Showing Status Representation Of Social Positions In The Late Middle Ages:

Showing Status Wim Blockmans, A. Janse, 1999 This publication brings together multi disciplinary perspectives on representations of social difference in the Low Countries during a time of dynamic social change Symbolic Communication in Late Medieval Towns Jacoba van Leeuwen, 2006 Mediaevalia Lovaniensia 37 In the context of late medieval state centralization the political autonomy of the towns of the Low Countries Northern France and the Swiss confederation was threatened by central governments Within this conflict both rulers and towns employed symbolic means of communication to legitimate their power The authors of Symbolic Communication in Late Medieval Towns explore how new layers of meaning were attached to well known traditions and how these new rituals were perceived They study the public encounters between rulers and towns as well as among various social groups within the towns Heraldry, Pageantry and Social Display in Medieval England Peter R. Coss, Maurice Keen, 2003 Discussion of display through a range of artefacts and in a variety of contexts family and lineage social distinction and aspiration ceremony and social bonding and the expression of power and authority Medieval culture was intensely visual Although this has long been recognised by art historians and by enthusiasts for particular media there has been little attempt to study social display as a subject in its own right And yet display takes us directly into the values aspirations and indeed anxieties of past societies In this illustrated volume a group of experts address a series of interrelated themes around the issue of display and do so in a way which avoids jargon and overly technical language Among the themes are family and lineage social distinction and aspiration ceremony and social bonding and the expression of power and authority The media include monumental effigies brasses stained glass rolls of arms manuscripts jewels plate seals and coins Contributors MAURICE KEEN DAVID CROUCH PETER COSS CAROLINE SHENTON ADRIAN AILES FR D RIQUE LACHAUD MARIAN CAMPBELL BRIAN and MOIRA GITTOS NIGEL SAUL FIONN PILBROW CAROLINE BARRON and JOHN WATTS The Seven Deadly Sins Richard Newhauser, 2007 These essays examine the seven deadly sins as cultural constructions in the Middle Ages and beyond focusing on the way concepts of the sins are used in medieval communities the institution of the Church and by secular artists and authors Production and Consumption in the Low Countries, 13th-16th Centuries Raymond van Uytven, 2024-10-28 The subject of this volume is the relationship between production and consumption considered not only as the supply and demand sides of economic life but within the broader context of the societies of the Low Countries between the 12th and the 16th centuries Amongst the topics covered are the reality of the so called late medieval depression comparisons between the great merchant cities of Bruges and Antwerp and the actual importance of the trade in art and luxury goods One group of articles then looks in detail at the cloth industry which remained the mainstay of the region's wealth and the effects upon it of changes in technology and in fashion while the volume concludes with two studies specially translated from Dutch on wine and beer consumption The Right to Dress Giorgio Riello, Ulinka Rublack, 2019-01-17 This is the first global history of dress regulation and its place in broader debates around how human life and societies should be visualised and materialised. Sumptuary laws were a tool on the part of states to regulate not only manufacturing systems and moral economies via the medium of expenditure and consumption of clothing but also banquets, festivities and funerals. Leading scholars on Asian, Latin American, Ottoman and European history shed new light on how and why items of dress became key aspirational goods across society, how they were lobbied for and marketed, and whether or not sumptuary laws were implemented by cities, states and empires to restrict or channel trade and consumption. Their findings reveal the significance of sumptuary laws in medieval and early modern societies as a site of contestation between individuals and states and how dress as an expression of identity developed as a modern human right.

Networks, Regions and Nations Robert Stein, Judith Pollmann, 2010. This volume offers a fascinating insight into the continuities and discontinuities in the formation of identities in the Low Countries and its neighbouring countries. It is an important contribution to the ongoing debates about national and other identities.

Cultural Exchange in Early Modern Europe Robert Muchembled, William Monter, 2006. This volume surveys the crucial role of cities in shaping cultural exchange in early modern Europe.

