Production Dynamics for Life Quality in the Incipient 21st Century Chau-kiu Cheung,2022-08-18 This book addresses the life quality of the average adult in the world based on international data weighted according to national population size It rests on the theoretical framework of analytic functionalism to explain statics and dynamics in the production of life quality The statics means the influences of personal and national factors on life quality whereas the dynamics mean the changes in the influences over time This approach elucidates life quality at the personal level rather than at the national level which overlooks what happens to the average person living in the world The approach involves a broad view of the production of life quality including experiences practices and appraisals of life This production also involves personal background characteristics and the national indicators of modernization globalization and environmental issues Knowledge about the production is helpful for policymakers researchers students and other people to upgrade life quality Such knowledge is valuable because it is up to date generalizable and sensible based on the analytic functionalist theoretical framework and statistical estimation Modelling Norms Corinna Elsenbroich,Nigel Gilbert,2013-07-05 The book focusses on questions of individual and collective action the emergence and dynamics of social norms and the feedback between individual behaviour and social phenomena It discusses traditional modelling approaches to social norms and shows the usefulness of agent based modelling for the study of these micro macro interactions Existing agent based models of social norms are discussed and it is shown that so far too much priority has been given to parsimonious models and questions of the emergence of norms with many aspects of social norms such as norm change not being modelled Juvenile delinquency group radicalisation and moral decision making are used as case studies for agent based models of collective action extending existing models by providing an embedding into social networks social influence via argumentation and a causal action theory of moral decision making The major contribution of the book is to highlight the multifaceted nature of the dynamics of social norms consisting not only of emergence and the importance of embedding of agent based models into existing theory Unraveling the Crime-Place Connection, Volume 22 David Weisburd,John E. Eck,2017-11-22 Unraveling the Crime Place Connection examines in a new light how places enhance our understanding of crime and its control While there has been much work in this area focused on policy few have examined the underlying theories that inform this work Theory has played a secondary role in the criminology of place and this volume brings it to the forefront of scholarly concerns Each part and its chapters illuminate cutting edge ideas in the etiology and control of crime at place beginning with an introductory Part I Crime is often concentrated in very small geographies and Part II emphasizes the importance of capturing the dynamic nature of places in order to understand crime clustering Part III offers integrative theories on the varying contextual arrangements of places and links theories of places to other theories of individuals neighborhoods and other social contexts In Part IV theorists ask how the actions of place owners facilitate or control crime and what policies governments can institute to regulate place management This volume will be of interest to criminologists worldwide and useful for graduate level or advanced undergraduate courses on environmental criminology or crime prevention
