Silent Voices The Southern Negro Woman Today:

Silent Voices Josephine Carson, 1971 Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality Karen-Marie Yust, Aostre N. Johnson, Sandy Eisenberg Sasso, Eugene C. Roehlkepartain, 2005-12-27 Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality Perspectives from the World's Religious Traditions provides a forum for prominent religious scholars to examine the state of religious knowledge and theological reflection on spiritual development in childhood and adolescence. Featuring essays from thinkers representing the world's major religious traditions, the book introduces new voices, challenges assumptions, raises new questions, and broadens the base of knowledge and investment in this important domain of life. It specifically and intentionally focuses on theological and philosophical perspectives from within religious traditions, creating space for the religious traditions to find their voices. Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality is firmly grounded in the language and priorities of religious studies and helps stimulate explorations of whether and how religious communities are tapping their own wisdom and strengths in nurturing today's young people in a complex and changing world. Nurturing Child and Adolescent Spirituality will set the stage for new waves of scholarship and dialogue within and across traditions, disciplines, and cultures that will enrich understanding and strengthen how the world's religious traditions and others understand and cultivate the spiritual lives of children and adolescents around the globe. The Practice of Social Intervention: Goals, Roles & Strategies Frank M. Loewenberg, Ralph Dolgoff, 1972 Women, Their Social and Economic Status, Selected References, December 1970 United States. Department of Labor, 1971 Black Foremothers Dorothy Sterling, 1988 Three heroic women whose stories in the words of Margaret Walker every woman, man, and child should know: Ellen Craft, the daring runaway Georgia slave who used her freedom to serve the cause of abolition; Ida B. Wells, the firebrand journalist whose crusade against lynching awakened the consciousness of a nation; and Mary Church Terrell, a gifted and untiring leader in the movement for suffrage, civil rights, and world peace. Through painstaking research, Sterling not only produces a fascinating account of three outstanding leaders; she also documents the role hitherto faceless, nameless millions of African American women have played in shaping our culture and history. Reflecting and connecting the historical struggle of the years 1826 through 1954, Black Foremothers will captivate and inspire readers young and old. Focus on Minorities Fort Bragg (N.C.). Lillian Smith wrote in 1962 for women to risk the great and daring creative act of discovering and articulating their own identity. Three years later, Southern women of a younger generation, fortified by the skills and self-respect earned in the black civil rights movement, issued the first manifesto of a new feminism. Their words landed with explosive force, setting off cultural reverberations which have shaken the lives of men and women alike A little more than a decade after that this issue of Southern Exposure began to take form Its creation has taken us back into history and deep into the meaning of our own lives As we set out to understand the situation of Southern women we found ourselves in search of our mothers gardens We found ourselves naming an experience we share across the generations So many of the stories that I write Alice Walker discovered are my mother s stories To speak in our own voices we had first to give expression to a promise song that has been there all along
