Race and Retail Mia Bay, Ann Fabian, 2015-08-04 Race has long shaped shopping experiences for many Americans Retail exchanges and establishments have made headlines as flashpoints for conflict not only between blacks and whites but also between whites Mexicans Asian Americans and a wide variety of other ethnic groups who have at times found themselves unwelcome at white owned businesses Race and Retail documents the extent to which retail establishments both past and present have often catered to specific ethnic and racial groups Using an interdisciplinary approach the original essays collected here explore selling and buying practices of nonwhite populations around the world and the barriers that shape these habits such as racial discrimination food deserts and gentrification The contributors highlight more contemporary issues by raising questions about how race informs business owners ideas about consumer demand resulting in substandard quality and higher prices for minorities than in predominantly white neighborhoods In a wide ranging exploration of the subject they also address revitalization and gentrification in South Korean and Latino neighborhoods in California Arab and Turkish coffeehouses and hookah lounges in South Paterson New Jersey and tourist capoeira consumption in Brazil Race and Retail illuminates the complex play of forces at work in racialized retail markets and the everyday impact of those forces on minority consumers The essays demonstrate how past practice remains in force in subtle and not so subtle ways

The Best of All Possible Islands Richard Maddox,2012-02-01 The 1992 world s fair in Seville serves as a vantage point from which to examine Spain s developing democracy and Europe s emerging unification according to Richard Maddox in The Best of All Possible Islands Visited by over fourteen million people the Seville Expo drew the participation of more than one hundred countries and dozens of corporations As part of Spain s miraculous year in which Barcelona hosted the summer Olympics and Madrid was designated the Cultural Capital of Europe the Expo advanced a remarkably optimistic cosmopolitan and liberal vision of the past present and future of the new Spain and the new Europe Yet no aspect of this vision went unchallenged and the Expo was at the center of fierce political rivalries and dramatic manifestations of popular discontent In an engaging and accessible narrative Richard Maddox demonstrates how visitors and local residents understood the significance of the event in ways that largely escaped the knowledge and control of the Expo s organizers Understanding how and why this occurred casts critical light on the transformation of Spain since the end of the Franco dictatorship in 1976 and illuminates some of the key cultural and political dilemmas that processes of European and global integration pose for citizens of democratic societies
