Planning for a Better Urban Living Environment in Asia Anthony Gar-On Yeh, Mee Kam Ng, 2018-12-20 First published in 2000 this volume explores how Asia has developed very rapidly in the last quarter of the century and will be a main focus of the world in the 21st century With rapid growth and development the urban areas in the region are undergoing dramatic changes An appreciation of the heterogeneous nature of Asian cities and the related planning practices in the first step to understand various urban development problems in the region This book is a consolidated effort by prominent scholars in Asian planning schools to explore urban development and planning practices in Asia The book reflects on and examines some of the past and current challenges and considers future prospects of urban and regional planning environment housing redevelopment and conservation and planning education in Asia This book should be useful to students teachers researchers professionals and people who are interested in urban development planning and environment in Asia

A Living Landscape Stijn Arnoldussen, 2008 Today half the Netherlands is below sea level Because of this water management is of key importance when it comes to maintaining present day habitation of the Dutch low lands In prehistory however large parts of the Dutch landscape were highly dynamic due to ongoing fluvial sedimentation Vast deltaic areas with ceaseless river activity formed the backdrop against which prehistoric occupation took place Although such landscapes may seem inhospitable the often excellently preserved archaeological evidence indicates that people lived in these lowlands throughout prehistory This book describes why Bronze Age farmers were keen to settle here and how these prehistoric communities structured the landscape around their house sites at various scales Using a vast body of evidence from several large scale excavations in the Dutch river area the author reconstructs the changes in the cultural landscape over time Starting from the Middle Neolithic changing preferences for settlement site locations and changes in domestic architecture are traced in detail to the Iron Age However for proper understanding of the cultural landscape not only settlements but also graves and patterns of object deposition and their landscape characteristics are discussed By using evidence from over 50 major excavations yielding over 300 house plans this book contains by far the richest data set on Dutch Bronze Age settlements Most of these results have not previously been published in English making this book of over

500 pages a true academic treasure for an international audience The in depth presentation of Bronze Age settlement sites as well as the critical discussion of models and premises current in later prehistoric settlement archaeology have an important relevance stretching beyond the Dutch lowland areas on which it is based The wealth of high quality Dutch data is presented as a synthesized yet well annotated narrative that rises above mere site interpretation even more so due to its landscape scale focus Therefore this book is a must have for those interested in later prehistoric cultural landscapes and settlement archaeology

The Politics of Urban Land in South Asia Urmi Sengupta, Kenneth Nielsen, 2025-03-18 Cities in South Asia are homes to one of the highest concentrations of people anywhere in the world and the allocation of land and urban resources and the benefits that can be derived from them in this region have become increasingly contested This book explores the politics of urban land in South Asia and the challenges related to their respective urban futures For most people land comes at a premium and as a result conflicts and contestations over land and urban resources are rife in countries such as India Bangladesh Pakistan Sri Lanka and Nepal as witnessed in the many struggles of low income groups and vulnerable or marginalised communities to fight off dispossession or displacement This book maps current challenges shared across national borders and charts out new directions for future research and land policy With contributions from emerging and established authors the book offers a critical accounting of the situation that exists in urban South Asia while also critically engaging with the current challenges and future directions for land use and land politics The book will be useful to students and researchers of public policy development studies economics urban and regional development studies and sociology as well as to policy makers real estate professionals and commercial firms engaged in property market real estate study in Asia

Self-Sufficient Living Elian Wildgrove, AI, 2025-02-27 Self Sufficient Living dives into the practicalities of creating a more independent and sustainable lifestyle through producing your own food and energy It explores how modern technology such as hydroponics and solar panels combined with age old practices can empower individuals to reduce their reliance on conventional supply chains Discover tangible solutions to diminishing resources and climate change by understanding sustainable agriculture which minimizes environmental impact while maximizing yields and renewable energy generation harnessing natural resources for electricity and heat The book progresses logically first introducing fundamental concepts and debunking misconceptions then delving into specific techniques like soil management and solar panel installation It culminates with real world examples of self sufficient communities highlighting benefits and lessons learned What sets this book apart is its hands on approach providing readers with the knowledge to implement these systems emphasizing experimentation and adaptation and encouraging collaboration Ultimately Self Sufficient Living demonstrates that achieving a significant degree of self reliance is within reach for many regardless of location or prior experience It challenges the notion of complete dependence on centralized systems and empowers readers to take proactive steps toward a more sustainable and secure future through homesteading food production and energy production
