Raphael's Stanza della Segnatura Christiane L. Joost-Gaugier, 2002-05-06 Raphael's Stanza della Segnatura in the Vatican Palace has often been considered the artist's most aesthetically perfect work. Executed between 1508 and 1511, it features a painted ceiling, a pavement of inlaid marble, and four frescoed walls all orchestrated with a cast of famous historical figures who exemplify the various disciplines of learning. Joost-Gaugier's study is the first to examine the elements of the Stanza della Segnatura as an ensemble exploring the meaning of the frescoes and accompanying decoration in light of recent studies into the intellectual world of High Renaissance Rome. Tracing the Visual Language of Raphael's Circle to 1527 Alexis R. Culotta, 2020-06-22 In Tracing the Visual Language of Raphael's Circle to 1527, Alexis Culotta examines how the Renaissance master's style, one infused with borrowed visual quotations from other artists both past and present, proved influential in his relationship with associate Baldassare Peruzzi and in the development of the artists within his thriving workshop. Shedding new light on the important yet often overshadowed figures within this network, this book calls upon key case studies to convincingly illustrate how this visual language and its recombination evolved during Raphael's Roman career and subsequently served as a springboard for artistic innovation for these close associates as they collaborated in the years following Raphael's death. Architectural Invention in Renaissance Rome Yvonne Elet, 2018-01-11 Villa Madama, Raphael's late masterwork of architecture, landscape, and decoration for the Medici popes, is a paradigm of the Renaissance villa. The creation of this important unfinished complex provides a remarkable case study for the nature of architectural invention. Drawing on little-known poetry describing the villa while it was on the drawing board, as well as ground plans, letters, and antiquities once installed there, Yvonne Elet reveals the design process to have been a dynamic collaborative effort involving humanists as well as architects. She explores design as a self-reflexive process and the dialectic of text and architectural form, illuminating the relation of word and image in Renaissance architectural practice. Her revisionist account of architectural design as a process engaging different systems of knowledge, visual and verbal, has important implications for the relation of architecture and language, meaning in architecture, and the translation of idea into form. Raphael and the Redefinition of Art in Renaissance Italy Robert Williams, 2017-04-03 A comprehensive re-assessment of Raphael's artistic achievement and the ways in which it transformed the idea of what art is. "The Spectacle of Clouds, 1439?650" Alessandra Buccheri, 2017-07-05 The studies in which history of art and theatre are considered together are few and none to date investigate the evolution of the representation of clouds from the early Renaissance to the Baroque period. This book reconsiders the origin of Italian Renaissance and Baroque cloud compositions while including the theatrical tradition as one of their most important sources. By examining visual sources such as paintings, frescos, and stage designs together with letters, guild ledgers, descriptions of performances, and relevant treatises, a new methodology to approach the development of this early modern visuality is offered. The result is an historical reconstruction where multiple factors are seen as facets of a single process which led to the development of Italy's visual culture. The book also offers new insights into Leonardo da Vinci's theatrical works, Raphael's Disputa, Vasari's Lives, and Pietro da Cortona's fresco paintings The Spectacle of Clouds (1439-1650), examining the different ways Heaven has been conceived, imagined, and represented from the fifteenth to the seventeenth century, crossing over into the fields of history, religion, and philosophy.

The Writings of James Barry and the Genre of History Painting, 1775-1809 Dr Liam Lenihan, 2014-01-10

Examining the literary career of the eighteenth-century Irish painter James Barry (1741-1806) through an interdisciplinary methodology, The Writings of James Barry and the Genre of History Painting, 1775-1809 is the first full-length study of the artist's writings. Liam Lenihan critically assesses the artist's own aesthetic philosophy about painting and printmaking and reveals the extent to which Barry wrestles with the significant stylistic transformations of the pre-eminent artistic genre of his age, history painting. Lenihan's book delves into the connections between Barry's writings and art and the cultural and political issues that dominated the public sphere in London during the American and French Revolutions.

