Mughal Painting:

Early Mughal Painting Milo Cleveland Beach, 1987 One of the minor miracles of art history is the extraordinary flowering of Indian painting that began in the mid sixteenth century under the early Mughal emperors of Indian notably Akbar the Great Only in recent decades has the consummate artistry of early Mughal painting come to be widely appreciated in the West Scholars have noted the innovations departures from both Islamic and native Indian tradition of the new highly distinctive school of painting among them natural history studies a concern for portraiture and the documentation of contemporary court events Milo Beach traces with an abundance of captivating illustrations the evolution of the Mughal style While acknowledging the influence of Akbar's interests and changing tastes related in turn to historical and biographical circumstances he shows that many of the new tendencies were evident during the short reign of Akbar's father the Emperor Humayun whose role as patron of the arts is thereby reassessed Beach also stresses the traditionalism of the individual painters who only gradually changed their concepts and compositions in response to foreign influences and to imperial taste Mughal art he affirms can no longer be regarded as simply a reflection of its imperial patrons The book takes account of recently discovered material and reproduces for the first time important paintings from unpublished manuscripts and albums It will appeal to the general reader as well as the scholar

Aesthetic Hybridity in Mughal Painting, 1526-1658 Valerie Gonzalez, 2016-03-03 The first specialized critical aesthetic study to be published on the concept of hybridity in early Mughal painting this book investigates the workings of the diverse creative forces that led to the formation of a unique Mughal pictorial language Mughal pictoriality distinguishes itself from the Persianate models through the rationalization of the picture's conceptual structure and other visual modes of expression involving the aesthetic concept of mimesis If the stylistic and iconographic results of this transformational process have been well identified and evidenced their hermeneutic interpretation greatly suffers from the neglect of a methodologically updated investigation of the images conceptual underpinning Valerie Gonzalez addresses this lacuna by exploring the operations of cross fertilization at the level of imagistic conceptualization resulting from the multifaceted encounter between the local legacy of Indo Persianate book art the freshly imported Persian models to Mughal India after 1555 and the influx of European art at the Mughal court in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries The author's close examination of the viscosity metaphysical order and aesthetic language of Mughal imagery and portraiture sheds new light on this particular aspect of its aesthetic hybridity which is usually approached monolithically as a historical phenomenon of cross cultural interaction That approach fails to consider specific parameters and features inherent to the artistic practice such as the differences between doxis and praxis conceptualization and realization intentionality and what lies beyond it By studying the distinct phases and principles of hybridization between the variegated pictorial sources at work in the Mughal creative process at the successive levels of the project intention the practice realization and the result product the author deciphers the modalities of appropriation and manipulation of the heterogeneous elements Her unique
