Propelling Participation:

Propelling Growth, Managing Costs Letty C. Tumbaga, 2003      Biomedical Aspects of Manual Wheelchair Propulsion L. H. V. van der Woude, Maria T. E. Hopman, Cathelijne H. Kemenade, 1999 Mobility is fundamental to health social integration and individual well being of the human being Henceforth mobility must be viewed as being essential to the outcome of the rehabilitation process of wheelchair dependent persons and to the successful re integration into society and to a productive and active life Many lower limb disabled subjects depend upon a wheelchair for their mobility Estimated numbers for the Netherlands Europe and USA are respectively 80 000 2 5 million and 1 25 million wheelchair dependent individuals Groups large enough to allow a special research focus and conference activity Both the quality of the wheelchair the individual work capacity the functionality of the wheelchair user combination and the effectiveness of the rehabilitation programme do indeed determine the freedom of mobility Their optimization is highly dependent upon a continuous and high quality research effort in combination with regular discussion and dissemination with practitioners The book intends to give a state of the art view on the current fundamental clinical and applied research findings and their consequences upon wheelchair propulsion arm work wheelchair training and possible consequences of a wheelchair confined life style Also its implications for rehabilitation as well as alternative modes of ambulation and activity in the wheelchair confined population such as functional electrical stimulation and its possible future developments are dealt with      Wheeled Mobility Biomechanics Philip Santos Requejo, Jill L. McNitt-Gray, 2016-11-10 For the manual wheelchair MWC user loss of lower extremity function often places the burden for mobility and activities of daily living on the upper extremities This e book on Wheeled Mobility Biomechanics contains current research that provides insights into the mechanical demands and performance techniques during tasks associated with MWC Our intent was to contribute to advancing the knowledge regarding the variables that promote or hinder an individual s capacity to handle the daily manual wheeled mobility demands and gain greater insights into upper extremity loading consequences predictors of pain onset and injury and ultimately identify strategies for preserving health and functional mobility for the MWC user      Naval Nuclear Propulsion Program--1971 United States. Congress. Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, 1971      Beyond Civil Society Sonia E. Alvarez, Jeffrey W. Rubin, Millie Thayer, Gianpaolo Baiocchi, Agustín Laó-Montes, 2017-05-18 The contributors to Beyond Civil Society argue that the conventional distinction between civic and uncivic protest and between activism in institutions and in the streets does not accurately describe the complex interactions of forms and locations of activism characteristic of twenty first century Latin America They show that most contemporary political activism in the region relies upon both confrontational collective action and civic participation at different moments Operating within fluid dynamic and heterogeneous fields of contestation activists have not been contained by governments or conventional political categories but rather have overflowed their boundaries opening new democratic spaces or extending existing ones in the process These essays offer fresh insight into how the politics of activism participation and protest are manifest in Latin America today while providing a new conceptual language and an interpretive framework for examining issues that are critical for the future of the region and beyond Contributors Sonia E Alvarez Kiran Asher Leonardo Avritzer Gianpaolo Baiocchi Andrea Cornwall Graciela DiMarco Arturo Escobar Raphael Hoetmer Benjamin Junge Luis E Lander Agust n La Montes Margarita L pez Maya Jos Antonio Lucero Graciela Monteagudo Amalia Pallares Jeffrey W Rubin Ana Claudia Teixeira Millie Thayer
