and provide prospective and in service teachers with compelling and suggestive ways of responding to them A must read for math educators everywhere Nadia Stoyanova Kennedy Associate Professor of Mathematics Education City University of New York USA Eva Marsal Professor of Philosophy University of Education Karlsruhe Germany University of Warsaw Poland

Dialogue and Learning in Mathematics Education Helle Alrø, Ole

Skovsmose,2006-01-02 Dialogue and Learning in Mathematics Education is concerned with communication in mathematics class rooms In a series of empirical studies of project work we follow students inquiry cooperation as well as students obstructions to inquiry cooperation Both are considered important for a theory of learning mathematics Special attention is paid to the notions of dialogue and critique A central idea is that dialogue supports critical learning of mathematics The link between dialogue and critique is developed further by including the notions of intention and reflection Thus a theory of learning mathematics is developed which is resonant with critical mathematics education Toward a Nonkilling Paradigm

Joám Evans Pim,2009 The present volume brings together 24 authors and 14 disciplines including anthropology arts biology economics engineering geography health sciences history linguistics mathematics philosophy physics psychology and sociology to seriously consider the prospects for the realization of nonkilling societies and to challenge each discipline s role in the necessary social and scientific transformation toward a killing free world Pub
