My First About Oregon Pb 2001:

Northwest Forest Plan : the First 10 Years (1994-2003) ,2006 A Comparative Political Ecology of Exurbia Laura E. Taylor,Patrick T. Hurley,2016-05-26 This book is about politics and planning outside of cities where urban political economy and planning theories do not account for the resilience of places that are no longer rural and where local communities work hard to keep from ever becoming urban By examining exurbia as a type of place that is no longer simply rural or only tied to the economies of global resources e g mining forestry and agriculture we explore how changing landscapes are planned and designed not to be urban that is to look function and feel different from cities and suburbs in spite of new home development and real estate speculation The book s authors contend that exurbia is defined by the persistence of rural economies the conservation of rural character and protection of natural ecological systems all of which are critical components of the contentious local politics that seek to limit growth Comparative political ecology is used as an organizing concept throughout the book to describe the nature of exurban areas in the U S and Australia although exurbs are common to many countries The essays each describe distinctive case studies with each chapter using the key concepts of competing rural capitalisms and uneven environmental management to describe the politics of exurban change This systematic analysis makes the processes of exurban change easier to see and understand Based on these case studies seven characteristics of exurban places are identified rural character access local economic change ideologies of nature changes in land management coalition building and land use planning This book will be of interest to those who study planning conservation and land development issues especially in areas of high natural amenity or environmental value There is no political ecology book quite like this neither one solely focused on cases from the developed world in this case the United States and Australia nor one that specifically harnesses different case studies from multiple areas to develop a central organizing perspective of landscape change Climate Change Archaeology Robert Van de Noort,2013-11 This pioneering study provides the theoretical basis for archaeological data to be included in climate change debate Applying an approach which uses archaeological research as a repository of ideas and concepts it illustrates the pathways implemented in times of climate change in the past and how these can help prepare modern communities Reconstructing biotechnologies Guido Ruivenkamp,Shuji Hisano,Joost Jongerden,2023-08-28 The main subject of this publication is the co creation of society and biotechnology The authors do not treat society and biotechnology as separate domains instead they consider technologies as socially constructed The main focus of this publication is on agro biotechnologies and the contributors present perspectives for reconstruction both from and in the North and the South Reconstructing biotechnologies offers a range of critical social analyses confronting the actuality of biotechnology with the potentialities of its social reconstruction In doing that the book develops and merges literature from four different disciplines namely i critical theory and its analyses of technology and power ii political economy critically assessing the interrelationship between economy politics and technology iii social constructivism which holds that technology is the product of agency and knowledge systems and iv the analysis of rural society and agrarian technologies in rural sociology Reconstructing biotechnologies introduces exciting approaches and examples into the social reshaping of biotechnologies It brings together critical examinations of contemporary biotechnology development and puts forward possible alternatives written by critical scholars The contributions in this publication are for students and scholars in a wide range of disciplines such as social and political sciences science and technology studies and development studies The editors of the book are associated with the Social Sciences Department of Wageningen University in the Netherlands and the Graduate School of Economics of Kyoto University in Japan They have published extensively on social and political theory and biotechnology

Cold-Water Corals and Ecosystems André Freiwald,J. Murray Roberts,2006-01-17 Following the exciting exploration of hot vent and cold seep ecosystems the rediscovery of cold water coral ecosystems with high technology instrumentation is currently another hot topic in multidisciplinary marine research Conventionally coral reefs are regarded as restricted to warm and well illuminated tropical seas not associated with cold and dark waters of higher latitudes However ongoing scientific missions have shed light on the global significance of this overlooked ecosystem Cold water coral ecosystems are involved in the formation of large seabed structures such as reefs and giant carbonate mounds and they represent unexploited paleo environmental archives of earth history Like their tropical cousins cold water coral ecosystems harbour rich species diversity Despite the great water depths commercial interests overlap more and more with the coral occurrences Human activities already impinge directly on cold water coral reefs causing severe damage to this vulnerable ecosystem In this volume the current key institutions involved in cold water coral research have contributed 62 state of the art articles from geology and oceanography to biology and conservation

Introgession from Genetically Modified Plants Into Wild Relatives Hans C. M. den Nijs,Detlef Bartsch,Jeremy Sweet,2004 Hybridization transgene crop gene flow resistant The Fires of Moloch Timothy Larsen,2025-06-21 The First World War is the bloodiest war in British history As casualties mounted during one of its great seemingly futile battles the Passchendaele offensive of 1917 seventeen Anglican priests serving as temporary military chaplains wrote chapters for the book The Church in the Furnace In it they urged the Church of England to make fundamental changes in the light of the war They were impatient and hard hitting They gained a reputation as radicals The Furnace seventeen experienced more than enough of the war Some were wounded others gassed One of them was recognized as a war hero but suffered from shell shock for the rest of his life Some won the Military Cross the Distinguished Service Order or other honours One of them was the most famous padre of them all the war poet G A Studdert Kennedy who was widely known by his nickname Woodbine Willie The others included the Irish novelist James O Hannay who wrote under the penname George A Birmingham the Oxford theologian Kenneth E Kirk and Eric Milner White whose response to the war included creating the Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols for Christmas Eve King s College Cambridge Though they had been scathing about the Church hierarchy

during the war most of them lived to be consecrated a bishop They strove to make sense of the turbulent events through which they lived a span of years that included two world wars Some of their brothers died in the First World War and some of their sons in the Second World War They spoke out on issues such as birth control the League of Nations Prayer Book revision church reunion and pacifism They sought to do something with their lives after the war that would make retrospectively meaningful all the meaningless losses that had occurred during the war The Fires of Moloch is a group biography of a generation which went through the fire a generation which went from the Victorian age to the atomic age but which was forever haunted by the trenches and battlefields of France and Flanders 1914 18

Demographic Change in Australia's Rural Landscapes Gary W. Luck, Digby Race, Rosemary Black, 2010-11-30 The distribution and re distribution of people across the landscape has significant implications for ecological economic and social dynamics Movement of people to urban centres mostly from rural landscapes especially in the developing world is a major global phenomenon This can result in the depopulation of rural landscapes Conversely population growth and a changing demographic profile have been identified for particular rural landscapes with notable examples from North America Europe and Australia Yet we know little of the factors that drive demographic changes in rural landscapes and even less about the implications of these changes This book examines broad and local scale patterns of demographic change in rural landscapes identifies some of the drivers of these changes using Australian case studies or comparisons between Australian and international contexts and outlines the implications of changes for society and the environment This book makes a valuable contribution to the literature because it adopts an integrated and interdisciplinary approach by explicitly linking demographic change with environmental land use social and economic factors This integrated approach was achieved by encouraging interaction among authors writing on similar topics to ensure coherency and complementarity among chapters and cross pollination of ideas and perspectives Chapters are presented as interactive and reflective discussions that address the findings of other contributors yet each chapter contains enough background to stand alone as a unique contribution