Sight and Spirituality in Early Netherlandish Painting Bret L. Rothstein, 2005-06-08. Publisher Description: City and Society in the Low Countries, 1100-1600 Bruno Blondé, Marc Boone, Anne-Laure Van Bruaene, 2018-10-04. A comprehensive dissection of the making of urban society in the Low Countries during the middle ages and the sixteenth century.

Living by the Sword Kristen Brooke Neuschel, 2020-11-15. Sharpen your knowledge of swords with Kristen B Neuschel as she takes you through a captivating 1 000 years of French and English history. Living by the Sword reveals that warrior culture with the sword as its ultimate symbol was deeply rooted in ritual long before the introduction of gunpowder weapons transformed the battlefield. Neuschel argues that objects have agency and that decoding their meaning involves seeing them in motion, bought, sold, exchanged, refurbished, written about, displayed and used in ceremony. Drawing on evidence about swords from wills, inventories, records of armories and treasuries in the possession of nobles and royalty, she explores the meanings people attached to them from the contexts in which they appeared. These environments included other prestige goods such as tapestries, jewels and tableware, all used to construct and display status. Living by the Sword draws on an exciting diversity of sources from archaeology, military and social history, literature and material culture studies to inspire students and educated lay readers, including collectors and reenactors, to stretch the boundaries of what they know as the war and culture genre.

Court and civic society in the Burgundian Low Countries c.1420-1530 Andrew Brown, Graeme Small, 2014-01-01. This volume is the first ever attempt to unite and translate some of the key texts which informed Johan Huizinga's famous study of the Burgundian court, The Waning of the Middle Ages, a work which has never gone out of print. It combines these texts with sources that Huizinga did not consider, those that illuminate the wider civic world that the Burgundian court inhabited and the dynamic interaction between court and city. Through these sources and an introduction offering new perspectives on recent historiography the book tests whether Huizinga's controversial vision of the period still stands. Covering subjects including ceremonial events such as the spectacles and gargantuan banquets that made the Burgundian dukes the talk of Europe, the workings of the court and jousting, archery and rhetoric competitions, the book will appeal to students of late medieval and early modern Europe and to those with wider interests in court culture, ritual and ceremony.

Empowering Interactions Wim Blockmans, Daniel Schläppi, 2017-03-02 The emergence of the state in Europe is a topic that has engaged historians since the establishment of the discipline of history. Yet the primary focus of has nearly always been to take a top down approach whereby the formation and consolidation of public institutions is viewed as the outcome of activities by princes and other social elites. Yet as the essays in this collection show, such an approach does not provide a complete picture. By investigating the importance of local and individual initiatives that contributed to state building from the late middle ages through to the nineteenth century, this volume shows how popular pressure could influence those in power to develop new institutional structures. By not privileging the role of warfare and of elite coercion for state building, it is possible to question the traditional top down model and explore the degree to which central agencies might have been more important for state representation than for state practice. The studies included in this collection treat many parts of Europe and deal with different phases in the period between the late middle ages and the nineteenth century. Beginning with a critical review of state historiography, the introduction then sets out the concept of empowering interactions, which is then explored in the subsequent case studies and a number of historiographical, methodological and theoretical essays. Taken as a whole, this collection provides a fascinating platform to reconsider the relationships between top down and bottom up processes in the history of the European state.

Urban Women Jelle Haemers, Andrea Bardin, Chantelle Delameillieure, 2025-04-30 The Middle Ages, a time often cast as a dark period when violence reigned and men dominated society. Women, as the deeply rooted cliché would have it, played scarcely any part. But this book tells a different story, one in which women step forward as the main characters. In the southern Low Countries, townswomen held substantial rights which they used to conduct business, voice their opinions and assert their will. Urban Women presents a different and lesser known image of the late Middle Ages, from 1250 to 1550. The authors trace the lives of women protesting, marrying, making love, working and engaging in the daily life of Low Countries towns. In doing so, this book gives voice to wealthy businesswomen, laborers, religious women, criminals and sex workers, spotlighting the remarkable figures who shaped a women's town within a man's world.

