Pentimenti Alison Armstrong, 2018-07-20 The Craft of Narrative If memory valorizes one's life it humbles us as well As the saying goes Life is what happens while we are making other plans In retrospect those choices and consequent events may cause delight as well as remorse or delay in realizing dreams that are replaced by unexpected events but also give us the time necessary to achieve some ambitions and perhaps allow insight into life's patterns Writing a memoir combines fictional monologue and essay Both genres are intimate first person addresses to a reader preferable to use Roland Barthes terminology from his book S/Z a writerly reader The selection of the title for these three disparate memoirs is taken from a term used in painting the showing through of a past image overlain by a more recent one Lillian Hellman used this term for her memoir and the subsequent film Pentimento I am a writer and a teacher of literary fiction including Homer's Odyssey James Joyce's Ulysses and Virginia Woolf's various novels in particular Mrs Dalloway and To the Lighthouse in which written memory the superimposition of current feelings and observations onto past events results in an ordering of what may otherwise be forgotten or fragmented or considered as irrelevant and disconnected events Virginia Woolf reminded her teenage nephew and later biographer Clive Bell to remember that nothing has happened until it has been recounted Recollection the ordering of remembered events feelings and their consequences external and internal gives us order through crafted narrative Homer set the stage for this recognition when he begins the journey of his long epic with an address to the Muse saying Begin where'er thou wilt to retell the tale for our time too And so we begin a crafted set of memories beginning in medias res the middle of things rather than accounting for every event in an uncrafted chronological order Retelling produces awareness of patterns of cause and effect Flashbacks can reveal apparent prophecies too This awareness thanks to years of teaching and discussing literary works of art has prompted me to present these brief memoirs from three apparently distinct stages of my life Only connect as E.