Liam Lenihan critically assesses the artist's own aesthetic philosophy about painting and printmaking and reveals the extent to which Barry wrestles with the significant stylistic transformations of the pre-eminent artistic genre of his age, history painting. Lenihan's book delves into the connections between Barry's writings and art and the cultural and political issues that dominated the public sphere in London during the American and French Revolutions. Barry's writings are read within the context of the political and aesthetic thought of his distinguished friends and contemporaries such as Edmund Burke, his first patron Joshua Reynolds, his sometime friend and rival Mary Wollstonecraft, and William Godwin, with whom he was later friends and his students and adversaries William Blake and Henry Fuseli. Ultimately, Lenihan's interdisciplinary reading shows the extent to which Barry's faith in the classical tradition in general and the genre of history painting in particular is permeated by the hermeneutics of suspicion. This study explores and contextualizes Barry's attempt to rethink and remake the preeminent art form of his era.

Renaissance Theories of Vision Charles H. Carman, 2016-12-05

How are processes of vision, perception, and sensation conceived in the Renaissance? How are those conceptions made manifest in the arts? The essays in this volume address these and similar questions to establish important theoretical and philosophical bases for artistic production in the Renaissance and beyond. The essays also attend to the views of historically significant writers from the ancient classical period to the eighteenth century, including Plato, Aristotle, Plotinus, St. Augustine, Ibn Sina, Avicenna, Ibn al-Haytham, Alhazen, Ibn Sahl, Marsilio Ficino, Nicholas of Cusa, Leon Battista Alberti, Gian Paolo Lomazzo, Gregorio Comanini, John Davies, René Descartes, Samuel van Hoogstraten, and George Berkeley. Contributors carefully scrutinize and illustrate the effect of changing and evolving ideas of intellectual and physical vision on artistic practice in Florence Rome Venice England Austria and the Netherlands The artists whose work and practices are discussed include Fra Angelico Donatello Leonardo da Vinci Filippino Lippi Giovanni Bellini Raphael Parmigianino Titian Bronzino Johannes Gump and Rembrandt van Rijn Taken together the essays provide the reader with a fresh perspective on the intellectual confluence between art science philosophy and literature across Renaissance Europe

Gardens and Academies in Early Modern Italy and Beyond Denis Ribouillault,2024-10-21 This collection of essays explores the role of gardens in early modern academies and conversely the place of what might be called academic culture in early modern gardens While studies of botanical gardens have often focused on their association with a research institution the intention of this book is deliberately broader seeking to explore the interconnections between the built environment of the early modern garden and the more or less organised social and intellectual life it supported As such the book contributes to the intersection of several fields of research garden history literary history architectural history and socio political history and considers the garden as a site of performance that requires an intermedial approach

Construction as Depicted in Western Art Michael Tutton,2021-01-30 The Art of Building has captured the interest of artists from the Roman period to today The process of construction appears in western art in all its details trades and operations Michael Tutton investigates the representation of building processes and materials through an examination of paintings illuminated manuscripts

watercolours prints drawings and sculpture Technical terms are explained and detailed interpretations of each work are provided with insights into the artists inspiration and themes Even paintings not wholly or principally devoted to construction sites may give tantalising glimpses of building activity How do these images convey meaning How much is imagined how much is authentic Fully referenced endnotes bibliography and glossary complement the text and captions informing not only the architectural and construction historian but also those simply interested in art Rhetorical Realism Scot

Barnett,2016-11-10 Rhetorical Realism responds to the surging interest in nonhumans across the humanities by exploring how realist commitments have historically accompanied understandings of rhetoric from antiquity to the present For a discipline that often defines itself according to human speech and writing the nonhuman turn poses a number of challenges and opportunities for rhetoric To date many of the responses to the nonhuman turn in rhetoric have sought to address rhetoric s compatibility with new conceptions of materiality In Rhetorical Realism Scot Barnett extends this work by transforming it into a new historiographic methodology attuned to the presence and occlusion of things in rhetorical history Through investigations of rhetoric s place in Aristotelian metaphysics the language invention movement of the seventeenth century and postmodern conceptions of rhetoric as an epistemic art Barnett s study expands the scope of rhetorical inquiry by showing how realist ideas have worked to frame rhetoric s scope and meanings during key moments in its history Ultimately Barnett argues that all versions of rhetoric depend upon some realist assumptions about the world Rather than conceive of the nonhuman as a dramatic turning point in rhetorical theory Rhetorical Realism encourages rhetorical theorists to turn another eye toward what rhetoricians have always done defining and configuring rhetoric within a broader ontology of things The Cave and the Light Arthur Herman,2014-06-03

