Women, Gender and Identity in Third Intermediate Period Egypt Jean Li, 2017-01-06 Women Gender and Identity in Third Intermediate Period Egypt clarifies the role of women in Egyptian society during the first millennium BCE allowing for more nuanced discussions of women in the Third Intermediate Period It is an intensive study of a corpus that is both geographically and temporally localized around the city of Thebes which was the cultural and religious centre of Egypt during this period and home to a major national necropolis Unlike past studies which have relied heavily on literary evidence Li presents a refreshing material culture based analysis of identity construction in elite female burial practices This close examination of the archaeology of women's burial presents an opportunity to investigate the social professional and individual identities of women beyond the normative portrayals of the subordinate wife mother and daughter Taking a methodological and material culture based approach which adds new dimensions to scholarly and popular understandings of ancient Egyptian women this fascinating and important study will aid scholars of Egyptian history and archaeology and anyone with an interest in women and gender in the ancient world

A Research Guide to the Ancient World John M. Weeks, Jason de Medeiros, 2014-11-25 The archaeological study of the ancient world has become increasingly popular in recent years A Research Guide to the Ancient World Print and Electronic Sources is a partially annotated bibliography The study of the ancient world is usually although not exclusively considered a branch of the humanities including archaeology art history languages literature philosophy and related cultural disciplines which consider the ancient cultures of the Mediterranean world and adjacent Egypt and southwestern Asia Chronologically the ancient world would extend from the beginning of the Bronze Age of ancient Greece ca 1000 BCE to the fall of the Western Roman Empire ca 500 CE This book will close the traditional subject gap between the humanities Classical World Egyptology and the social sciences anthropological archaeology Near East in the study of the ancient world This book is uniquely the only bibliographic resource available for such holistic coverage The volume consists of 17 chapters and seven appendixes arranged according to the traditional types of library research materials bibliographies dictionaries atlases etc The appendixes are mostly subject specific including graduate programs in ancient studies reports from significant archaeological sites numismatics and paleography and writing systems These extensive author and subject indexes help facilitate ease of use

The Theban Necropolis Nigel Strudwick, John H. Taylor, 2003 The majority of the papers in this volume were originally presented at an international conference held at the British Museum in July 2000 and reflect the current state of research on many aspects of the site Subjects covered include the history of the necropolis at different periods the value of archives and the history of conservation tomb decoration the use of specific areas of the necropolis and certain types of material which are ubiquitous in excavations Not forgotten are the important issues of site management and striking a balance between caring for the monuments and responding to the needs of the modern inhabitants of the area This book also indicates the direction that research might take in the future
