The Moviegoing Experience, 1968-2001 Richard W. Haines, 2010-06-28 The experience of going to the movies be it a single screen theater twin multiplex or drive in is affected by many different factors that have shifted over the years Just as movies emerged from silent to talking black and white to color there has invariably been change in the way movies are made copied distributed and viewed This change in the moviegoing experience for better or for worse is worth studying This work examines the American moviegoing experience from 1968 to 2001 the way in which movies are made and regulated including the demise of the Production Code and the emergence of the ratings system as well as changes in lighting cinematography and coloring techniques The projection practices of the past and present during and after the presence of the Projectionists Union and the advent of the platter which allowed for automated projection are discussed How home video and cable affected the content of films after the eighties and the history of computerized special effects leading to the development of digital cinema projection are included The work also covers the changing types of venues over the last third of a century and other aspects that affect positively or negatively the entire moviegoing experience Praying the Movies Edward McNulty, 2001-01-01 Praying the Movies is a collection of thirty one devotions that connect movies with the spiritual life of moviegoers Each devotion contains a passage from Scripture a description of a scene from a popular film and a meditation connecting the themes in the scene to the Scripture passage Also included in each devotion are questions to encourage further reflection a suggestion for a hymn and a brief prayer Rating Entertainment Ratings United States. directions that industry observers are questioning whether the rating system carries any validity at all As a movie reviewer for more than thirty years and as a watchful caretaker parent author Chris Hicks learned pretty quickly that Hollywood movers and shakers like to push the envelope as they put it and it doesn't seem to matter whether it's a children's film or an adult movie It's not just R rated movies that are troubling PG 13s and even PGs can also be problematic And sometimes worse than problematic Simply put relying on the Motion Picture Association of America to make choices for you or your children is a mistake Breaking down the history of the film rating system and exploring today's ratings confusion and quagmire Hicks provides valuable information to help parents know how to interpret and what to expect from today's movies

Crash Course in Gaming Suellen S. Adams, 2013-11-25 Video games aren't just for kids anymore This book will describe the why and how to start or expand a video gaming program in the library including some specific examples of how to target adult and female gamer patrons Gaming supplies more than just visual stimulation and empty entertainment it can also promote socialization as well as the learning of both traditional and new literacies required to succeed in the modern world Problem solving multi tasking complex decision making on the fly and reading the combination of words and graphics are vital skills for the 21st century all of which are required to play video games Crash Course in Gaming discusses the pros and cons of gaming the types of games and game systems circulating collections and game programs It explains how a library's video game program can and should do much more than simply draw younger users to the library providing examples of how everyone from parents to senior citizens can benefit from a patron oriented computer gaming program The appendices also include specific games programs review sources and sources for further information A History of Movie Ratings

Chris Hicks, 2013-07-23 The wire thin line that separates movies rated PG and R has been crossed over so many times in both directions that industry observers are questioning whether the rating system carries any validity at all Just where did this system come from And who's been trusted with dishing out the ratings anyway As a movie reviewer for more than thirty years author Chris Hicks knows a thing or two about Hollywood His masterful synopsis of CARA the MPAA and the mess we're in today will make you think twice before you take a film rating at face value Marketing violent entertainment to children a six-month follow-up review of industry practices in the motion picture, music recording & electronic game industries : a report to Congress. Military Comedy Films Hal Erickson, 2012-08-02 Beginning with Charlie Chaplin's Shoulder Arms released in America near the end of World War I the military comedy film has been one of Hollywood's most durable genres This generously illustrated history examines over 225 Army Navy and Marine related comedies produced between 1918 and 2009 including the abundance of laughspinners released during World War II in the wake of Abbott and Costello's phenomenally successful Buck Privates 1941 and the many lighthearted service films of the immediate postwar era among them Mister Roberts 1955 and No Time for Sergeants 1958 Also included are discussions of such subgenres as silent films The General military academy farces Brother Rat women in uniform Private Benjamin misfits making good Stripes anti war comedies MASH and fact based films The Men Who Stare at Goats A closing filmography is included in this richly detailed volume

Channeling Violence James T. Hamilton, 2021-04-13 If it bleeds it leads The phrase captures television news directors' famed preference for opening newscasts with the most violent stories they can find And what is true for news is often true for entertainment programming where violence is used as a product to attract both viewers and sponsors In this book James Hamilton presents the first major theoretical and empirical examination of the market for television violence

Hamilton approaches television violence in the same way that other economists approach the problem of pollution that is as an example of market failure He argues that television violence like pollution generates negative externalities defined as costs borne by others than those involved in the production activity Broadcasters seeking to attract viewers may not fully bear the costs to society of their violent programming if those costs include such factors as increased levels of aggression and crime in society Hamilton goes on to say that the comparison to pollution remains relevant when considering how to deal with the problem Approaches devised to control violent programming such as restricting it to certain times and rating programs according to the violence they contain have parallels in zoning and education policies designed to protect the environment Hamilton examines in detail the microstructure of incentives that operate at every level of television broadcasting from programming and advertising to viewer behavior so that remedies can be devised to reduce violent programming without restricting broadcasters right to compete
