The Late Victorian Folksong Revival E. David Gregory, 2010-04-13 In The Late Victorian Folksong Revival The Persistence of English Melody 1878 1903 E David Gregory provides a reliable and comprehensive history of the birth and early development of the first English folksong revival Continuing where Victorian Songhunters his first book left off Gregory systematically explores what the Late Victorian folksong collectors discovered in the field and what they published for posterity identifying differences between the songs noted from oral tradition and those published in print In doing so he determines the extent to which the collectors distorted what they found when publishing the results of their research in an era when some folksong texts were deemed unsuitable for polite ears The book provides a reliable overall survey of the birth of a movement tracing the genesis and development of the first English folksong revival It discusses the work of more than a dozen song collectors focusing in particular on three key figures the pioneer folklorist in the English west country Reverend Sabine Baring Gould Frank Kidson who greatly increased the known corpus of Yorkshire song and Lucy Broadwood who collected mainly in the counties of Sussex and Surrey and with Kidson and others was instrumental in founding the Folk Song Society in the late 1890s The book includes copious examples of the song tunes and texts collected including transcriptions of nearly 300 traditional ballads broadside ballads folk lyrics occupational songs carols shanties and national songs demonstrating the abundance and high quality of the songs recovered by these early collectors

Memory and Memorials William Kidd, Brian Murdoch, 2017-05-15

The twentieth century perhaps more than any other was shaped by war and conflict. In particular the two world wars have had a profound influence on the development of world history especially in western Europe. The aim of Memory and Memorials however is not to seek the effects war has had on the twentieth century but rather to explore how societies chose to remember wars and manipulate this memory for political and cultural purposes. Tackling issues of actual memory, distorted memory and reconstructions of the past, the use and nature of the war memorial and the reflection of all these points in selected art, literature and film, the main theme of Memory and Memorials is to stress both continuity and change in memory and memorial.

The World and the Parish Willa Cather, 1970-01-01

One of the few really helpful words I ever heard from an older writer Willa Cather declared in 1922 I had from Sarah Orne Jewett when she said to me Of course one day you will write about your own country. In the meantime get all you can. One must know the world so well before one can know the parish. Although Cather's first novel about her own country O Pioneers! did not appear until 1913 the process of knowing the world and of mastering her craft so far as it can be traced in her published writing already had been going on for some twenty years. The World and the Parish Willa Cather's Articles and Reviews 1893-1902 is the fourth in a series collecting the work of these years of experiment and discovery. More specifically it offers a representative collection of Cather's nonfiction writing for newspapers and periodicals during her first decade as a professional writer. Selected from 520 articles and columns the text is divided into three parts corresponding to major developments in Cather's career: the period from 1893 to 1896 when she first began to write regularly for Lincoln newspapers; the years in Pittsburgh when she was working for the Home Monthly and the Leader and sending her famous Passing Show column back to Nebraska; and the period from the spring of 1900 to 1903 when she freelanced in Pittsburgh and Washington, taught in a Pittsburgh high school and made her first trip abroad. The text has been edited with three main objectives: 1 to enable the reader to trace Cather's development as a writer; 2 to group the material so that the reader interested in a particular subject—the theatre or music or literature for example—can readily locate pertinent selections; and 3 to provide a context sufficient to relate these pieces to Willa Cather's life and to the times and to suggest some of their connections with the body of her work. Chronologies have been included for each of the three parts and the Bibliography is the most complete yet available for the nonfiction writing up to 1903. Not the least remarkable feature of this collection is the range and variety of forms and subject matter: reviews of books, plays, operas, concerts, art exhibits, lectures, feature stories, interviews, straight reportage, columns of miscellaneous comment and travel letters. Seemingly with no apparent effort Willa Cather could adjust her sights to any assignment and any audience. And if it is astonishing that she could write so much about so many matters at so many levels it is perhaps even more astonishing that so much of it was so good. Undeniably however the chief interest to the general reader and the peculiar value to the scholar of these journalistic writings reside in their manifold and crucial connections with Cather's later work and in the unparalleled insights they afford into the process by which a gifted writer becomes a great artist.
