Return To Community Building Support Systems For People With Psychiatric Disabilities:

Return to Community Paul J. Carling, 1995-01-01 Provides a comprehensive practical approach to fully integrating people with serious mental illnesses into the community Drawing from a range of resources including mental health consumers and their families this pathbreaking work lays the groundwork for a critical rethinking of how we view people labeled mentally ill Defining community integration the author examines current and past approaches to meeting the needs of people with psychiatric disabilities demonstrating how they have been inadequate Carling then maps out a pioneering paradigm for community integration which consists of an active partnership among mental health professionals community leaders policy makers families neighbors employers and realtors Describing ways to prepare the community to organize for change the book discusses the need to first address the pervasive nature of stigma which is reflected at every level of society Drawing from his own extensive experience as well as from firsthand observations of model programs in place throughout the U S Canada Europe and Australia the author offers detailed guidance for organizing a program of action in mental health systems and in local communities

Housing, Citizenship, and Communities for People with Serious Mental Illness John Sylvestre, Geoffrey Brian Nelson, Tim Aubry, 2017 Housing Citizenship and Communities for People with Serious Mental Illness provides the first comprehensive overview of the field The book covers theory research practice and policy issues related to the provision of housing and the supports that people rely on to get and keep their housing

A Practical Guide to Recovery-Oriented Practice: Tools for Transforming Mental Health Care Larry Davidson, 2009 This book takes the lofty vision of recovery and of a life in the community for every adult with a mental illness promised by the U S President s New Freedom Commission and shows the reader what is entailed in making this vision a practical reality for people with mental illnesses and their families

Adult Day Services and Social Inclusion Chris L. Clark, 2001 Placing adult day services within the whole spectrum of social provision the contributors to this book explore their complementary role alongside field social work health care domiciliary services and supported accommodation Professionals in all sectors of social care will find it an essential guide to the provision of an effective day service

Controversies and Disputes in Disability and Rehabilitation Roland Meinert, Francis Yuen, 2014-06-11 Although the field of disability services and societal understanding of disability issues have advanced in recent decades there remain controversial subjects and unresolved disputes These cover a wide spectrum from legislation impacting the entire disability community such as the ADA to culture clashes within a minority group such as the deaf community Experts analyze and discuss nine of these controversies of particular interest to professional social workers They are ones about which there are obvious disagreements and no readily available solutions All sides of the issues are examined to enable readers to draw their own conclusions The overall intent is to draw attention to each controversy and to motivate professional social workers to engage in personal as well as public dialogue about them This book was originally published as a special issue of Journal of Social Work in Disability and Rehabilitation

Collaborative Strategies and

Multi-organizational Partnerships Tharsi Taillieu, 2001 Contains a collection of papers which were presented at the Seventh International Conference The aim is to advance the understanding of the nature of such partnerships and strategies by providing an international platform for the exchange of novel ideas experiences and practices The conference focused most of its attention on experiences and methodologies regarding multiparadigmatic approaches

Principles and Practice of Psychiatric Rehabilitation Patrick W. Corrigan, Kim T. Mueser, Gary R. Bond, Robert E. Drake, Phyllis Solomon, 2012-08-22 This comprehensive authoritative text provides a state of the art review of current knowledge and best practices for helping adults with psychiatric disabilities move forward in their recovery process The authors draw on extensive research and clinical expertise to accessibly describe the whats whys and how tos of psychiatric rehabilitation Coverage includes tools and strategies for assessing clients needs and strengths integrating medical and psychosocial interventions and implementing supportive services in such areas as housing employment social networks education and physical health Detailed case examples in every chapter illustrate both the real world challenges of severe mental illness and the nuts and bolts of effective interventions

Managing to Care Ann Dill, 2017-09-04 The point of departure for Managing to Care is widespread concern that the present delivery of health and social welfare services is fragmented uncoordinated inefficient costly wasteful and ultimately detrimental to clients health and wellbeing Dill traces the evolution of case management from its start as a tool for integrating services on the level of the individual client to its current role as a force behind the most significant trends in health care Those trends include the entrenchment of bureaucracy the challenges of once dominant professions and the rise of corporate control The author s purpose in adopting this analysis is to invite further scrutiny of the case management profession and at the same time to identify new possibilities for its application This volume brings together thoughts developed over many years of observing and participating in case management programs It provides a multilayered perspective of case management showing linkages among its social and historical contexts and the ways it is practiced today in diverse service settings The author emerged convinced about the essential need for care coordination and that present ways of providing care can work against our highest objectives in doing so The paradoxes and contraindications embedded in case management practice became a major theme of the book Managing to Care is highly critical of the ways case management has come to absorb and reflect the organizational flaws of the very service systems it was intended to reform Too often management of the case comes to dominate care The author does not call for a rejection of professional systems in favor of a resurrected informal community While much can and should be done to strengthen our ties to one another there will always be people whose problems require more expert help Dill argues here that case management can provide such help and provide it well but only if it is grounded in the human dimension of a caring relation

