The Economies of Southeast Asia Teofilo C. Daquila, 2005 This book analyses the growth development and crisis experiences of the Southeast Asian economies in particular Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Thailand also known as ASEAN 5 The proposition is developed that the robust economic performance of the Southeast Asian economies during the past four decades has been attributed to the various factors developments and independent national policies which have been pursued by the individual member countries rather than to any regional economic framework The book covers eleven topics which is suitable for a one semester course on the economics of Southeast Asia Also it has a narrower area coverage as it focuses only on the five economies namely Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Thailand The sectoral treatment of the crisis impact and the analytical treatment of policy responses to the crisis differentiate this book from other publications on the same topic Finally this book provides an analysis of national developments policies and factors which have contributed to the economic transformation of the respective Southeast Asian economies

The Transformation of Southeast Asian Economies Teofilo C. Financial Liberalization and the Economic Crisis in Asia Chung H. Lee,2003-08-29 What brought about a financial crisis in the miracle economies of Asia What went wrong with financial reform in Asia What can the developing countries of the world learn from the reform experiences in Asia Financial Liberalization and the Economic Crisis in Asia analyses how financial liberalization was undertaken in eight Asian countries and how it might be linked to the subsequent crises The country studies focus on China India Indonesia Japan Malaysia the Philippines South Korea and Thailand Labor Market Distortions, Rural-Urban Inequality, and the Opening of the People's Republic of China Economy

Thomas Hertel,2008-05 Evaluates the impact of some key factor market reforms on rural urban inequality income distribution using a household disaggregated recursive dynamic computable general equilibrium model of the People s Republic of China It also explores how these factor market reforms interact with product market reforms currently under way as part of the country s World Trade Org WTO accession process The simulation results show that reforms in the rural land rental market hukou system as well as increasing off farm labor mobility would reduce the urban rural income ratio dramatically Furthermore the combination of WTO accession factor market reforms improves both efficiency equality significantly Charts tables graphs

Short-Run Pain, Long-Run Gain Mr.Sergio L. Schmukler,Graciela Laura Kaminsky,2003-02-01 We examine the short and long run effects of financial liberalization on capital markets To do so we construct a new comprehensive chronology of financial liberalization in 28 mature and emerging market economies since 1973 We also construct an algorithm to identify booms and busts in stock market prices Our results indicate that financial liberalization is followed by more pronounced boom bust cycles in the short run However financial liberalization leads to more stable markets in the long run Finally we analyze the sequencing of liberalization and institutional reforms to understand the contrasting short and long run effects of liberalization Current Politics and Economics of Asia ,2005

East Asia and Pacific Economic Update April 2014 World Bank World Bank,2014-05-13 Developing countries in the East Asia Pacific region will see stable economic growth this year bolstered by a recovery in high income economies and the market s modest response so far to the Federal Reserve s tapering of its quantitative easing according to the East Asia

Pacific Economic Update Developing East Asia will grow by 7.1 percent this year largely unchanged from 2013 the report says As a result East Asia remains the fastest growing region in the world despite a slowdown from the average growth rate of 8.0 percent from 2009 to 2013 In China growth will ease slightly to 7.6 percent this year from 7.7 percent in 2013 Excluding China the developing countries in the region will grow by 5.0 percent slightly down from 5.2 percent last year

Practices of Poverty Measurement and Poverty Profile of Nepal Devendra Chhetry, 2009-03 Reviews the poverty measuring practices available measures of poverty and economic growth figures of Nepal The poverty rates for FY 1976-77, 1984-85 and 1995-96 are found to be not comparable due to change in methodology over time The three poverty rates average 40% Nepal has experienced high economic growth during the 7th 1985-86 to 1989-90 and 8th 1992-93 to 1996-97 Plan periods with no strong evidences of poverty reduction This incompatible result is partially explained by comparing growth of the agricultural sector with the role of the sector in providing employment and income generation at the household level and by comparing social indicators particularly literacy rate with the growth of the nonagricultural sector Tables

State Structure, Policy Formation, and Economic Development in Southeast Asia Antoinette R.

Raquiz, 2013-06-17 Why do some small developing countries industrialize and others don't? What factors account for different economic performance among states that are vulnerable to external shocks, crony capitalism and political instability This book argues that the answer lies in the structuring of state power specifically the way different sets of governing elites political leaders and economic technocrats are embedded in political organisations and state institutions and the way these elites relate to each other in the economic development policy process Conducting a comparative historical analysis of Thailand and the Philippines the book argues that the institutional settings of governing elites influence economic outcomes In Thailand political power traditionally connects to state institutions in ways that has limited the impact of political turnovers and global downturns conducive to long term industrial activities In contrast Philippine state power derives from family networks that merge social and political power suited to fast moving short term commercial interests In focusing on this political and institutional story the author analyses the current development dilemmas of countries weighed down by historical legacies of unstable regimes dependency and social conflict and how they are likely to develop in the future A

Small Macroeconometric Model of the People's Republic of China Duo Qin, 2006 Monetary Poverty Estimates in Sri Lanka

Neranjana Gunetilleke, 2008-05 Provides an introduction to poverty related data available in Sri Lanka monetary measurements of poverty carried out using this data The lack of an official poverty line in Sri Lanka until June 2004 has over time generated a number of poverty lines corresponding poverty measures While these poverty measures have provided a good base for poverty analysis this paper also touches on the problems generated by the use of multiple methods The release of the official poverty line by the Dept of Census Statistics can be seen as a major step forward in the debate on poverty measurement in Sri Lanka Charts tables Measuring Competitiveness in the World's Smallest Economies Ganeshan

Wignaraja, 2008-05 Attempts to measure competitiveness CP across countries have typically neglected the world's smallest economies. Hence a simple composite index the Small State Manufactured Export CP Index or SSMECI was developed to benchmark industrial CP. The SSMECI represents the first attempt to provide a comprehensive picture of the CP performance of small states. The performance of small states varies across geographical regions, income groups, country size classes. High performing small states had better macroeconomic conditions, higher levels of foreign investment, more trade openness, better levels of education, modern infrastructure. A coherent market oriented CP strategy in small states is vital to success on international markets.

Explaining Growth and Inequality in Factor Income Hyun H. Son, 2008 An analysis of the relationship between growth and inequality of factor income in the Philippines focusing on the role played by the labor market. A decomposition methodology is proposed which provides a direct linkage between growth, inequality and labor market characteristics. The paper provides empirical analysis using both the Family Income and Expenditure Survey and Labor Force Survey covering the period 1997-2003.

Policy Reform in Indonesia and the Asian Development Bank's Financial Sector Governance Reforms Program Loan George Abonyi, 2005

Trade Facilitation Teruo Ujiie, 2006 The issue of trade facilitation has been increasingly highlighted among business and trading communities as they would like to reduce the costs of international transactions of goods and services. Trade facilitation is a broad term; there are a number of international agreements relating to trade facilitation and a number of international organizations involved in this area. Recognizing the importance of trade facilitation and after several years of exploratory work on government trade facilitation measures, members of the World Trade Organization (WTO) agreed in July 2004 to include trade facilitation in the multilateral trade negotiations of the Doha Development Agenda (DDA). This paper examines the issue of trade facilitation in a wider context covering various articles in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and WTO instruments, the World Customs Organization and other international conventions and the state of play of DDA negotiations. Based on these discussions, conclusions are drawn and recommendations made as to structure, modality and substance of an agreement on trade facilitation.
