Making Humans:

Humans in the Making Michel J. F. Dubois, 2020-12-15 The human specificity can be described by verticality bipedalism technique use articulated language high cognitive capacities complex society at three levels body mind social In this book is proposed an evolutionary process that make better understand how such humanity could have emerged in the long time more than 6 million years The process is based on a very early necessity to use technic for surviving correlated with neoteny which impulsed a darwinian evolutionary process with four distinguished punctuation described as neotenizations Making

Sense of the Future Rick Szostak, 2021-09-02 Making Sense of the Future integrates the latest thinking in Future Studies with the author's expertise in world history economics interdisciplinary studies knowledge organization and political activism The book takes a systems approach that recognizes the complexity of our world It begins by suggesting a set of goals for human societies and identifying innovative strategies for achieving these goals that could gain broad support Each chapter begins with a How to section that discusses how we can identify goals strategies trends surprises or implementation strategies and concludes with an integrative analysis that draws connections across the preceding discussions Taking a cross disciplinary approach Szostak explores key trends and how these interact so that he can develop strategies to guide trends towards desirable futures He discusses the ways in which we can best prepare for surprises such as epidemics and natural disasters enabling us to react to them in beneficial ways Supported by a list of guiding questions and suggestions for class projects this is an accessible textbook for students of Future Studies and Future Studies courses The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Trends in Control and Decision-Making for Human-Robot Collaboration Systems

Yue Wang, Fumin Zhang, 2017-01-24 This book provides an overview of recent research developments in the automation and control of robotic systems that collaborate with humans A measure of human collaboration being necessary for the optimal operation of any robotic system the contributors exploit a broad selection of such systems to demonstrate the importance of the subject particularly where the environment is prone to uncertainty or complexity They show how such human strengths as high level decision making flexibility and dexterity can be combined with robotic precision and ability to perform task repetitively or in a dangerous environment The book focuses on quantitative methods and control design for guaranteed robot performance and balanced human experience from both physical human robot interaction and social human robot interaction Its contributions develop and expand upon material presented at various international conferences They are organized into three parts covering one human one robot collaboration one human multiple robot collaboration and human swarm collaboration Individual topic areas include resource optimization human and robotic safety in collaboration human trust in robot and decision making when collaborating with robots abstraction of swarm systems to make them suitable for human control modeling and control of internal force interactions for collaborative manipulation and the sharing of control between human and automated systems etc Control and decision making algorithms feature prominently in the text importantly within the context of human factors and the constraints they impose Applications such as assistive technology driverless vehicles cooperative mobile robots manufacturing robots and swarm robots are considered Illustrative figures and tables are provided throughout the book Researchers and students working in controls and the interaction of humans and robots will learn new methods for human robot collaboration from this book and will find the cutting edge of the subject described in depth Governmental Automated Decision-Making and Human Rights Stefan Schäferling,2023-12-07 With the growing capabilities of artificial intelligence governments are integrating AI technologies into administrative and even judicial decision making aiding and in some cases even replacing human decision makers Predictive policing automated benefits administration and automated risk assessment in criminal sentencing are but a few prominent examples of a general trend While the turn towards governmental automated decision making promises to reduce the impact of human biases and produce efficiency gains reducing the human element in governmental decision making also entails significant risks This book analyses these risks through a comparative constitutional law and human rights lens examining US law German law and international human rights law It also highlights the structural challenges that automation poses for legal systems built on the assumption of exclusively human decision making Special attention is paid to the question whether existing law can adequately address the lack of transparency in governmental automated decision making its discriminatory processes and outcomes as well as its fundamental challenge to human agency Building on that analysis it proposes a path towards securing the values of human dignity and agency at the heart of democratic societies and the rule of law in an increasingly automated world This book will be of interest to researchers and scholars focusing on the evolving relationship of law and technology as well as human rights scholars Further it represents a valuable contribution to the debate on the regulation of artificial intelligence and the role human rights can play in that process Accelerating Entrepreneurial Decision- Making with Hybrid Intelligence Dr. Dominik Dellermann ,2020-02-10 Previous studies revealed that around 75 percent of all start ups fail at an early stage One main reason for this tremendous failure rate is that decision makers are typically confronted with high levels of uncertainty about the viability of their proposed business idea Following this argumentation entrepreneurial decisions can be defined as complex decision making problem under both risk and uncertainty While risk includes quantifiable probabilities uncertainty describes situations where neither outcomes nor their probability distribution can be assessed a priori Consequently the strategic decision making context is highly complex and contains lots of black swan events that seems to be unpredictable As previous research does not provide any software solutions for decision augmentation in such domains the purpose of this study is to explore the decision making context and then suggest novel and innovative design paradigms and design principles for decision augmentation for strategic decision making Engineering the Human Bert Jaap Koops,Christoph H. Lüthy,Annemiek Nelis,Carla Sieburgh,J.P.M. Jansen,Monika S. Schmid,2013-02-12

