Granqvist, 2017-04-01 This book is the first to question both why and how the colonialist mythologies represented by the work of photographer Eliot Elisofon persist It documents and discusses a heterogeneous practice of American coloniality of power as it explores Elisofon's career as war photographer correspondent and staff photographer for LIFE filmmaker author artist and collector of primitive art and sculpture It focuses on three areas Elisofon's narcissism voyeurism and sexism his involvement in the homogenizing of Western social orders and colonial legacies and his enthused mission of sending home a mass of still life photographs annexed African artifacts and assumed vintage knowledge The book does not challenge his artistic merit or his fascinating personality what it does question is his production and imagining of difference As the text travels from World War II to colonialism postcolonialism and the Cold War from Casablanca to Leopoldville Kinshasa it proves to be a necessarily strenuous and provocative trip      Majority State Ownership of Oil and Mining Sectors in Africa John James Quinn, 2024-09-30 Majority State Ownership of Oil and Mining Sectors in Africa The Resource Curse Undermined shows that countries in sub Saharan Africa with majority state ownership of their major oil or mineral export sectors suffered from more severe versions of the natural resource curse than other similar countries Examining natural resource exporting nations in sub Saharan Africa between 1966 to 2000 Quinn shows that on average states with majority state ownership of these sectors featured lower growth lower incomes declining alternative export sectors more debt lower levels of investment lower levels of political and civil rights and more domestic conflict than other similar countries These results remained fairly consistent across both cross country data as well as in paired case studies One surprise finding is that these countries either had depreciating currencies or did not feature high levels of currency appreciation on average which is inconsistent with resource curse literature predictions Rather most countries with majority state ownership had high levels of currency overvaluation which operated in a similar manner as currency appreciation This work should appeal to students and faculty interested in the political economy of development the natural resource curse and African development as well as politicians policy makers and NGO workers working in these areas The strong recommendation of the book is that governments should control 50% or less of these sectors The Business Year: Nigeria 2020 Peter Howson, Research for this publication began in the wake of elections that saw the re election of President Muhammadu Buhari who was sworn in on May 2019 The result brought an end to a period of political uncertainty and added new vigor to Africa s largest economy Nevertheless despite this new found stability Nigeria is still struggling to overcome the impact of years of recession not to mention the challenges of the low oil price environment and the effects of COVID 19 mitigation measures This 188 page publication covers finance gas and power oil and exploration industry IT and telecoms transport construction real estate agriculture health entertainment and tourism

On the move Aitor Ibarrola-Armendariz, Jon Ortiz de Urbina Arruabarrena, 2016-07-29 This volume brings together a selection of the papers and round tables delivered at the 39th AEDEAN Conference held at the University of Deusto in November 2015 The essays in On the Move Glancing Backwards to Build a Future in English Studies often begin with typically academic gestures such as retrieving a classic text and finding new ways of studying its genre or characterization or remarking how certain ungrammatical constructions have gone frequently unnoticed even in well known texts for various reasons or entangling oneself in contentions about the adequacy of dissecting a literary text or linguistic problem by using innovative analytical tools In all cases though there is the intention of putting forth certain views and notions that will help future scholars to deal in a better light with the dilemmas regularly encountered in literary linguistic and cultural studies The book opens with three essays by professors Bartholomae Pullum and R o who demonstrate not only their mastery in their respective subjects but also their ability to tailor their contents to multifarious audiences The next two sections represent the main body of the e book with nearly forty contributions on both literature and cultural studies Part II and language and linguistics Part III These short academic pieces are a representative showcase of the research being done lately in the different areas of expertise The last section of the volume gathers together the results of four research projects dealing with such engaging topics as postcolonial crime fiction or forgotten texts by Anglo writers about the Spanish Civil War It is hard to think of any potential reader schooled in English Studies who will not find something suitable to their interests and tastes in this volume

Nigerian Immigrants in the United States Ezekiel Umo Ette, 2011-10-24 Nigerian Immigrants in the United States Race Identity and Acculturation by Ezekiel Ette attempts to generate an interest in the study of African immigrants by looking at issues of settlement and adjustment of Nigerians in the United States. Ette's work seeks to contribute to the understanding of international law and civil wars.

International Law and Civil Wars Eliav Liebllich, 2013-03-05 This book examines the international law of forcible intervention in civil wars in particular the role of party consent in affecting the legality of such intervention. In modern international law it is a near consensus that no state can use force against another the main exceptions being self defence and actions mandated by a UN Security Council resolution. However one more potential exception exists forcible intervention undertaken upon the invitation or consent of a government seeking assistance in confronting armed opposition groups within its territory. Although the latter exception is of increasing importance the numerous questions it raises have received scant attention in the current body of literature. This volume fills this gap by analyzing the consent exception in a wide context and attempting to delineate its limits including cases in which government consent power is not only negated but might be transferred to opposition groups. The book also discusses the concept of consensual intervention in contemporary international law in juxtaposition to traditional legal doctrines. It traces the development of law in this context by drawing from historical examples such as the Spanish Civil War as well as recent cases such as those of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Somalia, Libya and Syria. This book will be of much interest to students of international law, civil wars, the Responsibility to Protect, war and conflict studies and IR in general.

Leadership Failure and Nigeria's Fading Hopes Femi Okurounmu, 2010-04-06 Leadership Failure and Nigeria's Fading Hopes is a heart-rending lamentation by a patriotic Nigerian elder statesman Femi Okurounmu on how his country through unbridled corruption and the selfishness of successive leaders has dashed the hopes of not just Nigerians but the entire black race and reinforced the prejudices of racists who raise doubts concerning the intellectual capacity of black people. The book consists of excerpts from a critical but constructive weekly column Patriotic Punches which the author wrote between 2004 and 2009 in the Nigerian Tribune newspaper. It chronicles incidents of corruption in government, laments the corruption of the entire society and all its institutions and decries the enthronement of money as the national deity such that its acquisition becomes the surest route to national recognition no matter how it is acquired. It bemoans the fact that this conscienceless pursuit of money has eroded all of society's values, fostered a culture of corruption and criminality and led to the hijack of governance by a wealthy cabal among them many criminals who have provided a climate of impunity for the most horrendous levels of treasury looting by public officials necessitating repeated rigging of elections to install protective successor leaders. The author is particularly distressed that the traditional watchdogs of public morality and probity the judiciary the media religious leaders and institutions and traditional rulers have all become mortally infected by the corruption. It calls on the citizenry to take their future into their own hands by shaking off their political lethargy and docility abandoning their excessive and unreasonable fear of death and mobilizing to confront bad governance and to ensure the emergence of a government that will fulfil the nation's early promise and give some credibility to the black man's claim to equality with other races of mankind.
