Peace Processes and Peace Accords Samir Kumar Das, 2005-11-05 The second volume in the South Asian Peace Studies series Peace Processes and Peace Accords looks at the political question of peace from three perspectives the process of peace the contentious issues involved in the peace process and the ideologies that come in conflict in this process Arguing that peace is not a one time event to be achieved and rejoiced over but a matter to be sustained against various odds the contributors show that the sustainability of peace depends on a foundation of rights justice and democracy Peace accords they maintain are only a moment in the process the very act of signing an accord could mark either a continuation of the same conflict or simply its metamorphosis Therefore as this volume shows negotiation should be redefined as joint problem solving on a long term sustained basis rather than one off hard bargaining

Peace and Conflict Studies Anindya Jyoti Majumdar, Shibashis Chatterjee, 2020-08-09 This volume explores how we theorize politicize and practice peace and conflict discourses in the social sciences As concepts peace and conflict are intricately interwoven into a web of complementary discourses where states and other actors are able to negotiate deliberate and arbitrate their differences short of the overt and covert use of physical violence The essays in this volume reflect this eclecticism they reflect on concerns of contemporary conflicts in world politics the dissection of the ideas of peace and power the way peace studies join with global agencies peace and conflict in connection to geopolitics and identity the domestic basis of conflict in India and the South Asian theatre including class social cleavages and gender Further they also process elements like globalization media communication and films that help us engage with the popular tropes and discursive construction of the reality that play critical roles in how peace and violence are articulated and acted upon by the
