Hegemonic Transformation Elaine Sio-ieng Hui, 2017-10-31 This book contends that the Chinese economic reform inaugurated since 1978 has been a top down passive revolution in Gramsci's term and that after three decades of reform the role of the Chinese state has been changing from steering the passive revolution through coercive tactics to establishing capitalist hegemony It illustrates that the labour law system is a crucial vehicle through which the Chinese party state seeks to secure the working class's consent to the capitalist class's ethno political leadership The labour law system has exercised a double hegemonic effect with regards to the capital labour relations and state labour relations through four major mechanisms However these effects have influenced the Chinese migrant workers in an uneven manner The affirmative workers have granted active consent to the ruling class leadership the indifferent ambiguous and critical workers have only rendered passive consent while the radical workers have refused to give any consent at all social class before considering the extent to which social class has been a key construct in three general areas of applied linguistics sociolinguistics bi multilingualism and second language acquisition and learning research Throughout the book Block suggests ways in which social class might be incorporated into future applied linguistics research A critical read for postgraduate students and researchers in the areas of applied linguistics language education and TESOL Rethinking Class Wai-chee Dimock, Michael T. Domination and Emancipation Daniel Benson,2021-11-01 A melancholy defeatism has become a hallmark of critical thought and leftist politics A consequence of this has been an exaggerated focus on domination among critical theorists leaving emancipation along with questions of political organization and strategy undertheorized at best or disregarded as delusional at worst If emancipation still plays a role in critical reflection it is most often in a domesticated form made into a bedfellow of centrist liberalism Recent events necessitate a different outlook especially since the financial collapse of 2008 and the myriad movements emancipatory as much as reactionary it has spawned throughout the world Through a series of dialogues and reflections by leading thinkers scholars and activists Domination and Emancipation Remaking Critique seeks to rebuild the emancipatory pole of critique and bring forward theoretical work that is in step with the struggles and aspirations of the moment
