Competition Law and Environmental Protection in Europe Hans Vedder, 2003 Article 6 of the EC Treaty requires an integration of environmental protection requirements into the European Community s policies As a result environmental concerns must also be integrated into Community competition law and policy Taking Article 6 EC as a starting point this book begins with the construction of a model of integration This model requires that environmental concerns are awarded a role that will ultimately result in the internalisation of environmental concerns and therefore lead to a mutually reinforcing relation between competition and environmental protection After an examination of Articles 81 82 86 and 87 of the EC Treaty the useful effect doctrine Article 10 in connection with 81 EC and the Merger Regulation as well as the application of these competition rules in cases that involve environmental protection concerns some conclusions are drawn with regard to the integration of environmental protection requirements and EC competition law These conclusions are followed by a comparative legal research in which their validity is tested On the basis of these findings it is concluded that the model of integration is being applied in parts of EC competition law In those areas competition policy towards environmental restrictions of competition actually increases the chances of a competition for the environment coming about This it is submitted is an important step in the direction of achieving sustainable development About the author Hans Vedder 1974 graduated from the University of Groningen in 1997 From 1998 to 2001 he worked as a researcher at the Centre for Environmental Law of the University of Amsterdam Since 2001 he is lecturer in European law at the University of Groningen He has published several articles and chapters in books

Case for Discrimination, The , Services of General Economic Interest in EU Competition Law Lei Zhu, 2020-05-08 This book provides a comprehensive examination of the interaction between Services of General Economic Interest SGEI and EU competition law covering in particular Article 106 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union TFEU and state aid rules It also takes the telecommunications postal service and transport sectors as case studies taking into account the technological economic and political backgrounds to these sectors The area of SGEI has undergone fundamental developments over the past three decades and the most recent changes in the Lisbon Treaty recognizing SGEI as a shared value and granting explicit competence to the EU mark its constitutional significance The key issue is how to balance economic values underlying competitive markets and non economic public service values such as universal access to essential services The essence of the question is the relationship between the market and the state This controversial issue is addressed through a critical analysis of a number of landmark EU Court judgments and Commission decisions over the decades Offering a clear appreciation of the evolution of the EU regulatory framework on SGEI that lays out the limits and boundaries within which the Member States define organize and fund SGEI the book is particularly aimed at academics with a research interest in the interaction between public services and EU competition law but as it also demonstrates clearly how the application of EU competition law has transformed the public utilities sectors it will be of interest to law makers legal professionals and policy makers as well Dr Lei Zhu is a Research Associate at the Institute of International Law at Wuhan University in Wuhan China He studied at the Institute for Competition Procurement Studies of the Bangor University Law School in Wales United Kingdom where he obtained his PhD in law in 2015

Identifying Exclusionary Abuses by Dominant Undertakings under EU Competition Law Eirik Østerud, 2010-11-15 Under Article 102 TFEU dominant firms are allowed to compete but only to the extent their market behaviour does not constitute an abuse Needless to say the wording of the article neither explains what an abusive restriction of competition is nor how such a practice can be identified Rather than developing a one size fits all test applicable to all forms of market behaviour by dominant firms the European Court of Justice ECJ and the General Court ex Court of First Instance have set out a system of tests for separate categories of conduct Drawing on the full range of the EU Courts relevant case law this very useful book analyses the conditions that must be fulfilled for a broad range of business practices to be deemed abusive within the meaning of Article 102 TFEU and also identifies the criteria that must be fulfilled for a practice to be objectively justified The potentially abusive practices studied here as defined in the relevant case law include the following predatory pricing margin squeezing exclusivity agreements loyalty rebates refusals to supply to induce exclusivity secondary line price discrimination vexatious litigation acquisitions of intellectual property rights IPRs refusals to supply necessary inputs provision of storage equipment on the condition of exclusive use selective above cost price cuts tying technological integration and refusal to license IPRs The author also contrasts the Commission s decisional practice with the case law assesses approaches under U S antitrust law to similar forms of conduct and incorporates insights from economic theory This study greatly enhances our understanding of the distinction between abusive conduct and lawful competition In the course of its clarification of the EU Courts responses to individual forms of market behaviour an overall approach to the identification of exclusionary abuses under Article 102 TFEU begins to come into view Apart from the important new synthesis the work offers legal scholars there can be little doubt this book will prove a valuable asset and even an inspiration to competition lawyers European Union Law , Reader's Guide to the Social Sciences Jonathan Michie,2014-02-03 This 2 volume work includes approximately 1 200 entries in A Z order critically reviewing the literature on specific topics from abortion to world systems theory In addition nine major entries cover each of the major disciplines political economy management and business human geography politics sociology law psychology organizational behavior and the history and development of the social sciences in a broader sense The New York Supplement ,1899
