HISTORIAN GEOGRAPHY AND SIMILAR PROBLEMS

By R. H. SMITH, ILLA.

HIRTH, in his "China and the Roman Orient," written in 1895, showed that the geographical description of Tach's island, on the Sino-African continent at Sanguin, was but one of several Chinese records, some earlier, some of subsequent date, but all dealing with the physical outline of the Western world.

With sound instinct he assumed that a solid basis of fact underlay the legendary character of the Sino-African records, and by a masterly "master-of-fact" interpretation identified the "Flying Bridge" with Zangara, while Sanguin joined with no other land. At an earlier date the Egyptians, at some point, had been crossed by Alexander the Great with a structure of the suspension type.¹

Demetrius, quoted by Hirth, elucidated the most most mythical "water-shoreland," by suggesting the delusive fabric woven from the marine hyacinth,² a word which has disappeared from English encyclopedias, though an excellent description can be found in Orbis antiquus.

English translations of the Sino-African inscription given by Legge and Hirth have long been unsatisfactory, and the small pamphlet by Wylie difficult to procure, as Professor Smith, in his volume, written in English and published by the S.P.C.K.,³ in 1913, contained a real benefit in that portion of the reading public which has no access to reference libraries.

It is generally accepted that Li-kao is the earliest name by which the Roman Provincia Orientis was known to the Chinese, an alternative name being Hsi-tai-kao, Country of the Western Sea.

Most members of the French school assume that Li-kao is the phonetic equivalent of Alexandria⁴ in Egypt, but Hirth, without a strong case for identifying Alexandria with "the great city of Chib-gan."

Again, Antioch on the Orontes, is clearly identified in many accounts as the capital city of Li-kao, and in so far as Li-kao implies a large district rather than one city, it would apply to Syria as occupied by Alexander the Great and inherited by the Seleucids.

About the end of the first century of our era the name Li-kao was replaced by Ta-shih (Ta-shih),⁵ so called, according to the Hsi-tai-kao, because the inhabitants were tall and dark, resembling the Chinese, a description which has been considered accurate, but the Ta-shih-chi

Nestorian Monuments Similar Problems:

Journal of Theological Studies, 1924 Religions and Missionaries around the Pacific, 1500-1900 Tanya Storch, 2017-05-15 This volume takes an interdisciplinary approach to the study of religious cultural exchanges around the Pacific in the period 1500-1900 relating these to economic and political developments and to the expansion of communication across the area. It brings together twenty-two pieces from diaries of religious exiles and missionary field observations to studies from a variety of academic disciplines so enabling a multitude of voices to be heard. The articles are grouped in sections dealing with the Islamic period, the Iberian Catholic period, the Jewish diaspora, the Russian Orthodox church, the epoch of Protestant culture, and finally Asian immigrant religions in the West. A substantial introduction contextualizes these chapters in terms of both historical and contemporary approaches. The Nestorian Monument Frits Holm, 1909

Asian Review, 1925 Beginning in 1895 includes the Proceedings of the East India Association The Problem of China Bertrand Russell, 1922 A European lately arrived in China if he is of a receptive and reflective disposition finds himself confronted with a number of very puzzling questions for many of which the problems of Western Europe will not have prepared him. Russian problems it is true have important affinities with those of China but they have also important differences; moreover they are decidedly less complex. Chinese problems even if they affected no one outside China would be of vast importance since the Chinese are estimated to constitute about a quarter of the human race. In fact however all the world will be vitally affected by the development of Chinese affairs which may well prove a decisive factor for good or evil during the next two centuries. This makes it important to Europe and America almost as much as to Asia that there should be an intelligent understanding of the questions raised by China even if as yet definite answers are difficult to give. The Asiatic Review, 1925 The Problem of China Bertrand Russell, 2023-08-21 The Problem of China Bertrand Russell's Quest for Understanding in a Changing World Join philosopher Bertrand Russell as he grapples with the complexities of China's cultural, political, and social landscape offering profound insights into a nation in transition. The Problem of China by Bertrand Russell Engage with the complex issues of international politics and philosophy in The Problem of China by Bertrand Russell. This collection of essays offers Russell's insightful analysis of China's cultural, political, and social challenges during a time of significant change. Through his thought-provoking exploration, Russell delves into the clash between tradition and modernity, shedding light on the broader implications for global relations. Why This Book Intellectual Depth Russell's rigorous analysis and philosophical approach provide a deep understanding of the challenges China faced during the early 20th century, offering valuable insights into the complexities of cultural transformation. Global Relevance The issues raised in the essays, such as cultural identity, nationalism, and political dynamics, remain pertinent in today's interconnected world. Perspective on History Gain a historical perspective on China's transition from traditional to modern society and its impact on the nation's identity and role in the international arena. Intellectual Stimulus Russell's eloquent writing challenges readers to think critically about the broader implications of societal change and the role of philosophy in addressing complex issues Engage with Bertrand Russell's incisive exploration of The Problem of China to deepen your understanding of cultural evolution political challenges and global dynamics

Cultural Heritage Interpretation: Problems and Proposals for the Medieval Churches in the Walled City of Famagusta, Northern Cyprus Dr. Narmin Babazadeh Asbagh, 2024-12-12

Interpretation has recently become a more focused topic in the cultural heritage conservation field due to the increasing concern about the involvement of the stakeholders and the social pillar of sustainability As the enhancement of participation of the stakeholders in the conservation processes can be achieved by increasing their awareness and appreciation of cultural heritage sites interpretation has a considerable role in this process This research aims to search for methods for developing interpretation approaches for cultural heritage sites through the assessment of the responses of the stakeholders The churches of the Walled City of Famagusta have been chosen as the case study for this research due to the apparent interpretation problems Assessment of the responses of the stakeholders is accepted as a tool for developing a better interpretation of the cultural heritage buildings preventing them from further neglect or possible extinction This research proposes the advancement of interpretive approaches for similar undervalued and underappreciated sites There are many abandoned heritage buildings worldwide and due to the lack of function and maintenance deteriorate easily and are ruined Similarly abandoned valuable religious buildings have faced vandalism deliberately because of the decreasing demand for use or lack of their communities and many of them have been insufficiently interpreted for their visitors This research aims to develop an interpretive plan for the churches in the Walled City of Famagusta to overcome their current problems I would like to acknowledge that this book is the result of several pieces of research such as the published papers presented at international conferences from September 2014 until September 2024 and especially derived from my Ph D dissertation entitled Interpretation Problems and Proposals for the Churches in the Walled City of Famagusta under the supervision of Associate Professor Dr Ege Uluca Tamer at the Architecture Department Architecture Faculty of Eastern Mediterranean University Famagusta Northern Cyprus defended in July 2023

The Interpretation of Tang Christianity in the Late Ming China Mission Matteo Nicolini-Zani, 2023-04-24 The book contains the first annotated English translation of the Correct Explanation of the Tang Stele Eulogy on the Luminous Teaching 1644 by the Jesuit Manuel Dias Jr and other late Ming Chinese Christian sources interpreting the venerable ancestor of the Jesuit mission namely the mission of the Church of the East in Tang China Based on this documentation the book reconstructs the process of appropriation by Jesuit missionaries and their Chinese converts of ancient traces of Christianity that were discovered in China in the first half of the seventeenth century such as the Xi'an stele 781 and other Christian relics
