Bibliography of Agriculture with Subject Index ,1983-10 Rapeseed and Canola Oil Frank Gunstone,2009-02-12 Rapeseed is now the second largest oilseed crop after soybean and the third largest vegetable oil after soybean oil and palm oil and it is therefore an important contributor to the annual supply of vegetable oils required to meet an increasing demand This volume provides comprehensive coverage of rapeseed oil and its close relative canola oil from production agronomic aspects through extraction to refining and processing Chemical composition physico chemical properties food and non food uses are considered in detail and a chapter is included on future prospects including oils available by means of genetic manipulation This is a book for oils and fats chemists and technologists in the food and oleochemical industries chemical engineers in the processing industry nutritionists and seed technologists Potential New Crop, Rapeseed, 1970-85

meetings bring together experts working in this field of Science from throughout the world A major feature of each conference session is an invited review which outlines the advances that have been made in a particular area since the last meeting A major factor that was considered at this meeting was the likely impact of plant genetic modification on the nutritional quality of their seeds for human and animal feeding As an example already a number of legume species and rapeseed have been modified to improve the sulphur amino acid content of their seed and thus their protein quality Besides the major grain legume species and rapeseed that had been discussed at previous meetings in this series number of crop products as potential protein sources for animal feeding were considered for the first time These included cottonseed meal linseed meal and sunflower seed meal The potential of some new exotic crops from Mexico was also covered including Mexican species of the genus Lupinus and a Mexican plant from the same family as castor bean which has a very high oil content but is usually toxic Work from Cuba compared the nutritional characteristics of soybean with a range of tropical grain legume species which have received little previous attention A major change at this meeting was the greater consideration of the effects both positive and negative of the consumption of these seeds for human nutrition A major review on the development of allergenicity to legume seed in humans is included There was also consideration of the potential role of antinutritional factors in reducing the growth of various types of tumour cells The presented papers also suggest that the consumption of legume seed in the diet can potentially reduce serum cholesterol levels Overall from the 5 conference sessions there are 52 papers Of these 7 are major invited reviews on the current state of research in this important area for human and animal feeding

Bibliography of Agriculture, 1966 Linseed Oil and Other Seed Oils William Duane Ennis, 1909 Canola and Rapeseed Fereidoon Shahidi, 2012-12-06 Canola is one of the most important oilseed crops of the world as its production over the last 10 years has grown much faster than any other source of edible vegetable oil The short history of the food use of canola oil in Western countries has been marked by its GRAS generally recognized as safe accreditation by the USFDA United States Food and Drug Administration in 1985 Canola Oil is perhaps the only edible vegetable oil that by today's standards is considered to be nutritionally well balanced Furthermore its protein meal is well balanced in its amino acid content and perhaps in the not too distant future may commercially be upgraded for human consumption The present monograph reports the latest advancements in the production chemistry analyses nutritional properties and commercial processing of canola and rapeseed Recent developments in the biotechnology of canola production and genetic alterations and improvements of seeds new methods of analyses and recent studies to upgrade the canola proteins are presented in 19 chapters Extensive bibliographies provide the reader with an in depth and thorough review resource in related areas The monograph will be of interest to advanced undergraduate and graduate students as well as researchers in universities industries and government laboratories Food scientists crop and agricultural engineers chemists and biochemists nutritionists and technologists as well as plant breeders will find it a valuable resource base in the

J.W. Hertrampf,F. Piedad-Pascual,2012-12-06 Current growth in global aquaculture is paralleled by an equally significant increase in companies involved in aquafeed manufacture Latest information has identified over 1 200 such companies not including those organizations in production of a variety of other materials i e vitamins minerals and therapeutics all used in varying degrees in proper feed formulation Aquaculture industries raising particular economically valued species i e penaeid shrimps and salmonids are making major demands on feed ingredients while relatively new industries such as tilapia farming portend a significant acceleration in demand for properly formulated aquafeeds by the end of the present decade and into the next century As requirements for aquafeeds increases shortages are anticipated in various ingredients especially widely used proteinaceous resources such as fish meal A variety of other proteinaceous commodities are being considered as partial or complete replacement for fish meal especially use of plant protein sources such as soybean meal In the past five years vegetable protein meal production has increased 10% while fish meal production has dropped over 50% since 1989 largely attributed to overfishing and serious decline in wild stock Throughout fisheries processing industries traditional concepts as waste have given way to more prudent approaches emphasizing total by product recovery Feed costs are a major consideration in aquaculture where in some groups i e salmonids high protein containing feeds using quality fish meal can account for as much as 40 to 60% of production costs Parliamentary Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of minor constituents of canola and rapeseed and their impact on human health The book also identifies new areas of research
