Encyclopedia of Italian Literature Rinaldina Russell, 1997-07-16 Over the last 20 years there has been an increasing interest in feminist views of the Italian literary tradition While feminist theory and methodology have been accepted by the academic community in the U S the situation is very different in Italy where such work has been done largely outside the academy Among nonspecialists knowledge of feminist approaches to Italian literature and even of the existence of Italian women writers remains scant This reference work the first of its kind on Italian literature is a companion volume for all who wish to investigate Italian literary culture and writings both by women and by men in light of feminist theory Included are alphabetically arranged entries for authors schools movements genres and forms figures and types and similar topics related to Italian literature from the Middle Ages to the present Each entry is written by an expert contributor and summarizes feminist thought on the subject Entries provide brief bibliographies and the volume concludes with a selected general bibliography of major studies This volume covers eight centuries of Italian literature from the Middle Ages to the present Included are entries for major canonical male authors such as Dante Petrarch and Boccaccio as well as for female writers such as Lucrezia Marinella and Gianna Manzini These entries discuss how the authors have shaped the image of women in Italian literature and how feminist criticism has responded to their works Entries are also provided for various schools and movements such as deconstruction Marxism and new historicism for genres and forms such as the epic devotional works and misogynistic literature for figures and types such as the enchantress the witch and the shepherdess and for numerous other topics Each entry is written by an expert contributor summarizes the relationship of the topic to feminist thought and includes a brief bibliography The volume closes with a selected general bibliography of major studies

«Per amor di poesia (o di versi)» Anna Dolfi, 2018 Giorgio Caproni is certainly among the most loved Italian poets of the 20th century Anna Dolfi used this widespread passion to involve not only well known scholars of Caproni but also young researchers in new research activities This results in a considerably rich book which together with an overall vision offers a series of hermeneutical insights on themes which were not as frequently investigated until then memory bestiaries and so on by combining new readings of exemplary texts with unpublished documents with reflections on language and poetry on musical pictorial and mythical suggestions never forgetting Caproni's activity for translation self commentary and civic commitment The book is functionally divided into Percorsi e attraversamenti Letture e immediati dintorni Risultanze tra dalle carte d'archivio which enhances the diversity of the critical commentaries and the close comparisons of the surveys and experiments of comment of explication de texte and highlights the great technical skill and the extreme lyrical depth of an author who between cantability and dissonances arpeggios and apostrophes cabalettas and cadences flourishes and delays vocalizations and little verses recoveries and leave talkativeness and aphasia was able to interpret the contradictory research the questions the fears the faults and the incurable wounds of our time
