Relics Prayer And Politics In Medieval Venetia:

Relics, Prayer, and Politics in Medieval Venetia Thomas E. A. Dale, 1997 Against a historical backdrop of relic theft and propaganda campaigns waged by two cities vying for patriarchal authority in medieval Venetia Thomas Dale shows how Romanesque mural painting shaped sacred space and institutional identity His focus is on the late twelfth century murals in the crypt of Aquileia Cathedral The crypt which contains the relics of Aquileia's founding bishop Saint Hermagoras has a historical significance rooted in a legend identifying the saint as a direct disciple of Saint Mark the Evangelist On this basis the Carolingians promoted the city's status as patriarchal see of Venetia a claim that prompted Venice to steal Mark's relics from Alexandria Egypt and appropriate Aquileia's history This book the first English language study of the crypt explores how the paintings complement the relics of Hermagoras in their distinct devotional and political roles Hermagoras's intercessory power is activated by his orant image displayed over the central aisle within a larger hierarchy of apostles martyrs and bishops The surrounding hagiographic cycle justifies in legalistic fashion Aquileia's patriarchal title and the consecration of the city as locus sanctus of Venetia by the blood of its martyrs The iconic images in the eastern lunettes present the Virgin's compassio as a pictorial model for the vicarious experience of Christ's Passion Finally a fictive curtain over the socle presents allegories of spiritual warfare in the form of exempla from crusades pilgrimage and the epic poem Psychomachia which Dale analyzes as a gloss on the main program

Living with Disfigurement in Early Medieval Europe Patricia Skinner, 2016-12-21 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This book examines social and medical responses to the disfigured face in early medieval Europe arguing that the study of head and facial injuries can offer a new contribution to the history of early medieval medicine and culture as well as exploring the language of violence and social interactions Despite the prevalence of warfare and conflict in early medieval society and a veritable industry of medieval historians studying it there has in fact been very little attention paid to the subject of head wounds and facial damage in the course of war and or punitive justice The impact of acquired disfigurement for the individual and for her or his family and community is barely registered and only recently has there been any attempt to explore the question of how damaged tissue and bone might be treated medically or surgically In the wake of new work on disability and the emotions in the medieval period this study documents how acquired disfigurement is recorded across different geographical and chronological contexts in the period
