Shots In The Mirror:

Shots in the Mirror Nicole Hahn Rafter, 2006 Criminologist Nicole Rafter analyses the source of the appeal of crime films and their role in popular culture She argues that crime films both reflect and shape our ideas about fundamental social economic and political issues Laser Induced Damage in Optical Materials, 1981 ,1983 Movies and Methods Bill Nichols, 1976 VOLUME 2 Movies and Methods Volume II captures the developments that have given history and genre studies imaginative new models and indicates how feminist structuralist and psychoanalytic approaches to film have achieved fresh valuable insights In his thoughtful introduction Nichols provides a context for the paradoxes that confront film studies today He shows how shared methods and approaches continue to stimulate much of the best writing about film points to common problems most critics and theorists have tried to resolve and describes the internal contradictions that have restricted the usefulness of post structuralism Mini introductions place each essay in a larger context and suggest its linkages with other essays in the volume A great variety of approaches and methods characterize film writing today and the final part conveys their diversity from statistical style analysis to phenomenology and from gay criticisms to neoformalism This concluding part also shows how the rigorous use of a broad range of approaches has helped remove post structuralist criticism from its position of dominance through most of the seventies and early eighties Publisher description Laser Induced Damage in Optical Materials ,1994 Arthouse Crime Scenes Geoff King, 2024-11-14 Arthouse Crime Scenes is the first book to address the relationship between art cinema and crime contributing to the study of both categories Case studies are provided of works by celebrated filmmakers including Lucretia Martell Kleber Mendonça Filho Bong Joon Ho Nuri Bilge Ceylan Hirokazu Koreeda Jia Zhangke Andrey Zvyagintsev and Lee Chang-dong How is crime represented in art cinema And how can this be understood in the context of global sociopolitical and film industrial trends Arthouse crime scenes draw on variable combinations of elements associated with art cinema and crime genres Crime might be shown or lurk only at the edges It might be left unresolved or unexplained Crime can be petty and small scale or raise big questions associated with the arthouse sector political issues the nature of humanity truth and knowability In this book close textual analysis is combined with focus on social and industrial contexts A recurring theme is the situation of arthouse crime films within differing manifestations of broader processes of late modern neoliberal globalization and cultural hybridity Approaches examined range from the oblique to social realism and other mixtures of crime and arthouse tendencies Laser Induced Damage in Optical Materials, 1985 ,1988 Nicole Rafter Chase Burton, 2021-10-28 This book is a critical summary and exegesis of the work of Nicole Rafter who was a leading scholar of the history of biological theories of crime causation as well as a profound theorist of the role of history within criminology It introduces Rafter's key works and assesses her contributions to the fields of feminist criminology cultural criminology visual criminology and historical criminology It also explores her theorization of criminology's identity scientific status and possible futures While many books on criminological theory explain and historically contextualize theory they do not interrogate the production of theory or the epistemological assumptions behind it Drawing on the world of Nicole Rafter this book offers an accessible handbook to her extensive historical studies and to how her work demonstrated the importance of historical theory to criminological knowledge Furthermore the author brings Rafter s historical research to life and shows how it speaks to contemporary issues in criminology and punishment Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminological theory intellectual history sociology comparative criminology and feminist criminology Laser Induced Damage in Optical Materials, 1980 ,1981 The Crow Bridget Baiss,2024-06-04 Long anticipated remake of The Crow to hit theaters Fall 2024 from director Rupert Sanders starring Bill Skarsgård You won t find a more comprehensive step by step account a cult classic that continues to fascinate A fitting and emotional tribute to the movie and its late star Brandon Lee Sean O Connell author of Release the Snyder Cut This behind the scenes retrospective proves a haunting read as Baiss skillfully escorts the reader through tragedy despair hope and modern Hollywood resurrection John Kenneth Muir author of Horror Films FAQ creator of Enter the House Between In the thirty years since its release The Crow has become the ultimate cult movie with a dedicated worldwide following three sequels and a persistent fascination owing to the tragedy that came to define its legacy in which star Brandon Lee was killed in a strange on set accident during the last days of filming In this fully revised and updated edition author Bridget Baiss tells the full story of The Crow from the initial adaptation of James O Barr s graphic novel through its production and Lee s death to its triumphant release enduring appeal and impact on on set firearms safety Drawing on unprecedented access to the film s cast and crew including new interviews and research conducted since the release of the original edition this is a fascinating and revealing look at the troubled making of a modern classic Laser Induced Damage in Optical material: 1985 , Laser Induced Damage In Optical Materials: 1981 Harold E. 12th edition The Techniques of Lighting for TV and Film and TV Scenic Design Handbook Narrative Instability Stefan Schubert, 2019-11-15 This book introduces the concept of narrative instability in order to make visible a new trend in contemporary US popular culture to analyze this trend's poetics and to scrutinize its textual politics. It identifies those texts as narratively unstable that consciously frustrate and obfuscate the process of narrative understanding and comprehension, challenging their audiences to reconstruct what happened in a text's plot, who its characters are, which of its diegetic worlds are real, or how narrative information is communicated in the first place. Despite, or rather exactly because of their confusing and destabilizing tendencies, such texts have attained mainstream commercial popularity in recent years across a variety of media, most prominently in films, video games, and television series. Focusing on three clusters of instability that form around identities, realities, and textualities, the book argues that narratively unstable texts encourage their audiences to engage with the narrative constructedness of their universes that narratively unstable texts encourage their audiences to engage with the narrative constructedness of their universes that narrative instability embodies a new facet of popular culture that it takes place and can only be understood transmedially, and that its textual politics particularly speak to white, male, middle-class Americans.