The volume is collection of articles treating the topic of human improvement enhancement from a variety of perspectives philosophical literary medical genetic sociological legal etc The chapters in this volume treat not only those aspects that most immediately come to mind when one thinks of human enhancement such as genetic engineering cloning artificial implants and artificial intelligence etc Somewhat less obvious aspects include evolutionary perspectives in connection with the prolongation of the human lifespan plastic surgery since its beginnings and questions such as whether the distinction between natural and artificial can really be drawn at all and how it has been conceived across the ages or what the legal implications are of recent developments and techniques Many papers make links to the representation of these developments in popular culture from Jules Verne through Aldous Huxley to the movie Gattaca address the hopes and fears that come with them as well as the question how realistic these are While all chapters are written by scientists at the international top of their respective fields all are accessible to a non specialist audience and eminently readable We believe that they represent a state of the art overview of questions that are of interest to a large audience The book thus targets a non specialist audience with an interest in philosophical sociological scientific and legal issues involved in both traditional and recent matters concerning the desire of mankind to improve itself the human body the human mind and the human condition It is unique in that it brings together all these aspects within a coherent and cohesive collection

How Water Makes Us Human Luci Attala, 2019-04-01 This book is about how water becomes people or put another way how people and water flow together and shape each other While the focus of the book is on the relationships held between water and people it also has a broader message about human relationships with the environment generally a message that illustrates not only that people are existentially entangled with the material world but that the materials of the world shape determine and enable humans to be humans in the ways that they are Offering a selection of anthropological examples from Kenya Wales and Spain to illustrate how water's materiality coproductively generates the way people are able to engage with water this book uses cross disciplinary perspectives to provide and promote a new analytic one that encourages ethical holistic and sustainable relationships with the world around us This approach challenges representations that ignore sidestep or are blind to the fleshy materiality of being human and aims to encourage a re imagining of the world that acknowledges humanity as intrinsically active with and part of the fabric of the collection of materials we call planet Earth

Human and Machine Learning Jianlong Zhou, Fang Chen, 2018-06-07 With an evolutionary advancement of Machine Learning ML algorithms a rapid increase of data volumes and a significant improvement of computation powers machine learning becomes hot in different applications However because of the nature of black box in ML methods ML still needs to be interpreted to link human and machine learning for transparency and user acceptance of delivered solutions This edited book addresses such links from the perspectives of visualisation explanation trustworthiness and transparency The book establishes the link between human and machine learning by exploring transparency in machine learning visual explanation of ML processes

algorithmic explanation of ML models human cognitive responses in ML based decision making human evaluation of machine learning and domain knowledge in transparent ML applications This is the first book of its kind to systematically understand the current active research activities and outcomes related to human and machine learning The book will not only inspire researchers to passionately develop new algorithms incorporating human for human centred ML algorithms resulting in the overall advancement of ML but also help ML practitioners proactively use ML outputs for informative and trustworthy decision making This book is intended for researchers and practitioners involved with machine learning and its applications The book will especially benefit researchers in areas like artificial intelligence decision support systems and human computer interaction

Operational Warfare at Sea Milan Vego, 2017-07-06 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of both the theory and practice of operational warfare at sea and this 2nd edition has been thoroughly revised with two completely new chapters

Explainable Human-AI Interaction Sarath Sreedharan, Anagha Kulkarni, Subbarao Kambhampati, 2022-05-31 From its inception artificial intelligence AI has had a rather ambivalent relationship with humans swinging between their augmentation and replacement Now as AI technologies enter our everyday lives at an ever increasing pace there is a greater need for AI systems to work synergistically with humans One critical requirement for such synergistic human AI interaction is that the AI systems behavior be explainable to the humans in the loop To do this effectively AI agents need to go beyond planning with their own models of the world and take into account the mental model of the human in the loop At a minimum AI agents need approximations of the human's task and goal models as well as the human's model of the AI agent's task and goal models The former will guide the agent to anticipate and manage the needs desires and attention of the humans in the loop and the latter allow it to act in ways that are interpretable to humans by conforming to their mental models of it and be ready to provide customized explanations when needed The authors draw from several years of research in their lab to discuss how an AI agent can use these mental models to either conform to human expectations or change those expectations through explanatory communication While the focus of the book is on cooperative scenarios it also covers how the same mental models can be used for obfuscation and deception The book also describes several real world application systems for collaborative decision making that are based on the framework and techniques developed here Although primarily driven by the authors own research in these areas every chapter will provide ample connections to relevant research from the wider literature The technical topics covered in the book are self contained and are accessible to readers with a basic background in AI

