Poetic Beginnings:

Emily Writes Jane Yolen, 2020-02-04 Jane Yolen's Emily Writes is an imagined and evocative picture book account of Emily Dickinson's childhood poetic beginnings featuring illustrations by Christine Davenier. As a young girl Emily Dickinson loved to scribble curlicues and circles, imagine new rhymes, and connect with the natural world around her. The sounds, sights, and smells of home swirled through her mind, and Emily began to explore writing and rhyming her thoughts and impressions. She thinks about the real and the unreal. Perhaps poems are the in-between. This thoughtful spotlight on Emily's early experimentations with poetry offers a unique window into one of the world's most famous and influential poets. Literary Beginnings in the European Middle Ages Mark Chinca, Christopher Young, 2022-08-25. How did new literatures begin in the Middle Ages and what does it mean to ask about such beginnings? These are the questions this volume pursues across the regions and languages of medieval Europe, from Iceland, Scandinavia, and Iberia through Irish, Welsh, English, French, Dutch, Occitan, German, Italian, Czech, and Croatian to Medieval Greek and the East Slavonic of early Rus. Focusing on vernacular scripted cultures and their complicated relationships with the established literary cultures of Latin, Greek, and Church Slavonic, the volume's contributors describe the processes of emergence, consolidation, and institutionalization that make it possible to speak of a literary tradition in any given language. Moreover, by concentrating on beginnings, the volume avoids the pitfalls of viewing earlier phenomena through the lens of later national developments; the result is a heightened sense of the historical contingency of categories of language, literature, and territory in the space we call Europe.

Poetic Remaking George Bornstein, 1990-10-01. This volume offers a coherent view of post-romantic poetic development through selective examples, both of individual poems and of poetic influence. Bornstein focuses most centrally on Browning in the Victorian period and Yeats and Pound in the Modern, but also looks more briefly at works by Wordsworth, Coleridge, Keats, Shelley, Arnold, Tennyson, and Eliot. The introductory manifesto, Four Gaps in Postromantic Influence Study, posits four new orientations for such work, taking the volume rather than the individual poem as a unit, stressing more centrally the Victorian mediation between Romantic and Modern, allowing for national differences among English, Irish, and American traditions, and basing influence studies as much on manuscript materials as on finished products. Each of the following chapters follows one or more of those orientations. The initial four chapters, Remaking Poetry, focus on readings of specific poetic texts. The first treats Browning's first major volume as a unit; the second reads his dramatic monologue Pictor Ignotus against Romantic acts of mind; the third maps distinctively Victorian variations in the major form known as Greater Romantic Lyric; and the fourth explores Yeats's mature revision of that form. The second group of four chapters, Remaking Poets, stresses the dynamics of literary influence by which poets turn their forerunners into figures helpful to their own development The first three examine Yeats's encounter with Dante Spenser Browning and Tennyson respectively the fourth treats Pound's remaking of the poet he called his poetic father Browning in a way that suggests the limits of anxiety models of poetic influence For this volume Professor Bornstein has revised and expanded a select group of his recent essays and added a new one on the Greater Victorian Lyric
