The Bohol We Love Marjorie Evasco, 2017-11-22 These essays are not about Chocolate Hills and the tarsiers and the fancy beach clubs and other tourist magnets in Bohol. They are about seemingly mundane things that define a place and bind its people together: childhood games, songs, religious rituals, cultural practices, superstitions, and myths, magical creatures. Here you will read about triumphs that united people in pride, disasters that drew them even closer, larger than life heroes and everyday heroes, changes that tested their mettle and inspired new ways of seeing, as well as values that have endured. Cracks in the pavements that mirrored cracks in relationships. Braiding storytelling with fictional devices, the writers merge reportage with self-reflection, weave patterns out of chaos and happenstances and create a tapestry of memories that restores the past, turning the Bohol they love into the Bohol we love, as well.

Not that it bothers her much. Myla's always been a solo fighter. Then comes the problem of the fading angels. Millions of Heavenly residents are dying. According to a prophecy, the only way Myla can save them is by traveling back in time, meeting King Arthur and creating her own knights of the round table. The catch: Doing so might end the after-realms in a bloody demonpocalypse. Yipes, Myla and her main squeeze Lincoln aren't afraid of taking a few chances in between kisses. But this time the stakes may be too high even for them. And the biggest challenge of all: Finding those knights. Because Myla Lewis doesn't play well with others. At all.