Better Humans? Michael Hauskeller, 2014-09-11 Developments in medical science have afforded us the opportunity to improve and enhance the human species in ways unthinkable to previous generations Whether it's making changes to mitochondrial DNA in a human egg being prescribed Prozac or having a facelift our desire to live longer feel better and look good has presented philosophers medical practitioners and policy makers with considerable ethical challenges But what exactly constitutes human improvement What do we mean when we talk of making better humans In this book Michael Hauskeller explores these questions and the ideas of human good that underpin them Posing some challenging questions about the nature of human enhancement he interrogates the logic behind its processes and examines the justifications behind its criteria Questioning common assumptions about what constitutes human improvement Hauskeller asks whether the criteria proposed by its advocates are convincing The book draws on recent research as well as popular representations of human enhancement from advertising to the internet and provides a non technical and accessible survey of the issues for readers and students interested in the ethics and politics of human enhancement Romans John E. Toews,2004-07-11 Romans was written by Paul apostle of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles As an apostle Paul spent his life traveling the Mediterranean area preaching the gospel and establishing churches In the course of his missionary career Paul wrote numerous letters to the churches he had established as a way to pastor them in his absence Romans is the longest and most complex of Paul s letters John E Toews explores why Paul writes to remind the Roman churches of God s purpose for both Jew and Gentile and to reconcile Jewish Christian and Jewish Gentile church relationships Structure, Evidence, and Heuristic Armin W. Schulz,2020-04-22 This book is the first systematic treatment of the philosophy of science underlying evolutionary economics It does not advocate an evolutionary approach towards economics but rather assesses the epistemic value of appealing to evolutionary biology in economics more generally The author divides work in evolutionary economics into three distinct albeit related forms a structural form an evidential form and a heuristic form He then analyzes five examples of work in evolutionary economics falling under these three forms For the structural form he examines the parallelism between natural selection and economic decision making and the parallelism between natural selection and market competition For the evidential form he looks at the relationship between animal and human economic decision making and the evolutionary explanation of diversity in human economic decision making Finally for the heuristic form he focuses on the plausibility of equilibrium modeling in evolutionary ecology and economics In this way he shows that linking evolutionary biology and economics can make for a powerful methodological tool that can enable progress in our understanding of various economics questions Structure Evidence and Heuristic will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in philosophy of science philosophy of social science evolutionary biology and economics Human Nature: Fact and Fiction Robin Headlam Wells,Johnjoe McFadden,2006-05-30 Human Factors in Aviation Earl L. Wiener,David C. Nagel,1988 Since the 1950s a number of specialized books dealing with human factors has been published but very little in aviation Human Factors in Aviation is the first comprehensive review of contemporary applications of human factors research to aviation A must for aviation professionals equipment and systems designers pilots and managers with emphasis on definition and solution of specific problems General areas of human cognition and perception systems theory and safety are approached through specific topics in aviation behavioral analysis of pilot performance cockpit automation advancing display and control technology and training methods Principles and Practice of Big Data Jules J.

Berman,2018-07-23 Principles and Practice of Big Data Preparing Sharing and Analyzing Complex Information Second Edition updates and expands on the first edition bringing a set of techniques and algorithms that are tailored to Big Data projects The book stresses the point that most data analyses conducted on large complex data sets can be achieved without the use of specialized suites of software e g Hadoop and without expensive hardware e g supercomputers The core of every algorithm described in the book can be implemented in a few lines of code using just about any popular programming language Python snippets are provided Through the use of new multiple examples this edition demonstrates that if we understand our data and if we know how to ask the right questions we can learn a great deal from large and complex data collections The book will assist students and professionals from all scientific backgrounds who are interested in stepping outside the traditional boundaries of their chosen academic disciplines Presents new methodologies that are widely applicable to just about any project involving large and complex datasets Offers readers informative new case studies across a range scientific and engineering disciplines Provides insights into semantics identification de identification vulnerabilities and regulatory legal issues Utilizes a combination of pseudocode and very short snippets of Python code to show readers how they may develop their own projects without downloading or learning new software

Technology and the Overturning of Human Autonomy Simona Chiodo,2023-04-26 This book offers an extensive historical philosophical and ethical discussion on the role of autonomous technologies and their influence on human identity By connecting those different perspectives and analysing some practical case studies it guides readers to dissect the relationship between machine and human autonomy and machine and human identity It analyses how the relationship between human and technology has been evolving in the last few centuries Last it aims at proposing an explanation on the reasons why humans have been keen on developing their own autonomy's perfect avatar

What is a Human? John Hyde Evans,2016 Scholars claim that if the public has particular definitions of a human they will treat others like objects or animals This book examines these claims and finds that some definitions do lead to maltreatment but the definitions of a majority of the public are unlikely to do so

The Routledge Handbook of the Ethics of Human Enhancement Fabrice Jotterand,Marcello Ienca,2023-08-01 The Routledge Handbook of the Ethics of Human Enhancement provides readers with a philosophically rich and scientifically grounded analysis of human enhancement and its ethical implications A landmark in the academic literature the volume covers human enhancement in genetic engineering neuroscience synthetic biology regenerative medicine bioengineering and many other fields The Handbook includes a diverse and multifaceted collection of 30 chapters all appearing here in print for the first time that reveal the fundamental ethical challenges related to human enhancement The chapters have been written by internationally recognized leaders in the field and are organized into seven parts Historical Background and Key Concepts Human Enhancement and Human Nature Physical Enhancement Cognitive Enhancement Mood Enhancement and Moral Enhancement Human Enhancement and Medicine Legal Social and Political Implications The depth and topical range of the

Handbook makes it an essential resource for upper level undergraduates graduate students and postdoctoral fellows in a broad variety of disciplinary areas Furthermore it is an authoritative reference for basic scientists philosophers engineers physicians lawyers and other professionals who work on the topic of human enhancement Group Dynamics for Teams Daniel Levi, David A.
