Gillam, H. A. Sedgwick, 2007-01-04 How can we best describe the processes by which we visually perceive our environment Contemporary perceptual theory still lacks a coherent theoretical position that encompasses both the limitations on the information that can be retained from a single eye fixation and the abundant phenomenal and behavioral evidence for the perception of an extended and coherent world As a result many leading theorists and researchers in visual perception are turning with new or renewed interest to the work of Julian Hochberg For over 50 years in his own experimental research in his detailed consideration of examples drawn from a wide range of visual experiences and activities and most of all in his brilliant and sophisticated theoretical analyses Hochberg has persistently engaged with the myriad problems inherent in working out the kind of coherent theoretical position the field currently lacks The complexity of his thought and the wide range of areas into which Hochberg has pursued the solution to this central problem have however limited both the accessibility of his work and the appreciation of his accomplishment In this volume we seek to bring the full range of Hochberg's work to the attention of a wider audience by offering a selection of his key works many taken from out of print or relatively inaccessible sources To facilitate the understanding of his accomplishment and of what his work has to offer to contemporary researchers and theorists in visual perception we include commentaries on salient aspects of his work by 20 noted researchers In the Mind's Eye will be of interest to researchers working on topics such as perceptual organization visual attention space perception motion perception visual cognition the relationship between perception and action picture perception and film who are striving to obtain a deeper understanding of their own fields and who want to integrate this understanding into a broader unified view of visual perceptual processing A Guide to \(Short\) Documentary Filmmaking

David Landau, 2014-07-10 A how to book on the art craft and practice of lighting for film video for students and filmmakers Beginning film studies Andrew Dix, 2016-05-01 Beginning film studies offers the ideal introduction to this vibrant subject Written accessibly and with verve it ranges across the key topics and manifold approaches to film studies Andrew Dix has thoroughly updated the first edition and this new volume includes new case studies overviews of recent developments in the discipline and up to the minute suggestions for further reading The book begins by considering some of film's formal features: mise en scène, editing, and sound, before moving outwards to narrative, genre, authorship, stardom, and ideology. Later chapters on film industries and on film consumption, where and how we watch movies, assess the discipline's recent geographical turn. The book references many film cultures, including Hollywood, Bollywood, and contemporary Hong Kong. Case studies cover such topics as sound in The Great Gatsby and narrative in Inception. The superhero movie is studied, so too is Jennifer Lawrence. Beginning film studies is also interactive with readers enabled throughout to reflect critically upon the field. Teen Guide to Getting Started in the Arts

Carol Ritzenthaler, 2001-11-30 Teens interested in preparing for a career in the arts will find this introductory resource invaluable as it is the first book to guide them long before they apply to college or seek a position in their field. Whether they would like to become actors or filmmakers, artists, architects, dancers, musicians, or singers, photographers, or writers, this book will show them how to do so. For each of the arts, an overview of the career training and a discussion of related careers is provided, along with lists of books, web sites, and organizations for further information. Sections directed to parents and teachers of the teens with advice on how to support and encourage teens in their careers are also included. Teens wanting to gain an edge in their craft by practicing and preparing early will find a wealth of information. Advice from experts in each field provides an inside look on what skills are necessary for the twenty-first century. Suggestions for building discipline are provided, such as keeping a writing or sketching journal and finding the proper trainers in music, dance, and acting. Contests and other opportunities that teens can submit work to or apply for auditions are provided, along with an extensive list of books, trade journals, web sites, and professional and non-professional organizations. Using the resources in this book will ensure teens are experienced and well prepared in their art form when they apply to college or other professional training and seek positions in their field. Introduction to Cinematography Tania Hoser, 2024-08-27

Introduction to Cinematography offers a practical, stage-by-stage guide to learning, combining and using the creative and technical aspects of cinematography. Building from a skills-based approach focused on professional practice, cinematographer and award-winning author Tania Hoser provides a step-by-step introduction for both cinematographers and camera assistants to the techniques, processes, and procedures of working with cameras, lenses, and light. Building on the success of the first book, this second edition adds all new chapters on virtual production and extended reality, as well as a significant increase in low-budget examples and case studies to accommodate every reader. Richly illustrated, the book incorporates exercises and sample scripts throughout, exploring light, color, movement, and the language of the lens. The principles and techniques of shaping and controlling light are applied to working with natural light and film lamps, and as with all areas of cinematography, show both high-end and low-budget options. This makes the second edition of Introduction to Cinematography the most up-to-date and essential resource for anyone aiming to acquire the full range of cinematography skills, allowing seamless progression from exercises through to full feature shoots. Assessment rubrics also provide a framework to measure progress as the reader's ability to visually interpret scripts and enhance the director's vision develops

Reading in the Dark John Golden, 2001 To believe that students are not using reading and analytical skills when they watch or read a movie is to miss the power and complexities of film and of students' viewing processes. This book encourages teachers to harness students' interest in film to help them engage critically with a range of media including visual and printed texts. Toward this end, the book provides a practical guide to enabling teachers to feel comfortable and confident about using film in new and different ways. It addresses film as a compelling medium in itself by using examples from more than 30 films to explain key terminology and cinematic effects. And it then makes direct links between film and literary study by addressing reading strategies e.g. predicting, responding, questioning and storyboarding and key aspects of textual analysis e.g. characterization, point of view, irony and connections between directorial and authorial choices. The book concludes with classroom-tested suggestions for putting it all together in teaching units on 11 films ranging from Elizabeth to Crooklyn to Smoke Signals. Some other films examined are E.T., Life Is Beautiful, Rocky, The Lion King and Frankenstein. Contains 35 figures. Appendixes include a glossary of film terms, blank activity charts and an annotated resource list. NKA
