The Wild Card of Reading Rodolphe Gasché, 1998-09-30 One of the most knowledgeable and provocative explicators of Paul de Man's writings Rodolphe Gasché a philosopher by training demonstrates for the first time the systematic coherence of the critic's work insisting that de Man continues to merit close attention despite his notoriously difficult and obscure style Gasché shows that de Man's reading centers on a dimension of the texts that is irreducible to any possible meaning a dimension characterized by the absolutely singular Given that de Man and Derrida are both termed deconstructionists Gasché differentiates between the two by emphasizing Derrida's primary interest in writing and postulates that the best way to come to terms with de Man's works is to read them athwart the writings of Kant Fichte Hegel Heidegger and Derrida He shows his respect for the immanent logic of de Man's thought which he lays out in great detail while revealing his uneasiness at the oddness of that thought and its consequences

Street Level: Los Angeles in the Twenty-First Century Rob Sullivan, 2016-04-01 In the latter part of the C20th a series of seminal books were written which examined Los Angeles by the likes of Reyner Banham Mike Davis Edward Soja Allen Scott Michael Dear Frederick Jameson Umberto Eco Bernard Henri Levy and Jean Baudrillard which have been hugely influential in thinking about cities more broadly The debates which were generated by these works have tended to be very heated and either defensive or offensive in approach A sufficient amount of time has since passed that a more measured approach to evaluating this work can now be taken The first section of this book Contra This and Contra That provides such a critique of the various theories applied to Los Angeles during the last century balancing the positive with the negative The second part of the book is an investigation of L A as it exists on the ground today While political the theoretical stance taken in this investigation is not mounted as a platform from which to advocate a particular ideology Instead it encompasses cultural as well as economic issues to put forth a view of L A which is coherent and cogent while at the same time considering its multi layered complex and ever changing qualities It concludes by arguing that sectored off and totalizing visions of the city will not do as instruments of urban analysis and that only a theory as mobile as its target will do one that replicates the polymer nature of this place It proposes that extending that theory to the world beyond this particular city only a theory that models itself on the mobile and polymer nature of the world while still retaining a sense of the actual and the real will do as an instrument with which to comprehend the world In doing so this book is not only a model by which to think through Los Angeles but as a model by
