Venus in the Afternoon Tehila Lieberman, 2012 Winner of the Katherine Anne Porter Prize in Short Fiction 2012 The short stories in this rich debut collection embody in their complexity Alice Munro's description of the short story as a world seen in a quick glancing light In chiseled and elegant prose Lieberman conjures wildly disparate worlds A middle aged window washer mourning his wife and an estranged daughter begins to grow attached to a young woman he sees through the glass a writer against his better judgment pursues a new relationship with a femme fatale who years ago broke his heart and the daughter of a Holocaust survivor struggles with the delicate decision of whether to finally ask her aging mother how it was that she survived It is all here the exigencies of love of lust the raw unlit terrain of grief Whether plumbing the darker depths or casting a humorous eye on a doomed relationship these stories never force a choice between tragedy and redemption but rather invite us into the private moments and crucibles of lives as hungry and flawed as our own Mythic Imagination Today Terry Marks-Tarlow, 2021-01-18 Mythic Imagination Today is an illustrated guide to the interpenetration of mythology and science throughout the ages This monograph brings alive our collective need for story to guide the rules roles and relationships of everyday life Whereas mythology is born primarily of perception and imagination science emerges from systematic observation and experimentation Both disciplines arise from endless curiosity about the workings of the Universe combined with creative urges to transform inner and outer worlds Both disciplines are located within open neural wiring that gives rise to uniquely human capacities for learning memory and metaphor Terry Marks Tarlow explores the origins of story within the social brain mythmakers and myths from multiple cultures and how contemporary sciences of chaos and complexity theories and fractal geometry dovetail with ancient wisdom The ancient Greek myth of Psyche and Eros is unpacked in detail origins of the very concepts of psyche and psychology Sideshow U.S.A. Rachel Adams, 2001-12 A staple of American popular culture during the 19th and early 20th centuries the freak show seemed to vanish after World War II This book reveals the image of the freak show with its combination of the grotesque horrific and amusing specimens

Rawdon Wilson,2002-05 Imagine a disgusting experience Now think about your response What was it about the moment that made you turn your head that led your lip to curl and nose to wrinkle Disgust has many triggers some obvious others less so What disgusts us is never irrevocably fixed and certain It changes from culture to culture and even at times within a culture This fluidity makes the term disgust at once deadly simple and extremely complex In The Hydra s Tale Robert Rawdon Wilson treats the experience of disgust not from the perspective of the disgusting object in the world but from its representation Disgust marks either a slip over the border of the socially sanctioned or a struggle to keep someone or something from crossing that border Working through the spectrum of human response culture and art Wilson teases out the assumptions that underpin the disgust response Wilson's Historical, traditional, and imaginative tales of the Borders John Mackay Wilson,1834

Baby: the mother's magazine (ed. by A.S. Ballin). Ada S. Ballin,1888 Wilson's Historical, Traditional, and Imaginative Tales of the Borders, and of Scotland John Mackay Wilson,1835 Wilson's Historical, Traditional, and Imaginative Tales of the Borders, and of Scotland: with an illustrative glossary, by Captain Thomas Brown. [With a portrait.] John Mackay WILSON,1835 New York Magazine ,1997-09-08 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Fairy Tales, Natural History and Victorian Culture Laurence Talairach-Vielmas,2015-12-04 Fairy Tales Natural History and Victorian Culture examines how literary fairy tales were informed by natural historical knowledge in the Victorian period as well as how popular science books used fairies to explain natural history at a time when nature became a much debated word Descriptive List[s] of Novels and Tales William Maccrillis Griswold,1890 Descriptive List[s] of Novels and Tales William McCrillis Griswold,1891 Level 5: Tales of Mystery and Imagination Edgar A Poe,2008 The Betrothed, a Tale of the Crusaders Walter Scott,1880 A Gal

Named Jo DeeDee Hall, 2010-01-25 My Legacy A couple of weeks before my mother's death she called me aside and said I want you to be the executor of my estate Your older brother Eric is too busy I want you to do it I felt very unworthy and unqualified for the task but I agreed to do whatever she wanted My other brother Mike who had been living with her received the hardest task sorting through all kinds of keepsakes and papers You see my mother just as her grandmother before her could never bear to throw anything away especially something that might be used in a scrapbook someday I believe my mother saved every scrap of correspondence and memorabilia of her entire life Under my mother's bed my brother found a huge stack of letters letters written between her and my father during World War Two Our parents had never spoken of these letters and what a surprise they were And what a volume of pages over 2 190 When I began to read some of the letters I was amazed at their depth their lovely descriptions and their well written thoughts about life art and each other These two people were transformed from being just my parents to captivating characters who could have stepped out of a Norman Rockwell painting They were young and idealistic with a sometimes naive outlook on life My father was a dreamer a romantic and a devoted lover And they both had good character a trait sadly missing these days These letters became a great treasure find for I felt like a part of my parents had been given back to me and I discovered a part of them I had never known I was given a new respect for who they really were Every time I would tell someone about the letters they would exclaim Wow that sounds just like a novel You should write a book One day I found in one of my dad's letters a bit of conformation He wrote I got out all of your letters yesterday and put them in order They make quite a sizable stack I could do a book on a gal named Jo from them It would make a good yarn too I wonder why you haven't thought of your own life of the last few years as the basis of a story This legacy of letters a rare thing in this modern day of e mail and text messaging has played much upon my mind I being the executor of my mother's estate feel that a part of them should be shared by friends and family I am not the writer my parents were the writers I am just an unskilled seamstress trying to thread a portion of their words together to make a readable story I tell the story through the voice of my mother A brief summary In 1944 my dad married for just a year was stationed in Lakeland Florida before being deployed overseas My mother had gone there to be with him and it was there that they met a very talented couple of artists the Chancys Mrs Chancy was also a well known writer of children's books at that time Because my mother and father were artists the Chancys took a liking to them and made them an incredible offer They invited my mother to come after my dad was deployed to their farmhouse in Connecticut and stay with them for the summer They hoped to give my mother some valuable lessons in art and planned to help her enroll in one of the prestigious art schools of New York City that fall Mother had been looking forward to being at home with her family in Tennessee but she couldn't pass up such a marvelous opportunity so one month later on June 6th she found herself on a train heading north to live with a family she hardly knew On the farm she faced many new challenges while my dad was dealing with his own set of problems across the seas I invite you to step into that world of 1944 and visit those summer days
