Tavis, 2009 In this timely book Lee Tavis and Timothy Tavis contend that the values dimension of the actions of multinational firms is becoming increasingly important given the worldwide integration of economies and peoples The digital revolution has broadened the reach of globalization and created an informed society that demands higher standards of behavior from the business enterprise at the same time multinational corporations have gained power often comparable to that of the nation state and global society is in need of widely accepted enduring social and ethical standards Tavis and Tavis argue that multinational firms must embrace an ethically pro active stance in their own long term interests A strategy of supporting universal human rights often in partnership with NGOs offers the greatest potential for success Values Based Multinational Management provides an agenda for practical action with special reference to the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the United Nations Global Compact It informs and addresses the values concerns of multinational business managers It presents its examples and analyses in a clear and concise manner and will be of use both to practitioners in the business community and students and scholars of business ethics Values Based Multinational

International Business Alan M. Rugman, 2003 This handbook synthesises some literature of the last 40 years in 28 chapters The coverage is split into the following areas the history and theory of the multinational enterprise the political and policy environment of international business Uranium Enrichment and Nuclear Weapon Proliferation Allan S. Krass, Peter Boskma, Boelie Elzen, Wim A. Smit, Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 2020-11-20 Originally published in 1983 this book presents both the technical and political information necessary to evaluate the emerging threat to world security posed by recent advances in uranium enrichment technology Uranium enrichment has played a relatively quiet but important role in the history of efforts by a number of nations to acquire nuclear weapons and by a number of others to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons For many years the uranium enrichment industry was dominated by a single method gaseous diffusion which was technically complex extremely capital intensive and highly inefficient in its use of energy As long as this remained true only the richest and most technically advanced nations could afford to pursue the enrichment route to weapon acquisition But during the 1970s this situation changed dramatically Several new and far more accessible enrichment techniques were developed stimulated largely by the anticipation of a rapidly growing demand for enrichment services by the world wide nuclear power industry This proliferation of new techniques coupled with the subsequent contraction of the commercial market for enriched uranium has created a situation in which uranium enrichment technology might well become the most important contributor to further nuclear weapon proliferation Some of the issues addressed in this book are A technical analysis of the most important enrichment techniques in a form that is relevant to analysis of proliferation risks A detailed projection of the world demand for uranium enrichment services A summary and critique of present institutional non proliferation arrangements in the world enrichment industry and An identification of the states most likely to pursue the enrichment route to acquisition of nuclear weapons International Business Peter Buckley, 2017-10-23 This book was published in 2003 Over the years the challenges of international business in organisation and culture have been one of the most intriguing issues facing managers Attempts at organisational innovation have tried to strike a balance between local markets responsiveness and global efficiency This book presents an overview of changing attitudes to the globalization of the firm and traces the increasing sophistication of management techniques necessary to cope with the increasing complexity of business world wide It contains readings on the management of international business from 1936 to 1998 Looking at managing abroad and the internationalism of firms including issues of appraising foreign investment opportunities the foreign investment decision process and the evolution of the multinational enterprise The operations and planning of the multinational firm are surveyed over time from early models of Headquarters and Subsidiary to global strategies The key issues of international strategic alliances and joint ventures are also examined concluding with approaches to forward looking international management European Industrial Restructuring in the 1990s Karen Cool, Damien J. Neven, Ingo Walter, 2016-07-27 The restructuring of most European industries may have taken an irreversible turn However is this a turn in the right direction Is European industry becoming more competitive This book evaluates what has been accomplished to date and what the key remaining policy and managerial tasks are for the 1990s International Business Mohammad Reza Vaghefi, Steven K.
