Lost World Found:

San Representation Keyan Tomaselli, Michael Wessels, 2017-12-22 The San or Bushmen of southern Africa have exerted a fascination over generations of writers and scholars from novelists and anarchists to ethnologists and geneticists and also occupy a special place in the popular imagination as the First People and the contemporary remnant of spiritual and natural man The ways in which particular groups of people from southern Africa have been traditionally categorised and positioned as objects of scrutiny by a range of academic disciplines is increasingly being contested and questioned There is a growing awareness of the cultural economic and genetic entanglement of the peoples of the region This book examines how San and Khoe people are represented by others as well as by those who identify as San or Khoe The book interrogates the ways in which disciplines through their methodologies and ways of authorising knowledge not only discover or reveal knowledge but produce it in ways that involve complex and often ambiguous relationships with power structures and forms of intellectual symbolic and cultural capital One major trend that emerges is that the San and Khoe can no longer be seen as people of the past but have to be acknowledged as contemporary and socially situated individuals and communities who are increasingly contesting the representations which others have imposed on them This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Arts A Journal of South North Cultural and Media Studies Clinical Chaos Linda Chamberlain, Michael R.

Dinosaurs in Fantastic Fiction Allen A. Debus, 2013-03-11 From the first illustrated edition of Jules Verne's Journey to the Center of the Earth in 1867 dinosaurs and prehistory have fascinated readers. Writers would time and again come back to dinosaurs as an element of fantastic fiction often using these creatures through the venue of the written word to reflect the world of the writers' own time. This literary survey examines how paleoliterature originated, developed, and matured to the present day. Also discussed are the ways in which dinosaur fiction mirrors contemporary ideas about subjects such as geology, the Cold War, environmentalism, time travel, evolution, and bioengineering. Featured authors include Ray Bradbury, H. G. Wells, and Poul Anderson among others. In select cases, the novelizations of movie scripts are also examined. An appendix provides brief summaries of deserving dinosaur texts.

THE SENSE OF SMELL The nose is normally mistakenly assumed to be the organ of smell reception. It is not. The primary function of the nose is to regulate the temperature and humidity of inspired air, thereby protecting the delicate linings of the lungs. This is achieved by the breathed air passing through narrow passageways formed by three nasal turbinates in each nostril. The turbinates are covered by spongy vascular cells which can expand or contract to open or close the nasal pathways. The olfactory receptors, innervated by the 1st cranial nerve, are located at the top of the nose. There are about 50 million smell receptors in the human olfactory epithelium, the total size of which in humans is about that of a small postage stamp, with half being at the top of the left and half at the top of the right nostril. The receptive surfaces of olfactory cells are ciliated and extend into a covering layer of mucus. There is a constant turnover of olfactory cells. Their average active life has been estimated to be about 28 days.

Life as We Do Not Know It Peter Ward, 2007-02-27 An engrossing and revelatory first look at the search for alien life on Earth and beyond. For the past twenty years Peter Ward has been at the forefront of popular science writing with books such as the influential and controversial Rare Earth. In Life as We Do Not Know It, Ward, with his signature blend of eloquence, humor, and learned insight, vividly details the latest scientific findings, cutting-edge research, and intrepid new theories on the subject of alien life and the possible extraterrestrial origins of life on Earth. In lucid, entertaining, and bold prose, Peter Ward once again challenges our notions of life on Earth and beyond.

Invasion Jon S. Lewis, 2011-11-14 He didn't ask to be a hero, but now all that stands between us and chaos is Colt. Colt McAlister was having the summer of his life. He spent his days surfing and his nights playing guitar on the beach with friends. He even met a girl and got his first car. But everything changes when his parents are killed in a freak accident. He's forced to leave his old life behind and move to Arizona with his grandfather. The only person he knows at the new high school is a childhood friend named Dani. And Oz, a guy he's sure he's never met but who is strangely familiar. But what if his parents' death wasn't an accident? His mother, an investigative reporter, was going to expose a secret mind control program run by one of the world's largest companies. Before she could release the story, what if agents from Trident Biotech made sure she couldn't go public? Vowing to uncover truth, Colt is drawn into a secret world of aliens, shapeshifters, flying motorcycles, and invisible getaways. The invasion has begun. The Three Keys of the Three Thrones and the Storm Anthony Scalici, 2008. What if the Lord of Darkness, Satan, had a daughter? What if there was a prophecy that could end Earth as we know it? In a journey between four best friends, Jason, Michael, Justin, and Max, and their newest friends, Jameson King, Phillip Princess, Jasmine, and Queen Wendy, will all go face to face with the ultimate evilness of Melva, the cruelest of characters whose moral fiber has deteriorated beyond shame. Melva is eager to rule over all the worlds in the entire universe. Will her wickedness succeed? Many deaths shall occur, tears shall fall, and anger shall turn to revenge. The true meaning of friendship shall also be revealed during the final struggles of keeping the worlds alive. Page 4 of cover.
