Foster,1993 This bibliography of bibliographies lists and describes sources from basic references to highly specialized materials Valuable as a classroom text and as a research tool for scholars librarians performers and teachers The Canon and the Curricula E. Eugene Helm,1994 After a century of trial and error in the task of defining itself the discipline of musicology had gradually gained a hard won place on American university campuses Now the musicological curriculum is being challenged by such phenomena as political correctness questioning the canon and ethnomusicological expansions or contractions of the traditional boundaries of historical musicology These challenges are caused says the author of this book by the most powerful social force of our time namely the ambition to foster or restore individual cultural ethnic and political identities Step by step Professor Helm has shown the importance of upgrading undergraduate music programs Graduate training in musicology would make a quantum leap ahead if undergraduate curricula in music were properly overhauled to make room for that rare undergraduate who is gifted as both musician and scholar If the current E mail of American musicologists is any indication the topic of the musical canon is hotter than ever Postnational Musical Identities Ignacio Corona,Alejandro L. Madrid,2008-01-01 The interdisciplinary essays gathered in this volume explore how music

audiences and markets are imagined in a globalized scenario how music reflects and reflects upon new understandings of citizenship beyond the nation state and how music works as a site of resistance against globalization Focusing on the Americas they cast a new light on the role of music production distribution and consumption beyond the traditional paradigms of musical discourse

Decentering Music Kevin Korsyn, 2004-12-02 As a work of cultural criticism that recalls the concerns of Foucault Hayden White Zizek and others Decentering Music examines the struggle for the authority to speak about music at a time when the humanities are in crisis By linking the institutions that support musical research including professional associations and universities to complex historical changes such as globalization and the commodification of knowledge Korsyn undertakes a critique of musical scholarship as an institutional discourse while contributing to a general theory of disciplinary structures that goes beyond the limits of any single field In asking a number of fundamental questions about the models through which disciplinary objects in music are constructed Korsyn suggests unexpected relationships between works of musical scholarship and the cultural networks in which they participate Thus David Lewin's theory of musical perceptions is compared to Richard Rorty's concept of the liberal ironist Susan McClary's feminist narrative of music history is juxtaposed with T S Eliot's dissociation of sensibility and Steven Feld's work in recording the music of the Kaluli people is compared to the treatment of ambient sound in contemporary cinema Developing a framework for interpretation in dialogue with a number of poststructuralist writers Korsyn goes far beyond applying their thought to the analysis of music by showing the cultural dilemmas to which their work responds Korsyn suggests how musical research already participates in these ideas Rather than impose any single method Decentering Music empowers readers to choose for themselves by interrogating their own values and ideological commitments exploring the enabling conditions for statements about music By demonstrating the complicity of opposing positions and challenging readers to reexamine their own values Decentering Music will surely provoke debate while appealing to readers in a variety of fields and to anyone concerned about the crisis in the humanities