The definitive sequel to New York Times bestseller How the Scots Invented the Modern World is a magisterial account of how the two greatest thinkers of the ancient world Plato and Aristotle laid the foundations of Western culture and how their rivalry shaped the essential features of our culture down to the present day Plato came from a wealthy connected Athenian family and lived a comfortable upper class lifestyle until he met an odd little man named Socrates who showed him a new world of ideas and ideals Socrates taught Plato that a man must use reason to attain wisdom and that the life of a lover of wisdom a philosopher was the pinnacle of achievement Plato dedicated himself to living that ideal and went on to create a school his famed Academy to teach others the path to enlightenment through contemplation However the same Academy that spread Plato s teachings also fostered his greatest rival Born to a family of Greek physicians Aristotle had learned early on the value of observation and hands on experience Rather than rely on pure contemplation he insisted that the truest path to knowledge is through empirical discovery and exploration of the world around us Aristotle Plato s most brilliant pupil thus settled on a philosophy very different from his instructor s and launched a rivalry with profound effects on Western culture The two men disagreed on the fundamental purpose of the philosophy For Plato the image of the cave summed up man s destined path emerging from the darkness of material existence to the light of a higher and more spiritual truth Aristotle thought otherwise Instead of rising above mundane reality he insisted the philosopher's job is to explain how the real world works and how we can find our place in it Aristotle set up a school in Athens to rival Plato's Academy the Lyceum The competition that ensued between the two schools and between Plato and Aristotle set the world on an intellectual adventure that lasted through the Middle Ages and Renaissance and that still continues today From Martin Luther who named Aristotle the third great enemy of true religion after the devil and the Pope to Karl Marx whose utopian views rival Plato's heroes and villains of history have been inspired and incensed by these two master philosophers but never outside their influence Accessible riveting and eloquently written The Cave and the Light provides a stunning new perspective on the Western world certain to open eyes and stir debate Praise for The Cave and the Light A sweeping intellectual history viewed through two ancient Greek lenses breezy and enthusiastic but resting on a sturdy rock of research Kirkus Reviews Examining mathematics politics theology and architecture the book demonstrates the continuing relevance of the ancient world Publishers Weekly A fabulous way to understand over two millennia of history all in one book Library Journal Entertaining and often illuminating The Wall Street Journal

Hernando Colon's New World of Books Jose Maria Perez Fernandez, Edward Wilson-Lee, 2021-01-26 The untold story of the greatest library of the Renaissance and its creator Hernando Colon This engaging book offers the first comprehensive account of the extraordinary projects of Hernando Colon son of Christopher Columbus which culminated in the creation of the greatest library of the Renaissance with ambitions to be universal that is to bring together copies of every book on every subject and in every language Perez Fernandez and Wilson Lee situate Hernando's projects within the rapidly changing landscape of early modern knowledge providing a concise history of the collection of information and the origins of public libraries examining the challenges he faced and the solutions he devised The two authors combine meticulous research with deep and original thought shedding light on the history of libraries and the organization of knowledge The result is an essential reference text for scholars of the early modern period and for anyone interested in the expansion and dissemination of information and knowledge

Measuring Heaven Christiane L. Joost-Gaugier, 2018-09-05 Surviving fragments of information about Pythagoras born ca 570 BCE gave rise to a growing set of legends about this famous sage and his followers whose reputations throughout Antiquity and the Middle Ages have never before been studied systematically This book is the first to examine the unified concepts of harmony proportion form and order that were attributed to Pythagoras in the millennium after his death and the important developments to which they led in art architecture mathematics astronomy music medicine morals religion law alchemy and the occult sciences In this profusely illustrated book Christiane L Joost Gaugier sets out the panorama of Pythagoras's influence and that of Christian and Jewish thinkers who followed his ideas in the Greek Roman early Christian and medieval worlds In illuminating this tradition of thought Joost Gaugier shows how the influence of Pythagoreanism was far broader than is usually realized and that it affected the development of ancient and medieval art and architecture from Greek and Roman temples to Gothic cathedrals Joost Gaugier demonstrates that Pythagoreanism centered on the dim memory of a single person that endured for centuries and grew ever greater inspired a new language for artists and architects enabling them to be modern Rome Marcia B.
