Our Job Is To Make Life Worth Living 1949 195:

Our Job is to Make Life Worth Living, 1949-1950 George Orwell, Ian Angus, Sheila Davison, 1998 The final paperback volume Volume 20 of The Complete Works of George Orwell From the Trade Paperback edition Orwell and Marxism Philip Bounds, 2009-03-16 Whether as a fighter in the Spanish Civil War an advocate of patriotic Socialism or a left wing opponent of the Soviet Union George Orwell was the ultimate outsider in politics insecure scornful of orthodoxies cussedly independent Best known today as the author of Animal Farm and Nineteen Eighty Four Orwell also wrote seven other full length books and a vast number of essays articles and reviews A pioneering cultural critic he addressed a range of important issues including art literature Englishness mass communication and the spectre of totalitarianism Famously describing his own background as lower upper middle class Orwell had a complex relationship with Marxism and all his work reflects the influence of British communism In this thoughtful and original study Philip Bounds argues that Orwell s writings effectively took the form of a dialogue with the leading British Marxists of his day Bounds shows that Orwell often agreed with the Marxists and built on their insights in his writings while on other occasions he used his disagreements with them as the basis of his own critical position Through close analysis of Orwell s writings as well as his historical and literary context Bounds has produced an important study of one of the iconic writers of the 20th century Orwell and Marxism offers a thorough introduction to Orwell the intellectual reviving his reputation as a serious cultural thinker and documenting his most important influences as well as a convincing portrait of British Marxism and society in the 1930s and 40s Dystopia Gregory Claeys, 2016-11-24 Dystopia A Natural History is the first monograph devoted to the concept of dystopia Taking the term to encompass both a literary tradition of satirical works mostly on totalitarianism as well as real despotisms and societies in a state of disastrous collapse this volume redefines the central concepts and the chronology of the genre and offers a paradigm shifting understanding of the subject Part One assesses the theory and prehistory of dystopia By contrast to utopia conceived as promoting an ideal of friendship defined as enhanced sociability dystopia is defined by estrangement fear and the proliferation of enemy categories A natural history of dystopia thus concentrates upon the centrality of the passion or emotion of fear and hatred in modern despotisms The work of Le Bon Freud and others is used to show how dystopian groups use such emotions Utopia and dystopia are portrayed not as opposites but as extremes on a spectrum of sociability defined by a heightened form of group identity The prehistory of the process whereby enemies are demonised is explored from early conceptions of monstrosity through Christian conceptions of the devil and witchcraft and the persecution of heresy Part Two surveys the major dystopian moments in twentieth century despotisms focussing in particular upon Nazi Germany Stalinism the Chinese Cultural Revolution and Cambodia under Pol Pot The concentration here is upon the political religion hypothesis as a key explanation for the chief excesses of communism in particular Part Three examines literary dystopias It commences well before the usual starting point in the secondary literature in anti Jacobin writings of the 1790s

Two chapters address the main twentieth century texts usually studied as representative of the genre Aldous Huxley's Brave New World and George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty Four. The remainder of the section examines the evolution of the genre in the second half of the twentieth century down to the present.

The Complete Works of George Orwell: Our job is to make life worth living, 1949-1950 George Orwell, 1998

The Scriptures of Charles Dickens Vincent Newey, 2016-12-05

This study focuses on Dickens's response to questions of identity, conduct and social organization that emerged in an era of major cultural unsettlement and change, not least with the decline of religious certainty and the rise of materialism. An analysis of A Christmas Carol as a paradigm of his concerns and strategies in these fields is followed by close readings of novels from different stages of his career: Oliver Twist, David Copperfield, Great Expectations and Our Mutual Friend. These and other works by Dickens are seen to reflect ideologies currently at work in his society but also more importantly to participate in the construction of needful value systems and codes for regulating behaviour. Liberal humanism and middle class hegemony feature largely in this process of culture formation where Dickens played a crucial role in formulating and promulgating such salient guiding principles as those of sympathy, marriage and the family, economic responsibility and hierarchy within and between groups. His treatment of the self is on one level driven by this project in shaping and stabilizing attitudes among a confederacy of readers in that it offers positive models of development of how to function and fit in, yet on another especially in his sustained imaginative preoccupation with the figure of the outsider or misfit, this is one pre-eminent area where his writing transcends purposes of enculturation and paradoxically challenges its own ideological positions. His female characters in particular as well as more obviously his anti-heroes, criminals and other dissidents are shown to question and subvert the moulds in which they are formally cast. The novels are confirmed not only as great creative achievements, an aspect this book consistently salutes, nor simply as a primary site of the evolving Victorian dispensation and revolution of ideas but as a territory that predicts, engages and illuminates our own complex modernity. Reference is made throughout the volume to other contemporary writings including sociological, philosophic and medical discourse to recent cognate theory and to traditions like that of Puritan spiritual autobiography which Dickens adapted to new ends.

The Metaphysical Vision Ulrich Pothast, 2008

The Metaphysical Vision Arthur Schopenhauer's Philosophy of Art and Life and Samuel Beckett's Own Way to Make Use of It expands upon the ideas and theories set forth in the author's Die eigentlich metaphysische Tätigkeit Schopenhauers: Sthetik und ihre Anwendung durch Samuel Beckett published in German in 1982 and hailed by Catharina Wulf in her book The Imperative of Narration 1997 as an excellent study and the most thorough enquiry into Beckett and Schopenhauer. In the last years of the twentieth century new documents regarding Samuel Beckett's reading and thinking, especially important notebooks and letters, have become accessible to scholars. These documents show much more clearly than could ever be demonstrated previously that Beckett had a strong lifelong interest in Schopenhauer's philosophy. There is no other philosopher to whom Beckett refers more often in his personal comments throughout the years of his writing up to his seventies no other philosopher whose view of life and the world comes closer to the image of human existence we find in Samuel Beckett's literary work. The striking similarity in matters of world view and human life and especially the evidence obtained from Beckett's previously unknown notebooks and letters call for a close systematic study of the Beckett-Schopenhauer relationship. Due to its comprehensiveness and in-depth approach The Metaphysical Vision is and will be for many years to come what its forerunner was for more than two decades: the most thorough enquiry into Beckett and Schopenhauer.

If the Walls Could Speak Anna Müller, 2018. If the Walls Could Speak focuses on the lives of women in prison in postwar communist Poland and how they took on different roles and personalities to protect themselves and create a semblance of normality despite abuses and prison confinement and reveals how life in a Stalinist prison adds to our understanding of coercion and resistance under totalitarian regimes.
