Out of the Silence Robert Foster, Amanda Nettelbeck, 2012-09-27 When South Australia was founded in 1836 the British government was pursuing a new approach to the treatment of Aboriginal people hoping to avoid the violence that marked earlier Australian settlement The colony's founding Proclamation declared that as British subjects Aboriginal people would be as much under the safeguard of the law as the Colonists themselves and equally entitled to the privileges of British subjects But could colonial governments provide the protection that was promised Out of the Silence explores the nature and extent of violence on South Australia's frontiers in light of the foundational promise to provide Aboriginal people with the protection of the law and the resonances of that history in social memory What do we find when we compare the history of the frontier with the patterns of how it is remembered and forgotten And what might this reveal about our understanding of the nation's history and its legacies in the present Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society of Australasia, South Australian Branch (Incorporated). Royal Geographical Society of Australasia. South Australian

Branch, 1916 The Athenaeum, 1845 The Aboriginal Story of Burke and Wills Ian Clark, Fred Cahir, 2013-07-22 The Aboriginal Story of Burke and Wills is the first major study of Aboriginal associations with the Burke and Wills expedition of 1860-61 A main theme of the book is the contrast between the skills perceptions and knowledge of the Indigenous people and those of the new arrivals and the extent to which this affected the outcome of the expedition The book offers a reinterpretation of the literature surrounding Burke and Wills using official correspondence expedition journals and diaries visual art and archaeological and linguistic research and then complements this with references to Aboriginal oral histories and social memory It highlights the interaction of expedition members with Aboriginal people and their subsequent contribution to Aboriginal studies The book also considers contemporary and multi-disciplinary critiques that the expedition members were on the whole deficient in bush craft especially in light of the expedition's failure to use Aboriginal guides in any systematic way Generously illustrated with historical photographs and line drawings The Aboriginal Story of Burke and Wills is an important resource for Indigenous people Burke and Wills history enthusiasts and the wider community This book is the outcome of an Australian Research Council project The Australian Encyclopaedia: Ferns to Ley, 1977

Outback Ghettos Peggy Brock, 1993-11-29 Focusing on three communities in South Australia this book looks at the institutionalisation of Aboriginal people and the consequences of this for both Aborigines and Australian society in general
