

The new rules on the place of supply of services in European VAT

Ad van Doesum, Herman van Kesteren, Gert-Jan van Norden and Irene Reiniers*

1. Introduction

After a period of almost five years, the European Council has recently reached a political agreement on the so-called 'VAT Package'. The VAT package consists of a directive on the place of supply of services (amending the VAT Directive¹), and a directive on VAT refunds and a regulation on administrative cooperation. What happened in 1993 in respect of intra-Community transactions of goods is about to happen for cross-border supplies of services. The VAT package will be adopted, without further discussion, at a forthcoming Council meeting, after finalization of the texts.² Although the final text of the VAT package is not yet available, we felt that - given the impact the changes will have on Member States (implementation of legislation) and businesses (adjustments of the ERP systems) alike, and the fact that the outcome of the proceedings is final - it would be useful to kick off the discussion on the new rules. To this end we obtained the text³ of the changes via a request on the basis of Regulation (EC) No. 1049/2001.⁴ This article is based on that text. We note that, on details, the final text may be different.

In this article we will focus on the changes on the place of supply rules for services, as these changes will have the largest impact on businesses of all changes that have been adopted. For the same reasons, we will begin by concentrating on the changes on the place of supply rules affecting transactions between taxable persons ('B2B transactions'). Because the supply of services is very common within groups, we will also address the place of supply of services between group-companies ('intra-group transactions'), even though, in some cases, group-companies cannot be regarded as taxable persons. Accordingly we will only address the so-called 'B2C transactions' in intra-group relations. In particular we will discuss services such as management services, advisory services, financial services, educational services, the hiring out of personnel, the rental of immovable property, work on movable tangible property, intermediary services and recharges of bundled costs in intra-group relations.

From the proposals that preceded the semi-final text currently available, it follows that the primary aim of the changes is to - where possible - levy VAT where the actual consumption takes place.⁵ In doing so, the effect of the different VAT rates in the Member States is mitigated. This contributes to the realization of the Internal Market. As a precondition for the changes, it is stated that the changes must not lead to disproportionate administrative burdens on businesses. The broad application of the reverse charge mechanism in B2B relations can be placed in that perspective: it prevents businesses from having to deal with the burdensome VAT reclaims on the basis of the Eight and Thirteenth Directives.⁶

Politically, an agreement on the VAT package had become stalled for quite some time, primarily because Luxembourg could not agree with the changes. Over the past few years, many service providers in the telecommunications, radio- and television broadcasting and electronically supplied services sectors supplying services to non-taxable persons have established companies in this low VAT rate Member State. Consequently, they are liable to charge the (lower) Luxembourg VAT rate (in case of radio and television broadcasting services Luxembourg even applies a super reduced VAT rate),⁷ instead of the (higher)

Fundamentals of EU VAT Law Ad van Doesum, Herman van Kesteren, Simon Cornielje, Frank Nellen, 2025-02-19 Value added tax VAT is responsible for generating almost EUR 1200 billion per year in tax revenues across the European Union revenues that play a huge role in budgetary policymaking in the Member States This extremely useful book provides not only a thorough description of the current state of EU VAT law but also a detailed explanation of the system's rationale and its legislative provisions It puts the elements of the system in perspective and shows how they are linked to each other The focus lies on the rules which can be deduced from the sources of EU VAT law and on their application in practice The systematic presentation covers such issues and topics as the following sources of EU VAT law including principles derived from CJEU case law principles underlying the EU VAT system relations among the layers of VAT law primary and secondary EU law national law how to apply the VAT legislation and case law allocation of taxing rights place of supply rules invoicing requirements and other administrative obligations exemptions the taxable amount and the new VAT rates structure the right of deduction of input VAT intra Community transactions importation and exportation e commerce distance sales rules platforms and the one stop shop mechanism immovable property holding companies and dealings in shares and how far a national court must and can go in interpreting national provisions in light of the VAT Directive and the principles underlying the VAT system The book follows the structure of the VAT Directive VAT determination scheme with additional topical chapters on immovable property intra Community transactions importation and exportation of goods and shares and other securities With its detailed attention to the meaning and interpretation of the most prominent legislative provisions and court rulings this book serves as an incomparable guide for practitioners Its emphasis on the rationale and systematics of the EU VAT system and abundance of references to case law and literature make it an indispensable reference for all tax law professionals including legislators judges and researchers

The EU VAT System and the Internal Market Rita de La Feria, 2009 This thesis focuses upon VAT in the context of the Community's internal market Its central aim is to prove that the current EU VAT system is incompatible with the concept of internal market as set out in the EC Treaty and interpreted by the Court of Justice The study commences with an analysis of the concept of internal market the main objective of which is to establish the basic legal framework for the proposed thesis As part of this examination it is demonstrated that the EC Treaty creates a temporally unlimited obligation for the Community to approve legislation with the aim of establishing and improving the functioning of the internal market By analysis of existing EU VAT jurisprudence it is argued that obstacles cannot be overcome through incremental developments emerging from the Court of Justice but can only be resolved by fundamental and substantive legislative amendment

