

A sepia-toned photograph of a fishing boat's deck. A large, light-colored fishing net is being hoisted by a crane, creating a large, billowing shape in the center of the frame. The net is supported by a complex system of ropes and pulleys. To the left, a dark, rectangular structure, possibly a part of the boat's superstructure or a piece of equipment, is visible. The deck is cluttered with various items, including what looks like a small table or platform. The overall scene suggests a busy day of fishing operations.
