Looking Through Images Emmanuel Alloa, 2021-10-05 Images have always stirred ambivalent reactions Yet whether eliciting fascinated gazes or iconoclastic repulsion from their beholders they have hardly ever been seen as true sources of knowledge They were long viewed as mere appearances placeholders for the things themselves or deceptive illusions Today the traditional critique of the spectacle has given way to an unconditional embrace of the visual However we still lack a persuasive theoretical account of how images work Emmanuel Alloa retraces the history of Western attitudes toward the visual to propose a major rethinking of images as irreplaceable agents of our everyday engagement with the world He examines how ideas of images and their powers have been constructed in Western humanities art theory and philosophy developing a novel genealogy of both visual studies and the concept of the medium Alloa reconstructs the earliest Western media theory Aristotle's concept of the diaphanous milieu of vision and the significance of its subsequent erasure in the history of science Ultimately he argues for a historically informed phenomenology of images and visual media that explains why images are not simply referential depictions windows onto the world Instead images constantly reactivate the power of appearing As media of visualization they allow things to appear that could not be visible except in and through these very material devices position teachers to become more active partners in each other's professional growth so that they can navigate the obstacles in their professional landscape with renewed focus and a greater sense of individual and collective efficacy. It equips teachers and by extension their students to chart their own course and author their own equitable and joyful mathematical and professional stories. New York Supreme Court Appellate Division-Second Department, State of New York Supreme Court Appellate Division Fourth Department, *New York Court of Appeals.