E-commerce and EU VAT Rosamund Barr et al., 2021-07-12 E-commerce and EU VAT Theory and Practice Rosamund Barr Jeroen Bijl Nils Bleckman Gijsbert Bulk Ethan Ding differences between imported goods and goods sold intra EU filing and invoicing obligations under the new one stop shop scheme reclaiming foreign VAT mitigating fears of fraud and hijacking distinction between business to customer and business to business transactions and navigating through appeals mistakes and adjustments Also covered are the particular VAT variations applicable to transactions involving the major European non EU states Norway Switzerland and the United Kingdom The important distinction between the concept of nexus in the United States state and local tax rules and place of supply under EU law is also fully explored Because a very large number of remote sellers of goods and services will need to understand and comply with the changes in the EU VAT e-commerce rules it goes without saying that this book is indispensable to in house corporate counsel worldwide Tax administration officials professionals in indirect tax management corporate tax and finance directors and other tax professionals and academics concerned with indirect tax law are sure to welcome this essential resource

VAT in an EU and International Perspective, 2011 VAT Neutrality Charlene Adline Herbain, 2015-05-04 Most major economies use a value added tax VAT which is a derivation of the French 1954 taxe sur la valeur ajoutée The initial imposition of VAT in France and its spread around the world have been driven by economic reasons This book focuses on one of these economic triggers the neutrality of VAT as regards the functioning of the economy It demonstrates that the reason VAT was chosen in France and why thereafter it spread around the world was because it offered the possibility to collect governmental revenue while allowing the economic forces of the market to interplay without being adversely affected The prerequisite conditions for the existence of VAT neutrality are therefore identified herein along with an overview of the VAT mechanism demonstrating that the concept of neutrality is built into the VAT system in a manner that allows for the preservation of the natural functioning of the market After the definition of VAT neutrality is set forth the elements that comprise VAT neutrality are tested against the realities on the ground and the issues that infringe the neutrality of VAT are identified and analysed In conclusion remedies for these issues are being sought by a review of the causes of infringement of VAT neutrality in the perspective of selected proposals for modified VAT systems These proposals include redesignating the place where VAT is levied and improving VAT collection Ultimately the proposed solution has recourse to the roots of VAT together with the most advanced technological tools available to give back to VAT the power to levy revenue while letting the economic forces of the market interplay without instigating any adverse influence

A Guide to the European VAT Directives Ben Terra, Julie Kajus, 2012

European VAT and the Sharing Economy Giorgio Beretta, 2019-10-24

A breadth of new digital platforms has dramatically expanded the range of possibilities for exchanging anything required by business or personal needs from accommodation to rides In the virtual marketplaces shaped and ruled by these novel matchmakers rather than by a single centralized entity value is created through the granular interaction of many dispersed individuals By allowing instantaneous and smooth interaction among millions of individuals platforms have indeed pushed the digital frontier farther and farther so as to include within it even services once not capable of direct delivery from a remote location such as accommodation and passenger transport Legal disruption is also underway with foundational dichotomous categories such as those between suppliers and customers business and private spheres employees and self employed no longer viable as organizational legal structures This is the essential background of the first book to relate what is synthetically captured under the umbrella definition of sharing economy to key features at the core of European Value Added Tax EU VAT and to look at the feasibility of a reformed EU VAT system capable of addressing the main challenges posed by these new models of production distribution and consumption of goods and services Specifically the study analyses five legal propositions underpinning the current EU VAT system as the following taxable persons taxable transactions composite supplies place of supply rules and liability regimes for collection and remittance of VAT Exploration of these five legal propositions is meant to assess the practical feasibility of shoehorning the main sharing economy business models notably those available in the accommodation and passenger transport sectors into the framework of existing EU VAT provisions The author further draws on the normative standards of equality neutrality simplicity flexibility and proportionality to test the reflexes of the current EU VAT system in the sharing economy domain Opportunities for reform of the current EU VAT system are in turn evaluated with each chapter including cogent proposals in the form of incremental and targeted amendments to the current EU VAT provisions As the first comprehensive analysis of the treatment of the sharing economy for VAT purposes the book provides not only a theoretical framework for future studies in the tax field but also indispensable practical guidance for VAT specialists confronting daily with the many challenges ushered in by the sharing economy Moreover the various solutions and recommendations advanced in the book offer valuable insights to international and national policymakers dealing with similar issues under other VAT systems

Information Asymmetries in EU VAT Frank J.G. Nellen, 2016-04-24 Unlike conventional direct taxes the application and administration of value added tax VAT depends to a considerable extent on the exchange of information between the taxable person and his transaction counterparts In practice the taxable person often fails to obtain necessary information from his transaction counterparts giving rise to information asymmetries that can induce VAT assessments sanctions and audits In its up to date overview of European Union EU VAT law this book assesses legislation case law and practice at EU and national levels in the process of examining how to minimize the risks and negative consequences associated with information asymmetries As a result of his in depth treatment of the subject the author establishes the following to what extent information asymmetries in EU VAT have legal implications e g VAT assessments fines for the taxable person to what extent information asymmetries should have legal implications for the taxable person taking into account the legal principles applicable in EU VAT to what extent positive EU VAT law indeed implies the risk of information asymmetries and any associated unjustified legal implications and to what extent legal remedies should be employed to avoid or to reduce information asymmetries for the taxable person This is the first book to conduct thorough research into the causes and legal implications of information asymmetries as well as the instruments which can be employed to counter their materialization As such it will be of inestimable value to practitioners legislators policymakers entrepreneurs judicial professionals and academics concerned with EU VAT law