A Fragile Revolution Barbara Everett, 2006-01-01 Despite two centuries and three major reform movements mental patients have remained on the outside of the mainstream of society often living in poverty and violence Today we are undergoing yet another period of reform and in a historical first ex mental patients now calling themselves consumers and psychiatric survivors have been recruited in record numbers by the Ontario government to participate in the change process A Fragile Revolution investigates the complex relationship between ex mental patients the government the mental health system and mental health professionals It also explores how the recent changes in policy have affected that relationship creating new tensions and new opportunities Using qualitative interviews with prominent consumer and survivor activists Everett examines how consumers and survivors define themselves how they define mental illness and how their personal experience has been translated into political action While it is clear that consumers and survivors have affected the rhetoric of reform they know that words do not equal action As they struggle to develop their own separate advocacy agenda they acknowledge that theirs is a fragile revolution but one that is here to stay

Combat Stress Injury Charles R. Figley, William Nash, 2011-02-14 Combat Stress Injury represents a definitive collection of the most current theory research and practice in the area of combat and operational stress management edited by two experts in the field In this book Charles Figley and Bill Nash have assembled a wide ranging group of authors military nonmilitary American international combat veterans trainers and as diverse as psychiatrists psychologists social workers nurses clergy physiologists military scientists The chapters in this volume collectively demonstrate that combat stress can effectively be managed through prevention and training prior to combat stress reduction methods during operations and desensitization programs immediately following combat exposure

Recovering the US Mental Healthcare System Meaghan Stacy, Charlie A. Davidson, 2022-02-24 Decades of research show that psychosocial treatments are effective for psychosis yet they remain unimplemented as the American healthcare system relies primarily on pharmacological solutions instead This book reviews the history and current state of research to provide a more nuanced understanding of the evidence for and barriers to psychosocial care for psychosis It addresses a wide range of mental health research and multi professional practice domains from historical personal societal professional and systems perspectives The varied perspectives presented illustrate factors that limit support for recovery in SMI and psychosis as well as real hope for recovering the US mental healthcare system With contributions of experts by training and by experience this book represents an essential resource for students practitioners and researchers

Remembrance of Patients Past Geoffrey Reaume, 2000-12-15 In Remembrance of Patients Past historian Geoffrey Reaume remembers previously forgotten psychiatric patients by examining in rich detail their daily life at the Toronto Hospital for the Insane now called the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health CAMH from 1870 1940 Psychiatric patients endured abuse and could lead monotonous lives inside the asylum's walls yet these same women and men worked hard at unpaid institutional jobs for years and decades on end created their own entertainment even in some cases made their own clothes while forming meaningful relationships with other patients and some staff Using first person accounts by and about patients including letters written by inmates which were confiscated by hospital staff Reaume weaves together a tapestry of stories about the daily lives of people confined behind brick walls that patients themselves built

Public Administration and Disability Julie Ann Racino, 2014-12-16 Based on decades of evidence based research and technical assistance Public Administration and Disability Community Services Administration in the US brings together the diverse expert perspectives and discusses the leading efforts of the past three decades in the field of disability and community services The book highlights the development of Closing the Asylums George Paulson, M.D., 2014-01-10 One of the most significant medical and social initiatives of the twentieth century was the demolition of the traditional state hospitals that housed most of the mentally ill and the placement of the patients out into the community The causes of this deinstitutionalization included both idealism and legal pressures newly effective medications the establishment of nursing and group homes the woeful inadequacy of the aging giant hospitals and an attitudinal change that emphasized environmental and social factors not organic ones as primarily responsible for mental illness Though closing the asylums promised more freedom for many encouraged community acceptance and enhanced outpatient opportunities there were unintended consequences increased homelessness significant prison incarcerations of the mentally ill inadequate community support or governmental funding This book is written from the point of view of an academic neurologist who has served 60 years as an employee or consultant in typical state mental institutions in North Carolina and Ohio
