Multilateral Agencies Ngos:

Management of International Institutions and NGOs Eduardo Missoni, Daniele Alesani, 2013-12-17 International Institutions IIs International NGOs INGOs and Transnational Hybrid Organizations THOs play a hugely important role in the modern world economy Despite having been studied by scholars from a range of disciplines these organizations have never before been approached from a management perspective This ambitious book analyzes the management challenges associated with international cooperation and sheds light on how these organizations have evolved as the political economic and business environments have changed around them Covering an admirably broad canvas the authors pursue two main objectives Firstly they explore the main management frameworks developed in the context of the corporate and national public non profit organizations and adapt them to the specificity of IIs and INGOs This leads to the identification of a tailored approach to IO management based on their institutional and operational settings stakeholder groups core business staff profile and financial arrangements Secondly they bring theory into practice by linking frameworks to several case studies and best practices of organizations currently experimenting with management systems and tools with case studies including the World Bank and the Gates Foundation This comprehensive textbook is a must own resource for students and academics involved with studying and working with international organizations

Multilateral Agencies and Non-governmental Organisations Brian Pratt, Jamie Pratt, Adrian Stone, 1994-01 Since the mid 1980s there has been a marked growth in the collaboration by multilateral agencies MLAs with both Northern and Southern NGOs This paper considers the changing history of NGO MLA relations programming issues that affect the effectiveness of NGO MLA collaborations the impact of funding arrangements the policy and actual practice of the key MLAs towards NGOs in certain sectors and the opportunities and threats to NGOs in working with MLAs The paper concludes by giving an overall assessment of the relationship outlining issues of concern to both Northern and Southern NGOs and by pointing out possible future developments

Delegation and Agency in International Organizations Darren G. Hawkins, David A. Lake, Daniel L. Nielson, Michael J. Tierney, 2006-09-14 Why do states delegate certain tasks and responsibilities to international organizations rather than acting unilaterally or cooperating directly Furthermore to what extent do states continue to control IOs once authority has been delegated Examining a variety of different institutions including the World Trade Organization the United Nations and the European Commission this book explores the different methods that states employ to ensure their interests are being served and identifies the problems involved with monitoring and managing IOs The contributors suggest that it is not inherently more difficult to design effective delegation mechanisms at international level than at domestic level and drawing on principal agent theory help explain the variations that exist in the extent to which states are willing to delegate to IOs They argue that IOs are neither all evil nor all virtuous but are better understood as bureaucracies that can be controlled to varying degrees by their political masters

International Organizations Revisited Dennis Dijkzeul, Dirk Salomons, 2021-08-13 Despite the sustained scholarly attention that the United Nations and international NGOs have received in the twenty first century they still remain under researched from a management studies perspective This volume brings together rich analyses of these organizations functioning arguing that they are best understood as intermediaries between international decision making and funding bodies in the developed world and initiatives that take place on the ground primarily in the Global South Based on current management research this follow up to Rethinking International Organizations Berghahn 2002 provides a wealth of both empirical and theoretical insights along with practical recommendations how these organizations can function more effectively

Non-Governmental Organizations and the State in Latin America Anthony Bebbington,Graham Thiele,2023-06-16 This presents twenty specially commissioned case studies of farmer participatory approaches to agricultural innovation initiated by NGOs in Latin America Beginning with a broad review of institutional activity at the grassroots the authors set the case material within the context of NGO relations with the State and their contribution to democratisation and the consolidation of rural civil society Specific questions are raised how good bad are NGOs at promoting technological innovation and addressing constraints to change in present agriculture how effective are NGOs at strengthening grassroots organizations and how do will donor pressures influence NGOs and their links to the State This title is part of a series on Non Governmental Organizations co ordinated by the Overseas Development Institute To complete this comprehensive review and critique there are two other regional case study volumes on Asia and Africa and an overview volume Reluctant Partners
