Estrellita dónde estás,
me pregunto qué serás,
en el cielo y en el mar,
un diamante de verdad.

Estrellita dónde estás,

Cuando el sol se ha ido ya,
cuando nada brilla más,
tu nos muestras tu brillar,
brillas, brillas sin parar.

Estrellita dónde estás,

Looking For Estrillita:

Brian Castro's Fiction , Transcultural Writers and Novels in the Age of Global Mobility Arianna Dagnino, 2015-06-30

In Transcultural Writers and Novels in the Age of Global Mobility Arianna Dagnino analyzes a new type of literature emerging from artists increased movement and cultural flows spawned by globalization. This transcultural literature is produced by authors who write across cultural and national boundaries and who transcend in their lives and creative production the borders of a single culture. Dagnino's book contains a creative rendition of interviews conducted with five internationally renowned writers: Inez Baranay, Brian Castro, Alberto Manguel, Tim Parks, and Ilija Trojanow, and a critical exegesis reflecting on thematic, critical, and stylistic aspects. By studying the selected authors' corpus of work, life experiences, and cultural orientations, Dagnino explores the implicit, often subconscious process of cultural and imaginative metamorphosis that leads transcultural writers and their fictionalized characters beyond ethnic, national, racial, or religious loci of identity and identity formation. Drawing on the theoretical framework of comparative cultural studies, she offers insight into transcultural writing related to belonging, hybridity, cultural errancy, the Other, worldviews, translanguaging, deterritorialization, neomadism, as well as genre, thematic patterns, and narrative techniques. Dagnino also outlines the implications of transcultural writing within the wider context of world literature and identifies some of the main traits that characterize transcultural novels.

Global Fragments Anke Bartels, Dirk Wiemann, 2007. While the world seems to be getting ever smaller and globalization has become the ubiquitous buzz word, regionalism and fragmentation also abound. This might be due to the fact that far from being the alleged production of cultural homogeneity, the global is constantly redefined and altered through the local. This tension pervading much of contemporary culture has an obvious special relevance for the new varieties of English and the literature published in English. Worldwide Postcolonial literatures exist at the interface of English as a hegemonic medium and its many national, regional, and local competitors that transform it in the new English literatures. Thus any exploration of a globalization of cultures has to take into account the fact that culture is a complex field characterized by hybridization, plurality, and difference. But while global or transnational cultures may allow for a new cosmopolitanism that produces ever-changing fluid identities, they do not give rise to an egalitarian global village; an asymmetry between centre and periphery remains largely intact, albeit along new parameters. The essays collected in this volume offer readings of literary, theoretical, and filmic texts from the postcolonial world. These texts are read as attempts to articulate the global with the local from a perspective of immersion in the actual diversity of life worlds, focusing on such issues as consumption, identity, politics, and modes of affiliation. In this sense, they are global fragments, locally refracted figurations of an experience of worldwide interconnectedness.

Drift Brian Castro, 2011-05. Brian Castro's fifth novel is perhaps his most complex and certainly his most political. Like all his work, it is productively playful, punningly irreverent, and deeply concerned with sex and death, fact and fiction, but also more seriously with the redemptive possibilities of art and the existential power of the novel all in the context of Australia's contested history from the Introduction by Katharine England

Roberto Bolaño, 2019-02-05 From a master of contemporary fiction a tale of bohemian youth on the make in Mexico City Two young poets Jan and Remo find themselves adrift in Mexico City Obsessed with poetry and above all with science fiction they are eager to forge a life in the literary world or sacrifice themselves to it Roberto Bolaño's The Spirit of Science Fiction is a story of youth hungry for revolution notoriety and sexual adventure as they work to construct a reality out of the fragments of their dreams But as close as these friends are the city tugs them in opposite directions Jan withdraws from the world shutting himself in their shared rooftop apartment where he feverishly composes fan letters to the stars of science fiction and dreams of cosmonauts and Nazis Meanwhile Remo runs headfirst into the future spending his days and nights with a circle of wild young writers seeking pleasure in the city's labyrinthine streets rundown cafés and murky bathhouses This kaleidoscopic work of strange and tender beauty is a fitting introduction for readers uninitiated into the thrills of Roberto Bolaño's fiction and an indispensable addition to an ecstatic and transgressive body of work Eagles of Destiny Jory Sherman, Against the Grain Lyn Jacobs, 2001 This is the first comprehensive critical study of Beverley Farmer's poetry prose and criticism in UQP's long running Studies in Australian Literature series Jacobs studies Farmer's work in relation to the dynamic changes in writing and reception that have occurred during Farmer's writing life New York Magazine, 1994-02-21 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Silver Spring Ivy Kaminsky, 2013-11-19 Estefan is the man every man wants to be and every woman dreams of handsome successful and charming But then he falls in love and the trouble begins The Politics and Aesthetics of Refusal Caroline Hamilton, Michelle Kelly, Elaine Minor, 2009-03-26 The Politics and Aesthetics of Refusal is an eclectic collection of essays from emerging academics who engage with the notion of refusal both as the embodiment of a resistance to conventional boundaries between academic disciplines and as a concept with an underlying negative or reactive force that can be widely interpreted and applied The applications of refusal outlined in this volume ranging from activism and the politics of cultural production through to problems of identity and knowledge classification raise questions about often elided relationships of agency and complicity in routine experience The sense of refusal that emerges from this book is perhaps most easily classified by what it is not namely a prescriptive conclusive or unified account of what it is to reject react or work against any particular instance of theory or practice in any given domain The value of a thematically oriented collection like this is its ability to work across disciplines media and philosophical frameworks rather than limiting its focus to a narrow territory According to Herbert Marcuse refusal must not only be the guiding principle for all artistic creation it must also be a manifestation of artistic creation itself With this volume we have attempted to compose a collection which is not only theoretically guided by refusal but practically informed by it as well The collection in itself constitutes we hope a constructive rejection of the usual constrictions of discipline and approach placed upon new scholars This rich collection of essays on the political aesthetic and ethical dimensions of that form of social action called refusal is an important contribution to our
