Municipal Wastewater Treatment In Central And Eastern Europe Present Situation And Cost Effective Development:

Municipal Wastewater Treatment in Central and Eastern Europe László Somlyódy, Peter Shanahan, Environmental Action Programme for Central and Eastern Europe, 1998 On cover A report for the Environmental Action Programme for Central Eastern Europe About water supply sewerage Water Management and Investment in the New Independent States OECD, 2001-07-30 This volume analyses the causes underlying the dire state of water infrastructure in the NIS and presents recommendations for addressing it which were adopted at a meeting of Economic Finance and Environment Ministers held in Almaty Kazakhstan in October 2000 Wastewater use in agriculture: Review of impacts and methodological issues in valuing impacts Intizar Hussain, Liqa Raschid, Munir A. Hanjra, Fuard Marikar, Wim van der Hoek, 2002 The objective of this paper is to provide a review of the characteristics of wastewater used for irrigation and the reasoning behind the international guidelines presently used in regulating wastewater reuse for agriculture This paper presents various systems of wastewater treatment available and discusses their benefits and shortcomings A selective review of recent empirical studies identifies major impacts both positive and negative impacts of wastewater irrigation Finally the paper provides the review of environmental valuation techniques for analyzing impacts of wastewater uses in agriculture and suggest a framework for application of some of these techniques This framework will be applied to a developing country case study Faisalabad area in Pakistan in the ongoing IWMI research program Remediation and Management of Degraded River Basins Vladimir Novotny, Laszlo Somlyody, 2013-04-17 Leading experts present methodologies for basinwide approaches to water quality restoration In 15 chapters the identification of pollution sources definition of standards and their attainability surface and groundwater modeling remediation of contaminated soils and sediments development and implementation of low cost treatment technologies basinwide water quality management and remediation and economic and institutional issues are covered The book focuses on the situation in central and eastern European countries however the topics and solutions are of general interest and have worldwide applications The Global Environmental Benefits of Land Degradation Control on Agricultural Land Stefano Pagiola, 1999-01-01 This book focuses on the global effects of land degradation but emphasizes other important levels of land degradation at the field level it may result in reduced productivity at the national level it may cause flooding and sedimentation and at the global level it can contribute to climate changes damaging bio diversity and international waters The effects on climate changes are explored and the report questions the extent to which land degradation on agricultural land affects climate change Does it increase emissions of greenhouse gases Does it affect land s capacity to serve as a carbon sink Can appropriate management enhance both land s productivity and its capacity to store carbon The carbon cycle in soils is analyzed indicating land degradation is likely to reduce the ability of soils to serve as carbon sink and release stored carbon into the atmosphere and bio diversity effects are likely to be adverse Global benefits of land degradation control include afforestation to allow increased carbon sequestration and provide adequate bio diversity habitats and community based wildlife management can provide alternatives to some marginal areas Although integrating global dimensions into land degradation control projects may reverse the field level or national problems it is causing difficulties and constraints will likely contribute to the failure of these projects

Setting Priorities Environmental Action Programme for Central and Eastern Europe, 1998 Despite efforts by Central and Eastern European CEE countries to tackle environmental problems there are still a number of serious environmental problems that require immediate and urgent action The Environmental Action Programme EAP provides a framework and guide for identifying the highest priority problems and for developing realistic efficient and cost effective solutions This book describes the features of the broad strategy and action framework that EAP represents Annexes provide summaries of topics such as human health problems and pollution hot spots the impact of economic reform and industrial restructuring and priorities for environmental expenditure Boxes discuss nitrates in drinking water in Romania short term threats to the environment in Russia and debt for environment swaps in Poland

Making Sustainable Commitments, 2001-01-01 CD ROM includes full text of the Strategy as well as other relevant information

Limits to Privatization Marianne Beishem, Oran R Young, Ernst Ulrich von Weizsacker, Matthias Finger, 2012-04-27 Limits to Privatization is the first thorough audit of privatizations from around the world It outlines the historical emergence of globalization and liberalization and from analyses of over 50 case studies of best and worst case experiences of privatization it provides guidance for policy and action that will restore and maintain the right balance between the powers and responsibilities of the state the private sector and the increasingly important role of civil society The result is a book of major importance that challenges one of the orthodoxies of our day and provides a benchmark for future debate

Water Management and Investment in the New Independent States

Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2001-07-31 In the former Soviet Union extensive networks were constructed to supply urban populations with clean safe water However the networks were not well designed and this resulted in low quality water services and high operation and maintenance costs With the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991 the condition of water infrastructure deteriorated more dramatically following sharp decreases in public budgets and the continued tradition of providing water services virtually free of charge Without urgent action the quality of services will continue to worsen and in some of the New Independent States NIS of the former Soviet Union may even collapse with serious consequences for human health and economic activity This volume analyses the causes underlying this dire situation and presents recommendations for addressing it which were adopted at a meeting of Economic Finance and Environment Ministers held in Almaty Kazakhstan in October 2000 The meeting was organized within the framework of the EAP Task Force with its Secretariat at OECD and involved key stakeholders from the governmental and non governmental sectors The EAP Task Force will implement a focused programme of work guided by the main recommendations agreed by participants The volume will be of interest to all those working to improve urban water supply and sanitation services in transition and emerging economies This report is part of the OECD s ongoing co operation with non Member economies around the world Proceeding of Consultation between Economic Finance and Environment Ministers Almaty Kazakhstan 16 17 October 2000
