Race, Culture, and Identity Shireen K. Lewis,2006-03-10 In this groundbreaking book Shireen Lewis gives a comprehensive analysis of the literary and theoretical discourse on race culture and identity by Francophone and Caribbean writers beginning in the early part of the twentieth century and continuing into the dawn of the new millennium

Examining the works of Patrick Chamoiseau Raphaël Confiant Aimé Césaire Léopold Senghor Léon Damas and Paulette Nardal Lewis traces a move away from the preoccupation with African origins and racial and cultural purity toward concerns of hybridity and fragmentation in the New World or Diasporic space In addition to exploring how this shift parallels the larger debate around modernism and postmodernism Lewis makes a significant contribution by arguing for the inclusion of Martinican intellectual Paulette Nardal and other women into the canon as significant contributors to the birth of modern black Francophone literature

The Need for Revision David P. Owen, Jr., 2012-01-01 Can we have more teacher intellectuals in our classrooms This book demonstrates that we can But many things have to change before intellectual standards appear again in public schools David Owen attempts to show but not in outline form how we can revise our schools Can we escape the rut in which public education finds itself dominated by the inane tests the stifling reduction of school to job training and the insane transformation of a life affirming odyssey of the mind to cliché information gathering and slogans We can reclaim the beauty of an education if we join David and revise our classrooms Education is uncertain risky wonderfully adventurous yet schooling has become stale No tediously dreadful There is a need to revise Reject standardized tests Repeal pay for performance Eject No Child Left Behind before no child has a thoughtful mind left It is time to revise and David's book explains why Are we still interested in the mind soul and substance of the individual Does it matter who we are and become or just what we do If these questions still matter dwell carefully with David's ideas and transform yourself your students school community state nation and world It is time to revise them all John A Weaver Georgia Southern University

Climate Change Action and the Responsibility to Protect Ben L. Parr,2023-11-29 This book brings together two important fields in the study of international politics and policy climate change adaptation and mitigation climate action and the Responsibility to Protect R2P Both have attracted strong scholarly attention in each of their respective research silos but there is yet to be a strong research push that explores the relationship between the two Filling this gap Ben L Parr argues that the climate action and the R2P agendas share a common goal to protect vulnerable human populations from large scale harm To substantiate this argument Parr reveals where the historical conceptual and operational parallels exist between the two agendas and where and when researchers and practitioners from both camps might work together in practice to achieve their common goal in the challenging years ahead Notably the book builds on recent efforts by Western governments in the UK US and EU to integrate climate action policies into conflict prevention and response policies To achieve this the volume situates a variety of climate action policies alongside the 46 policy options found in the R2P operational framework commonly known as the R2P toolbox across its prevention reaction and rebuilding phases Climate Change Action and the Responsibility to Protect will be of significant interest to policy orientated students and scholars those working at the academic policy interface in the NGO community as well as those working in government and international organisations
