Return To The High Country:

Religion, Law, and the Land Brian E. Brown, 1999-11-30 Examining a series of court decisions made during the 1980s regarding the legal claims of several Native American tribes who attempted to protect ancestrally revered lands from development schemes by the federal government this book looks at important questions raised about the religious status of land The tribes used the First Amendment right of free exercise of religion as the basis of their claim since governmental action threatened to alter the land which served as the primordial sacred reality without which their derivative religious practices would be meaningless Brown argues that a constricted notion of religion on the part of the courts combined with a pervasive cultural predisposition towards land as private property marred the Constitutional analysis of the courts to deprive the Native American plaintiffs of religious liberty Brown looks at four cases which raised the issue at the federal district and appellate court levels centered on lands in Tennessee Utah South Dakota and Arizona then it considers a fifth case regarding land in northwestern California which ultimately went to the U S Supreme Court In all cases the author identifies serious deficiencies in the judicial evaluations The lower courts applied a conception of religion as a set of beliefs and practices that are discrete and essentially separate from land thus distorting and devaluing the fundamental basis of the tribal claims It was this reductive fixation of land as property implicit in the rulings of the first four cases that became explicitly sanctioned and codified in the Supreme Court's decision in Lyng v Northwest Indian Cemetery Protective Association of 1988 In reaching such a position the Supreme Court injudiciously engaged in a policy determination to protect government land holdings and did so through a shocking repudiation of its own long established jurisprudential procedure in cases concerning the free exercise of religion

The New Geography Joel Kotkin, 2002-01-29 In the blink of an eye vast economic forces have created new types of communities and reinvented old ones In The New Geography acclaimed forecaster Joel Kotkin decodes the changes and provides the first clear road map for where Americans will live and work in the decades to come and why He examines the new role of cities in America and takes us into the new American neighborhood The New Geography is a brilliant and indispensable guidebook to a fundamentally new landscape

Ebook: Managerial Accounting - Global Edition Ronald Hilton, David Platt, 2014-09-16 We are pleased to present this Global Edition which has been developed specifically to acquaint students of business with the fundamental tools of managerial accounting and to promote their understanding of the dramatic ways in which business is changing The emphasis is on teaching students to use accounting information to best manage an organization Each chapter is written around a realistic business or focus company that guides the reader through the topics of that chapter There is significant coverage of contemporary topics such as activity based costing target costing the value chain customer profitability analysis and throughput costing while also including traditional topics such as job order costing budgeting and performance evaluation Many of the real world examples in the Management Accounting Practice boxes have been revised and updated to make them more current and several new examples have been added This Global Edition has been adapted to meet the needs of courses outside the United States and does not align with the instructor and student resources available with the U S edition

High Country Courtney Ryley Cooper,1926 New Zealand's Livestock and Meat Industry Quevedo Martin Morgan,1970 Annual World Bank Conference on Development Economics 2008, Global Justin Yifu Lin,Boris Pleskovic,2009-09-22 This book presents selected papers from the ABCDE Meetings held May 17 18 2007 in Bled Slovenia Hosted by the World Bank and the Government of Slovenia more than 400 experts from countries around the world met to deliberate the theme Private Sector and Development This volume presents papers on financial inclusion factors that matter the most for business climate and the provision of public services by non state actors FCC Record United States. Federal Communications Commission,1989 Grizzly West Michael J. Dax,2015 Environmentalists and the timber industry do not often collaborate but in the years immediately following gray wolf reintroduction in the interior American West a plan to reintroduce grizzly bears to the Selway Bitterroot Wilderness of Idaho and Montana brought these odd bedfellows together The partnership won praise from diverse interests across the country and in 2000 the U S Fish and Wildlife Service approved a plan for reintroduction When the Bush Administration took office however it promptly shelved the project In Grizzly West Michael J Dax explores the political cultural and social forces at work in the West and around the country that gave rise to this innovative plan but also contributed to its downfall Observers at the time blamed the project s collapse on simple partisan politics but Dax reveals how the American West s changing culture and economy over the second half of the twentieth century dramatically affected this bold vision He examines the growth of the New West s political potency while at the same time revealing the ways in which the Old West still holds a significant grip over the region s politics Grizzly West explores the great divide between the Old and the New West one that has lasting consequences for the modern West and for our country s relationship with its wildlife The Man Who Thought He Owned Water Tershia d'Elgin,2016-08-15 The Man Who Thought He Owned Water is author Tershia d Elgin s fresh take on the gravest challenge of our time how to support urbanization without killing ourselves in the process The gritty story of her family s experience with water rights on its Colorado farm provides essential background about American farms food and water administration in the West in the context of growing cities and climate change Enchanting and informative The Man Who Thought He Owned Water is an appeal for urban rural cooperation over water and resiliency When her father bought his farm Big Bend Station he also bought the ample water rights associated with the land and the South Platte River confident that he had secured the necessary resources for a successful endeavor Yet water immediately proved fickle hard to defend and sometimes dangerous

