NA, 1990-03-01 Cosmopolitanism and International Relations Theory Richard Beardsworth, 2013-04-16 Globalization has been contested in recent times Among the critical perspectives is cosmopolitanism Yet with the exception of normative theory international relations as a field has ignored cosmopolitan thinking This book redresses this gap and develops a dialogue between cosmopolitanism and international relations The dialogue is structured around three debates between non universalist theories of international relations and contemporary cosmopolitan thought The theories chosen are realism post Marxism and postmodernism All three criticize liberalism in the international domain and therefore cosmopolitanism as an offshoot of liberalism In the light of each school's respective critique of universalism the book suggests both the importance and difficulty of the cosmopolitan perspective in the contemporary world Beardsworth emphasizes the need for global leadership at nation state level re embedding of the world economy a cosmopolitan politics of the lesser violence and cosmopolitan political judgement He also suggests research agendas to situate further contemporary cosmopolitanism in international relations theory This book will appeal to all students of political theory and international relations especially those who are seeking more articulation of the main issues between cosmopolitanism and its critics in international relations

affect the return process and associated mobilities and their multiple links with returned migrants wellbeing or psychosocial issues Drawing research encompassing four different continents Europe North America Africa and Asia to offer a blend of studies this timely volume contrasts with previous research which is heavily informed by clinical approaches and concepts as the contributions in this book come from various disciplinary approaches such as sociology geography psychology politics and anthropology Indeed this title will appeal to academics NGOs and policy makers working on migration and psychosocial wellbeing and undergraduate and postgraduate students who are interested in the fields of migration social policy ethnicity studies health studies human geography sociology and anthropology Africans on the Move Fasil Demissie, 2016-03-17

Whose Cosmopolitanism? Nina Glick Schiller, Andrew Irving, 2017-05 The term cosmopolitan is increasingly used within different social cultural and political settings including academia popular media and national politics However those who invoke the cosmopolitan project rarely ask whose experience understanding or vision of cosmopolitanism is being described and for whose purposes In response this volume assembles contributors from different disciplines and theoretical backgrounds to examine cosmopolitanism s possibilities aspirations and applications as well as its tensions contradictions and discontents so as to offer a critical commentary on the vital but often neglected question whose cosmopolitanism The book investigates when where and how cosmopolitanism emerges as a contemporary social process global aspiration or emancipatory political project and asks whether it can serve as a political or methodological framework for action in a world of conflict and difference