The Invisible Hand? Bas van Bavel, 2016-06-24 The Invisible Hand offers a radical departure from the conventional wisdom of economists and economic historians by showing that factor markets and the economies dominated by them, the market economies, are not modern but have existed at various times in the past. They rise, stagnate and decline and consist of very different combinations of institutions embedded in very different societies. These market economies create flexibility and high mobility in the exchange of land, labour and capital and initially they generate economic growth, although they also build on existing social structures as well as existing exchange and allocation systems The dynamism that results from the rise of factor markets leads to the rise of new market elites who accumulate land and capital and use wage labour extensively to make their wealth profitable In the long term this creates social polarization and a decline of average welfare As these new elites gradually translate their economic wealth into political leverage it also creates institutional sclerosis and finally makes these markets stagnate or decline again This process is analysed across the three major pre industrial examples of successful market economies in western Eurasia Iraq in the early Middle Ages Italy in the high Middle Ages and the Low Countries in the late Middle Ages and the early modern period and then parallels drawn to England and the United States in the modern period These areas successively saw a rapid rise of factor markets and the associated dynamism followed by stagnation which enables an in depth investigation of the causes and results of this process

Work, Labour, and Professions in the Roman World ,2016-10-11 The economic success of the Roman Empire was unparalleled in the West until the early modern period While favourable natural conditions capital accumulation technology and political stability all contributed to this economic performance ultimately depended on the ability to mobilize train and co ordinate human work efforts In Work Labour and Professions in the Roman World the authors discuss new insights ideas and interpretations on the role of labour and human resources in the Roman economy They study the various ways in which work was mobilised and organised and how these processes were regulated Work as a production factor however is not the exclusive focus of this volume Throughout the chapters the contributors also provide an analysis of work as a social and cultural phenomenon in Ancient Rome

Humanistica Lovaniensia Gilbert Tournoy,2003 Volume 52

Staging History ,2021-02-08 Staging History unites essays by nine specialists in the field of late medieval and early Renaissance drama Their focus is on English Dutch and Humanist German drama as well as on a modern Swiss adaptation of Shakespeare s Henry V Featuring prominently in this book are plays by among others John Bale Jacob Schoepper Johannes Agricola and Jacob Duym Special attention is also paid to the Croxton Play of the Sacrament and the Dutch abele spelen So far this topic has not received wide attention within the world of medieval and early Renaissance studies This exploration aims at arousing more interest in this field by scholars working on European drama from the late Middle Ages and the early Renaissance

Intercultural Explorations and the Court of Henry VIII Nadia T. van Pelt,2023-11-20 Seldom has a royal court invited such intensive study as that of Henry VIII or become so prominent in popular culture Nonetheless Intercultural Explorations and the Court of Henry VIII is committed to offering a fresh perspective on Tudor court culture by using continental sources to contextualize nuance and challenge long held perspectives that have been formed through the use of well studied Anglophone sources Using a wide variety of textual sources from ambassadorial correspondence account books household tiquettes legal records royal warrants and marital contracts to play texts and travel accounts this study presents original research in history literature and cultural history The case studies in Intercultural Explorations and the Court of Henry VIII address specific questions that challenge what we know or think we know about Tudor court culture For example was it good taste to bring a jester to a royal deathbed Was John Blanke really the first black musician to perform at the Tudor court or did he follow the footsteps of another celebrated performer of African descent When Charles V came to meet Henry VIII did he eat from his own plate And why did courtiers express themselves negatively about Anne of Cleves s appearance By addressing such specific questions Intercultural Explorations and the Court of Henry VIII will show that however quintessentially English Henry VIII s court it was essentially a place of cultural and intercultural encounters that is best understood when studied in dialogue across languages geographical barriers and scholarly disciplines Municipal Officials, Their Public, and the Negotiation of Justice in Medieval Languedoc Patricia Turning, 2012-09-28 In this work Turning explores the role of the urban public in shaping local jurisdiction as the region of Languedoc became a part of the Capetian kingdom in the 13th and 14th centuries