Eventually those rights were curtailed without compensation Through her family s story d Elgin dramatically frames the personal scale implications of water competition revealing how water deals infrastructure transport and management create economic growth but also sever human connections to Earth s most vital resource She shows how water flows to cities at the expense of American grown food as rural land turns to desert wildlife starves the environment degrades and climate change intensifies Depicting deep love obsession and breathtaking landscape The Man Who Thought He Owned Water is an impassioned call to rebalance our relationship with water It will be of great interest to anyone seeking to understand the complex forces affecting water resources food supply food security and biodiversity in America

The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Indigenous Australia and New Guinea Ian J. Tracking Rural Change Francesca Merlan, David Raftery, 2009-04-01 A key intensifying change affecting rural areas in the last few decades has been a decline in the proportion of national populations whose principal livelihood is farming The corresponding re distribution of population has typically resulted in a net population loss to rural areas and diversification of rural activity The corporatization and technological modification of food production has prompted new policy challenges and has bound rural and urban populations together in new relationships articulated in moral discourses of custodianship food safety and sustainability Contributors to this volume came together in the attempt to stimulate collective insight into trends of rural change in Australia New Zealand and Europe The first two countries have been characterised by avowedly neoliberal rural policy with considerable departures from it in practice Europe on the other hand by a mix of policy measures which attempt to integrate land management and sustainability diversification and maintenance of a competitive farming sector within an overarching policy framework more overtly though only partially oriented towards sustaining rural society Aiming to build on research relating to the character of rural transitions this volume offers substantive and critical contributions to the understanding of the sources of unpredictability instability and continuity that underpin rural transition The papers explore changes and continuities in policy the governance of rural spaces technological developments relating to rural areas and populations and social forms of subjectivation and participation in increasingly diverse rural settings

Peckinpah's Tragic Westerns John L. Simons, Robert Merrill, 2014-01-10 The work of Sam Peckinpah represents a high point in American cinema This text is the first theoretical and critical attempt to place Peckinpah within the 2 000 year old tradition of western tragedy The tradition enfolding the Greeks Shakespeare and modern tragedians is represented in Peckinpah's art in numerous ways and the fact that he worked in the mode throughout his career distinguishes him from most American film directors Films covered include Ride the High Country Noon Wine The Wild Bunch Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid and Bring Me the Head of Alfredo Garcia

Rangelands: A Resource Under Siege P. J. Joss, P. W. Lynch, O. B. Williams, 1986 This volume comprises the proceedings of the Second International Rangelands Congress held in Adelaide Australia in May 1984 and includes some 350 contributions drawn from 43 different countries The Congress addressed the problem of the conflict between land users and the degradation of this valuable resource Some 40% of the Earth's land surface is arid or semi-arid and therefore unsuitable for agricultural cultivation Collectively these lands are known as rangelands and in their natural state they constitute a habitat for grazing animals both domestic and wild Despite their low productivity rangelands have been used for thousands of years as a source of food and fibre but other uses such as mining tourism recreation and conservation are exerting increasing demands The result is often conflict between land users and degradation of the resource
