Rambles Of A Naturalist With A Memoir Of The Author Dr John D Godman:

Rambles of a Naturalist. with a Memoir of the Author, Dr. John D. Godman. John Davidson Godman, 2006-09

Rambles of a Naturalist John Davidson Godman, 1859 Rambles of a Naturalist; with a Memoir of the Author, 1859 Rambles of a Naturalist John Davidson Godman, 1859 Rambles of a Naturalist John D. Godman, 2021-04-25 In Rambles of a Naturalist John D Godman intricately weaves together vivid observations of nature with philosophical musings on the relationship between humanity and the environment Written in a reflective and descriptive literary style the book captures the essence of 19th century naturalist literature blending scientific curiosity with personal narrative Godman s keen eye for detail allows readers to experience the flora and fauna of his travels contributing to a broader discourse on the burgeoning fields of ecology and natural philosophy while also echoing the era s Romantic ideals that venerate nature John D Godman a prominent figure in early American naturalism was not only a physician but also a passionate observer of nature His multifaceted experiences ranging from his medical background to his explorations through North America s diverse habitats deeply informed his writing Godman s dual perspective as a scientist and a romantic traveler reveals his quest to harmonize scientific inquiry with an emotional appreciation of the natural world making Rambles of a Naturalist a compelling autobiographical account that also serves as an environmental treatise ahead of its time This book is highly recommended for readers who yearn to reconnect with the natural world through the eyes of a passionate observer Godman s meditative prose invites both nature enthusiasts and scholars alike to reflect on their own relationship with the environment making it an essential reading for anyone interested in the intersection of literature nature and science Memoirs Harvard University. Museum of Comparative Zoology, 1885 Memoirs of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard College Harvard University. Museum of Comparative Zoology, 1885 Memoirs of the Museum of Comparative Zoölogy at Harvard College, 1883 Memoirs of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard College Harvard University. Museum of Comparative Zoology, 1885 A Descriptive Catalogue of Friends' Books Joseph Smith, 1863 Writing the Environment in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Steven Petersheim, Madison Jones IV, 2015-09-17 The nineteenth century roots of environmental writing in American literature are often mentioned in passing and sometimes studied piece by piece Writing the Environment in Nineteenth Century American Literature The Ecological Awareness of Early Scribes of Nature brings together numerous explorations of environmentally aware writing across the genres of nineteenth century literature Like Lawrence Buell the authors of this collection find Thoreau s writing a touchstone of nineteenth century environmental writing particularly focusing on Thoreau s claim that humans may function as scribes of nature However these studies of Thoreau s antecedents contemporaries and successors also reveal a range of other writers in the nineteenth century whose literary treatments of nature are often more environmentally attuned than most readers have noticed The writers whose works are studied in this collection include canonical and forgotten writers men and women early nineteenth century and late nineteenth century authors pioneers and conservationists They drew attention to the conflicted relationships between humans and the American continent as experienced by Native Americans and European Americans Taken together these essays offer a fresh perspective on the roots of environmental literature in nineteenth century American nonfiction fiction and poetry as well as in multi genre compositions such as the travel writings of Margaret Fuller Bringing largely forgotten voices such as John Godman alongside canonical voices such as Nathaniel Hawthorne Herman Melville Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson the authors whose writings are studied in this collection produced a diverse tapestry of nascent American environmental writing in the nineteenth century From early nineteenth century writers such as poet Philip Freneau and novelist Charles Brockden Brown to later nineteenth century conservationists such as John James Audubon and John Muir Scribes of Nature shows the development of an environmental consciousness and a growing conservationist ethos in American literature Given their often surprisingly healthy respect for the natural environment these nineteenth century writers offer us much to consider in an age of environmental crisis The complexities of the supposed nature culture divide still work into our lives today as economic and environmental issues are often seen at loggerheads when they ought to be seen as part of the same conversation of what it means to live healthy lives and to pass on a healthy world to those who follow us in a world where human activity is becoming increasingly threatening to the health of our planet
