Multinational Investment In Developing Countries A Study Of Taxation And Nationalization:

Multinational Investment in Developing Countries Thomas Andersson, 2002-09-11 This book explores the struggle for gains from direct investment between multinationals and developing countries It discusses which policies work best in influencing the behaviour of MNEs and how developing countries compete with one another for multinational investment It argues that the tax regimes of different countries rarely deter investors but that nationalisation acts as a powerful disincentive It also concludes that governments should not be expected to sacrifice the environment to attract multinationals

Privatization and Foreign Investments in Nigeria Lawrence Okechukwu Azubuike, 2009 Nigeria's political economy has straddled the ideological divide between socialism and capitalism The country produces oil and at some point in its existence it embarked on robust state involvement in the economy This was marked by the acquisition or establishment of numerous state enterprises Over the years the performance of these enterprises was found to be dismal and as part of the overall reform of the economy Nigeria has joined the global trend toward reduction in direct state ownership of enterprises Indeed it has embarked on massive divestment of state interests in once publicly owned firms Besides the universal rationale of efficiency one of the objectives of the privatization exercise in Nigeria is the attraction and retention of foreign investments This work examines the direct and indirect linkage between the government's divestiture of its interests in firms on the one hand and foreign investments in the country on the other hand The book is divided into seven chapters Chapter 1 reviews the political and economic history of Nigeria to set the background and context that necessitated the introduction of the reform package of which privatization is just an aspect Chapter 2 is a discussion of various natures of state involvement in an economy This ranges from mere regulation to active participation The chapter discusses the competing conceptual and ideological theories and tries to situate the Nigerian experience within the broader conceptual dichotomies of capitalism socialism and the via media of mixed economy Chapter 3 is an examination of the meaning and rationales for privatization of state owned enterprises generally and the Nigerian attempts in particular Nigeria's privatization program is an ongoing exercise Yet two distinct attempts are identifiable one which started in 1988 and the reinvigoration of the exercise albeit with new constitutive frameworks in 1999 Thus Chapters 4 and 5 review the legal and institutional frameworks for these two exercises Chapter 6 deals with foreign investments in Nigeria The discussion encapsulates the pros and cons of foreign investments especially in Nigeria Chapter 7 explores the direct and indirect linkages between the privatization program in Nigeria and foreign investments in the country This is particularly apposite because one of the touted objectives of the privatization exercise is the attraction of foreign investments A conclusion follows The work finds that although foreign investments appear to have been indirectly boosted by the privatization exercise foreign investors initially did not show interest in direct acquisition of the shares and other interests being relinquished by the government but that that attitude has been changing gradually

Foreign Direct Investment as a Tool for Poverty Reduction in Developing Countries Ronald K.S. Wakyereza,2019-10-15 The textbook experience of poverty can be witnessed in a number of developing countries in Sub Saharan Africa South East Asia and Latin America Accordingly Foreign Direct Investment FDI has been identified as an important tool for poverty reduction as it is noted to accelerate economic growth and employment in a nation and is currently an essential issue for countries such as Uganda This book finds that Ragnar s 1953 Vicious Circle of Poverty remains undisputed even today showing that attracting FDI is not the end but that a nation s absorption capacity is equally paramount The implications of the FDI frog leap theory for developing countries and the Community Capital Absorption Capacity Development CCACD framework provide plausible poverty reduction approaches in the 21st century Without such measures bringing an end to poverty is likely to elude governments and multinational corporations in developing countries

Arbitration and Renegotiation of International Investment Agreements: A Study with Particular Reference to Means of Conflict Avoidance Under Natural Resources Investment Agreements Wolfgang Peter, Jean-Quentin de Kuyper, Bénédicte Candolle, 1995-06-08 This book is a second revised edition of the original 1986 publication Since then the issue of contract change has increasingly challenged the business community and legal practitioners The world wide recession may well have accelerated the need to secure contractual relationships by reasonable flexibility Successful foreign investment a relentless challenge is subject to many unpredictable errors Of all these variables however successful investment is most dependent on the investor host country relationship which is the object of the present study In particular the pressure by host countries for contract change and its counterpart the investor s defence of contract stability The book is essentially a reference handbook for legal practitioners It analyzes a variety of increasingly important questions concerning international investment agreements that come under pressure for change by one of the contracting parties either a transnational corporation or a host country government The seven case studies and the analytical chapters which follow are based on the author s research and the assistance of corporate and government officials experts from the United Nations and other organizations and members of academic research institutes
